ITALY PROTESTS BOYCOTT; NOTES TO 50 NATIONS

Il Duce Sounds New Warning to Europe.

ROME, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Italy formally protested to half a hundred nations tonight the adoption of sanctions by the league of nations against her.

This was disclosed a few hours after Premier Mussolini paraded part of his 1,200,000 soldiers and warned the world that Italy can take care of herself in Europe as well as in Africa.

Separate notes were dispatched to all governments participating in sanctions. A spokesman explained that although the league itself voted sanctions, it delegated their applications to a committee of representatives of sovereign nations. He added that the protests were made directly to individual nations rather than through the league, because Italy regards the sanctions committee as outside the league.

Separate Protest to Egypt.

Italy also protested separately to the Egyptian government because of its adherence to sanctions. Egypt is not a member of the league.

At the same time Mussolini decreed that 197 products, ranging from dried fish and meat to films, may not enter this country after Nov. 18 except under strict government surveillance. On that date the league sanctions go into effect.

Il duce, speaking to massed thousands from the balcony of his palace today, after the huge parade in honor of King Victor Emmanuel's 66th birth anniversary, said:

"The forces you have seen this morning with all their weapons and especially their spirit are ready to defend Italy's interests in Europe, Africa or anywhere. In only one month we have settled two accounts. [Apparently he referred to victories at Adowa and Makale in northern Ethiopia.] The remainder we will settle later."

Italy Moves for a Showdown.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Italy formally moved for a showdown today on the league of nations sanctions program, calling upon all participating governments to make clear their individual position on the contemplated measures.

A synopsis of an Italian note dispatched to all sanction-approving nations was made available here tonight by Ambassador Augusto Rosso. Only a short while before, he submitted it to the United States government for its information.

The note, which contained seven points, made the "strongest and fullest protest against the seriousness and injustice of the procedure adopted against Italy."

Threatens Reprisals.

The five page long note warned that Italy would be forced into reprisals against economic and financial pressure and called attention to the serious consequences, not only to Italy but to the economic world generally, which would result.

Ambassador Rosso, after presenting a copy of the note to the state department, said he had made no representations concerning it, and added with a smile:

"The American government is out of the picture so far as sanctions are concerned."

Text Is Translated.

Sitting with newspapermen at the embassy, Rosso gave his own English translation of the Italian text as follows:

Point 1. Refers to Italy's note to the league on Oct. 7 and to the objection by the Italian delegate against the Geneva Italo-Ethiopian deliberations. Rejects the accusation that the Italian government has violated its obligations under the league pact and says that Italy renews the "strongest and fullest protest against the seriousness and injustice of the procedure adopted against Italy."

Point 2. That events since the last meeting of the league assembly have confirmed Italy's stand with regard to Ethiopia, both on juridical and moral grounds. It says that large sections of the Ethiopian population, headed by their civil and religious authorities, have put themselves under the protection of Italy and calls attention that the Italian government has abolished slavery in all territory it has occupied in Ethiopia.

Duty to Protect Free Slaves.

The note then asks that these conditions be taken into consideration

DEFENSE WINS BATTLE TO BAR $196,000 DEAL

Political Explosion Threatened.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The case of Robert M. Sweitzer will go to the jury today in the Criminal court of Judge John C. Lewe.

Testimony for and against the charge that Sweitzer withheld $414,129 of public funds from Michael J. Flynn, his successor as county clerk, was ended shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Four hours of argument will be heard by the jury today before final submission late in the afternoon. Assistant State's Attorneys Leslie E. Salter and Marshall V. Kearney will summarize for the prosecution and Attorneys I. Harvey Levinson, Ode Rankin, and Benedict J. Short will divide the time allotted to the defense.

Note Evidence Ruled Out.

What was considered by the defense as a victory was recorded late in yesterday's court session when after much discussion in chambers Judge Lewe ruled from the case all testimony regarding the alleged purchase by Sweitzer in 1922 of $196,000 worth of United States treasury certificates from funds which he obtained from the late Patrick J. Carr, then county treasurer.

The $200,000 check which Carr sent to Sweitzer as a fee for tax extension work in the county clerk's office, and which was subsequently offset by a $200,000 withdrawal from the tax redemption fund of the clerk's office, still hangs somewhere in the case.

Sweitzer says he never got the money. There is no evidence remaining that he ever did anything with it. It is suspended "in transit" somewhere along the long and tortuous path of the county clerk's tangled finances.

Political Explosion Evaporates.

A political explosion of some indefinite kind was threatened in the trial yesterday when Defense Attorney Levinson promised to call in new witnesses and put Sweitzer back on the stand to tell what really became of the shortage in the clerk's office unless the state withdrew its efforts to pin the $196,000 in treasury notes on Sweitzer's personal account. The explosion did not materialize. It was largely talk in chambers.

Levinson's threat came after Prosecutor Salter completed his fiery cross-examination of Sweitzer, which began on Friday, and after Defense Attorney Short soothed his client on redirect examination.

In rebuttal the state then put on the witness stand Edward J. Pentis, head of the bond surrender department of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank. The prosecution hoped to show through Pentis that Sweitzer was the owner of $216,200 of United States Victory notes which were exchanged at the old Foreman bank in 1922 for the $196,000 of treasury certificates, or at least that Sweitzer purchased the treasury certificates.

Levinson Raises Objection.

Attorney Levinson objected at once to any testimony from Pentis. Judge and lawyers adjourned to chambers for argument. Prosecutor Salter contended that the $4,655 deposited semi-annually in Sweitzer's personal bank account for four years after 1922 was the exact amount of interest at 4¾ per cent on $196,000 of treasury certificates.

Levinson declared that this evidence was not admissible. "If it's allowed," he shouted, "we'll show where the money [the $200,000 check from Carr] really went. We contend it went into the Democratic war chest and Bob Sweitzer didn't get it. We'll bring in executors for every dead man in the Democratic party."

Judge Lewe ruled that Pentis' documents were admissible, but permitted Levinson to cross-examine the witness before they were read to the jury.

No Record of Ownership.

On this cross-examination the defense attorney brought out that no record is kept of the serial numbers on federal securities turned in for exchange and that the Foreman bank had not been required to give the

PHYSICIAN SLAIN IN HOTEL ROOM; WOMAN IS HELD

New York, Nov. 12 [Tuesday].—[Special.]—Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, 40 years old, was shot to death early today in his room on the twenty-first floor of the Beekman Towers apartments at 3 Mitchell place, a fashionable neighborhood, near East 49th street.

Vera Stretz, who lives in an apartment on the nineteenth floor of the hotel, was found by the police sitting on a fire escape outside the third floor of the hotel. She said she had visited Dr. Gebhardt in his room and was held. Police said she admitted the killing. She had a pistol in the purse she carried.

Detectives said that a woman's voice calling from the Gebhardt apartment had asked a telephone operator at the apartment to send some one to the room. When a bellboy arrived he found Dr. Gebhardt clad in pajamas lying on the floor wounded. There was no one else in the room.

The bellboy notified the police, who called a doctor. He found Dr. Gebhardt dead of bullet wounds in the shoulder and chest when he arrived.

Depression's Cost to U. S. 26 Billions

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A staggering 26 billion 631 million dollars was tabulated by the government today as the depression's cost to business.

The commerce department reported this sum had been taken out of savings to make up the difference between expenses and the value of goods and services produced. It noted that a marked improvement in 1934 failed to prevent another loss.

Last year's production of goods and services was valued at 48 billion, 561 million dollars, a gain of 6 billion 672 million over 1933.

This value, however, was insufficient for expenses. Business had to draw down 1 billion 628 million dollars from surpluses and other savings in order to meet wage, dividend, interest and other outlays.

50 Billions Distributed.

The two figures together represent national income "paid out," or 50 billion 189 million dollars. This is the amount usually cited in statistics as portraying the number of dollars actually distributed throughout the nation.

The following table shows for depression years the income produced, or value of goods and services; income paid out, or dollars actually distributed, and business losses, or the amount business drew from savings to make the "paid out" total [in billions of dollars]:

	1930.	1931.	1932.	1933.	1934.
Income produced	67.9	53.6	39.5	41.9	48.5
Business losses..	5	8.1	8.8	3	1.6
Income paid out	72.9	61.7	48.3	44.9	50.1

In 1929 income produced was greater than income paid out by 2 billion 402 million dollars, with the result that this amount was added to business savings, in contrast with the losses, or withdrawals from savings, in the subsequent years.

Agriculture Makes Biggest Gain.

From the standpoint of separate sections of the nation's economy, agriculture showed the largest gain in its proportion of income produced. Whereas in 1929 it accounted for 8.8 per cent, in 1934 its share was 9.2. Electric light, power, and gas, communications, and service increased slightly, while the proportion of government jumped from 8.4 to 17.3. Manufacturing, mining, construction, transportation, trade, finance, and miscellaneous business all lost in the relative proportions they produced.

The government proportion decreased from a high of 18.1 per cent in 1932 to 17.3 in 1934. This included relief payments and government experts said their exclusion would bring the 1934 percentage down to 14.

DYNAMITE BOMB WRECKS DRUGGAN LAWYER'S OFFICE

A powerful dynamite bomb partly wrecked the office of Simon A. Murray, a lawyer who specializes in criminal law and one time attorney for Terry Druggan, prohibition era beer baron, at 666 West 18th street early today and shattered windows in a two block radius.

The bomb tore a large hole in the front of the two story frame building and caused damage estimated at $2,000. Murray's offices are on the first floor. Upstairs Thomas J. Mooney, a glazier; his wife, Mary; five children, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Cronin, 60 years old, were severely shaken by the blast.

Murray, an assistant city prosecutor under a former Republican mayor, lives across the street above a tavern at 665 West 18th street. He said he had been out with his wife and arrived hove five minutes after the bombing.

Mrs. Sophie Svirsky, 45 years old, once convicted as the head of a bombing ring, operates the tavern. Murray was her attorney at the trial in 1934 in which Mrs. Svirsky, George Patris, and Frank Currin were convicted of conspiracy to bomb rival taverns. An appeal freed Mrs. Svirsky and Patris was ordered retried.

Police questioned Murray and Mrs. Svirsky. Both denied knowing any motive for the bombing.

ADOLPH FINDS ONE GOOD TURN DESERVES, ETC.

When Adolph Lindahl, employé of a North Chicago garage, was speeding to the scene of a wreck in a tow truck last night, he skidded off a curve on Sheridan road two miles north of Lake Bluff and crashed into a light pole. He flagged a ride, returned to the garage and started out again in a second tow truck. On the same curve the second truck skidded and overturned. Again Lindahl flagged a ride, borrowed a third tow truck, returned to the curve and hauled the two wrecked trucks back without mishap. In the meantime the original wreck which had brought Adolph twice to the same mishap was confronted with all night grief until a competitor of Adolph's employer sent out and fetched it safely in.

Firemen Won't Go to Auto; So Auto Goes to Firemen

The automobile of Constable Charles Krueger of Prairie View caught afire last night a mile east of Libertyville. He phoned the Libertyville fire department and was told they could not go outside the city. Krueger then got a truck to haul the blazing car to the fire station.

U. S.-Canadian Pact Outlined by Roosevelt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Standing beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, President Roosevelt this Armistice day called upon the nation to "go forward with all our strength to stress and strive for international peace."

The President told the thousands assembled to honor the country's war dead that this country will always seek the ways of peace, and by example at home and abroad "speed the return of good will among men." He started his address to "My fellow Americans" instead of the usual "My friends."

He stressed as an example of this country's efforts abroad the good neighbor relations between the United States and Canada. He seized upon the occasion to announce that a reciprocal trade agreement had been reached between the two countries in week-end conversations between himself and the Canadian prime minister, William Lyon Mackenzie King.

Effect to Be Far-Reaching.

The announcement went farther than the joint statement issued by the President and Premier Mackenzie King Saturday. Essentially commercial, the agreement, he said, was arrived at "after thoughtful discussion of our national problems." Its effect, he stated, will be "to eliminate disagreements and unreasonable restrictions, and thus work to the good advantage of both Canada and the United States."

Before presenting what he considered concrete evidence of progress in the treaty negotiations, the President said "world's gain thus far has been small." He followed, after announcing the Canada pact, with: "The power of example is the strongest force in the world. It surpasses preachments; it excels good resolutions; it is better than agreements unfulfilled."

Desires to Avoid War.

The President declared that the primary purpose of this country is to avoid being drawn into war. He said it seeks in every practical way to promote peace and discourage war. This purpose, he declared, explains why this country has taken steps to remove the causes of war, to disapprove acts of aggression, to make every effort to limit and reduce armaments, and to initiate the policy of good neighbor.

"But though our course is consistent and clear, it is with disappointment and sorrow that we confess that the world's gain has thus far been small," he continued.

"I would not be frank with you if I did not tell you that the dangers that confront the future of mankind as a whole are greater to the world and therefore to us than the dangers which confront the United States by and in themselves alone.

World Confidence Wanes.

"Jealousies between nations continue; armaments increase; national ambitions that disturb the world's peace are thrust forward. Most serious of all, international confidence in the sacredness of international contracts is on the wane."

While this country cannot hide itself from concern for grave world dangers and cannot build a wall about itself, it must go forward to strive for international peace, Mr. Roosevelt said.

"In this effort America must and will protect herself," he said with reference to the naval limitation conference to be held at London next month. "Under no circumstances will this policy of self-protection go to lengths beyond self-protection. Aggression on the part of the United

ARMY MEN SAFE IN NEW HOP TO STRATOSPHERE

Big Balloon Makes Perfect Trip.

White Lake, S. D., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A gentle landing by the world's largest balloon in a field near here late today successfully ended man's most sensational venture into the heights of the stratosphere—to an unofficially recorded altitude of 14 miles.

Two American army flyers, Capts. Albert W. Stevens and Orvil A. Anderson—if later calibrations sustain their barometric computations of 74,000 feet as zenith of their soaring—by the daring venture returned to America the world's altitude record and brought back from the high unknown valuable additions to science's knowledge of the super-atmosphere.

Eight Hours in Flight.

Their feat, climaxing a six weeks long wait for favorable weather and compensation for two previous disappointments on their part, moved smoothly to its climax after the rocky wall of their camp's base was cleared—by only 50 feet—at 8 o'clock [central standard time] this morning.

They landed at 4:13 p. m. [central standard time] after eight hours and thirteen minutes of adventure which thrilled a world, some 240 miles to the east and south of their camp near Rapid City, S. D.

"Not a scratch" was the comment from the field about a dozen miles from here when the two climbed out of the gondola.

If record checkers sustain their 74,000 foot figure it will mean that Stevens and Anderson surpassed by some 2,000 feet the hitherto unequaled—but never officially recognized—record claimed for a trio of soviet airmen whose venture last year ended in their deaths.

Several Anxious Moments.

In spite of the favorable weather and generally ideal conditions attending the flight, it had its highly anxious moments.

One came a few minutes before they landed when they wirelessed that the huge balloon and gondola—with an overall height equivalent to that of a 31 story building—was plummeting downward 500 feet to the minute.

But it nosed into the farm land without mishap and this word was radioed to anxious colleagues:

"Very nice landing."

An army plane piloted by Capt. H. K. Baisley, which had followed the big helium filled balloon, landed near by soon afterward.

The sight of the 315 foot craft scudding across the skies like a meteor electrified the countryside. By foot and by car the curious raced to the prairie 12 miles from here to see the aviators end their epochal trip. A line of cars nearly four miles long was reported jamming the narrow country road within an hour or so of the trip's ending.

On landing the flyers went at once to the John Metheye farm near Stickney. They clambered into a farmer's car and started for White Lake for "rest and refreshments."

Climb for 4½ Hours.

They had reached their pinnacle—exceeding the official record of 61,236 feet set by Maj. Chester Fordney and Lieut. T. G. W. Settle in 1933—at 12:30 p. m., four and a half hours after they took off. At 1:05 p. m. the descent was started. It proceeded satisfactorily for a time.

But anxiety welled after some two hours. Stevens radioed the balloon was at the 23,000 foot level and "dropping too fast." For several moments the duo tossed out ballast. The downward rush of 500 feet a minute was braked.

A thousand feet from the earth the aeronauts climbed out of the gondola. They threw over their scientific instruments, which floated to the sod on parachutes.

A part of the ground crew arrived at the field at 7 tonight and the balloon fabric was immediately rolled up and prepared for packing. The trucks to transport the balloon and gondola back to Wright field, Dayton, O., were expected early this evening.

Whether the equipment would immediately be stowed into the trucks and taken away was not known.

REPORT ON THE FLIGHT

Cautiously refusing to claim a new record, Capt. Stevens said in a radio address from a farmhouse near here tonight that Explorer II. may have reached "73,000 or 74,000 feet."

"Our aneroid barometer showed a reading of 27.5 millimeters," he said. "That indicates—[in an aside] should we say anything about that?—it may be in the neighborhood of 73,000 or 74,000 feet.

"But these figures will not be official until they are certified by the bureau of standards. We will know exactly what the figure is when the bureau makes its report.

"The flight today was a very successful flight. A great deal of the credit is due to Capt. Anderson, who piloted the balloon and landed it. We believe we have a lot of valuable film and data."

Pleased Flight Is Over.

Although he would not lay claim to a new record immediately, Capt. Anderson declared the height attained was "considerably in excess of 70,000 feet" and that "the balloon functioned perfectly.

"We feel very much better now that the flight is over, for we were getting worried for fear we might not be able to get it in before winter."

Capt. Anderson laconically reported that the takeoff was "nonincidental, but when we got the balloon up to 70,000 feet we found it a craft that was quite balky. We had difficulty getting it up and trouble coming down."

He paid tribute to Capt. Stevens for his management of the flight.

Make Science Observations.

During the half hour they were at the pinnacle of their ascent, sealed in their 9 foot metal prison dangling by hempen threads from the world's largest free balloon, the aviators made rapid fire scientific observations as they rode at the greatest height ever achieved by man.

Above and beyond stretched a black infinity. Below the western Nebraska sand hills were obscured by a vague expanse of white verging into blue.

Sixty-eight below zero cold surrounded the skyship as it moved gently like a tailed 315 foot comet. Inside it was 19 degrees above zero, but the flyers calmly reported over the wireless they were quite "comfortable" in their fur lined flying suits.

"It's fairly humid inside," Stevens said as he chatted with the ground crew.

Describes Scene from Ceiling.

To the listening scientists he gave a vivid description of what the world looks like in the stratosphere.

"Around the rim of the horizon, above the white, it is light blue. Above that it is darker blue. Near the zenith it is very dark—almost black, although you would still call it dark blue. This, strangely enough, is the sunny side.

"Now I'll look out the other porthole. This is a very different picture. The sky is the same kind of blue you see on the horizon at dusk. The darkness on the sunny side is probably due to the contrast between the light color of the gondola and the stars."

Planes trailed Explorer II. as air currents carried it away from the base, the pilots peering up from levels many thousand feet below, where the air could be breathed.

Admits Being Lost.

Fifteen minutes after the balloonists started down for thicker air and firm land Stevens admitted he and Anderson were lost.

"Where are we?" he asked over the radio telephone. "We've been too busy to navigate."

At 1:05 p. m. central standard time, five hours and five minutes after they had vaulted from a natural bowl in the Black Hills near Rapid City and whisked aloft at a speed that at times reached 500 feet a minute, the voice of Stevens broadcast from the top rung of aviation's Jacob's ladder:

"We're starting down now."

To a world that was thrilled by the uncanny demonstration, the captain continued in a businesslike manner:

"It will take about three hours to get down. We're going to try to come down very slowly."

Those who recalled the ill-starred finale of the same pair's 1934 venture into the stratosphere—when their balloon ripped open 60,000 feet over Nebraska and they were forced to bail out in parachutes—crossed fingers.

Follows Balloon to Landing.

It was apparent the descent was proceeding too rapidly. The captains dropped some of their scientific instruments. Anderson reported they were having some "difficulty" trying to brake the drop to 300 to 400 feet a minute because they were still in the "isothermal" layer. That was the 1:30 p. m. report from 68,000 feet. An anxious interlude followed. [Then—at 2:47 p. m.—they were at the 40,000 foot level. There were signs of relief.

Over the gondola radio transmitter the balloonists could be heard working furiously, evidently tearing out apparatus.

"Any more ballast out now?" Capt. Anderson was heard to ask at the 4,500 foot level.

"Not yet," Capt. Stevens replied calmly.

Henry Ubel, who had followed the balloon for several miles, was in the field when it landed. He said the metal ball dropped to the turf "like a feather, rolled over on its side, and stopped.

"There was no bounce at all. Capt. Stevens and Capt. Anderson jumped to the ground and immediately began to inspect everything. They said they were delighted and they acted like they were 'tickled to death' with their success," he said.

"As soon as it hit they pulled the rip cord that deflated the balloon. There was no pull from the ground wind, which was slight," Ubel added.

Ubel said that no sooner had the flyers started to check over their equipment than the crowd of curious began to arrive. Meanwhile 12 airplanes that had been following the balloon landed, and volunteers spread out the balloon fabric and roped off a space around the gondola.

Nothing Damaged in Landing.

Capt. Anderson said that nothing was damaged in the landing; that all the delicate scientific instruments were unharmed.

There was no report of damage by souvenir seekers such as the flyers encountered when they landed from the ill-fated expedition into the stratosphere in 1934. At that time parts of the balloon fabric, pieces of metal from the wrecked gondola, and bits of rope were taken by the souvenir hunters before the flyers, who were forced to "bail out," could arrive.

It was even reported at that time that one of the flyers was forced to chase one souvenir hunter who had taken a parachute for a "keepsake."

Telephone service into this little town was jammed far beyond capacity within a few minutes after the balloon landed and it was impossible to get service with the outside for more than an hour.

Skirt Nebraska Line.

Sent on their way by 20,000 cheering spectators at the takeoff ring, the aeronauts had traveled south and east to the vicinity of Gordon, Neb. Then they headed up. The flight direction turned north and east, sending them across a line between Martin and Tuthill, S. D., and then toward Valentine, Neb., and Yankton, S. D. It was estimated they had traversed about 250 land miles.

Backers were satisfied the daring duo had established a new frontier. In addition to surpassing the soviet record—subject to calibration of their barograph—the army aviators had smashed the official mark of 61,236 feet established by Commander T. G. W. Settle and Maj. Chester Fordney in 1933.

They also used the most complete set of scientific instruments ever taken into the stratosphere to good effect. They reported they had operated their spectograph, stratoscope, and cosmic ray recorders. They took pictures of the earth from various altitudes. The flight was sponsored by the National Geographic society and the United States army air corps.

Calm as if they were guiding a scow across the Hudson, Capts. Stevens and Anderson kept in constant communication with their advisers on earth. Anderson even essayed a gag. When his wife at the Rapid City station queried as to his position, he replied: "In the air."

Hear Noises in Gondola.

Static sometimes interfered with the radio conversations and at other times the balloonists were too busy to talk. The noise of chattering instruments could be plainly heard within the gondola.

Shortly after the beginning of the flight Capt. Anderson's wife talked over the short wave and phone hookup to Washington, making plans for a trip there when Anderson came down. Chicago heard her and asked her to stop there. She accepted.

"I heard that date you just made," her husband said from the balloon.

"Is everything all right?" she asked.

"Yes, indeed."

"That was a gorgeous takeoff."

"We got it whipped," Capt. Anderson agreed.

"I'll talk to you later, honey," his wife said.

In a radio conversation with Capt. Edwin C. Musick, pilot of the Pan-American line's China Clipper plane, which also was in flight on the Pacific coast, Capt. Stevens said: "We are getting on very nicely. We are more than halfway down now." Musick asked what altitude was attained. Interference blocked Capt. Stevens' answer.

Interviewed by London.

Capt. Stevens also was interviewed while in the air by a representative of the London Daily Mail who plied him with questions from London.

The flyers were far colder before they clambered into their instrument-jammed globe than when they hit the 74,000 foot level. Snow covered the bowl here at the time of the takeoff, and the ground crew worked in a temperature of 8 above zero.

It was the ninth projected venture by balloonists into the outer atmospheric layers above the 40,000 foot level. It was the third attempt of Stevens and Anderson from Rapid City. Their first ended disastrously in 1934 when the big bag ripped asunder over Nebraska and they parachuted to earth. Their second try last July was frustrated when a section of fabric blew out while being inflated.

Even today's ascent encountered difficulties. A 20 foot tear was found in the huge envelope. Undaunted, the flyers put on a triple ply patch.

The takeoff next brought its measure of peril. The big balloon cleared the jagged cliffs topping the 500 foot rock walls surround the "bowl" in which was their camp—by a scant fifty feet.

But Stevens and Anderson went on to epic triumph.

LOG OF FLIGHT

Rapid City, S. D., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Log of the record breaking stratosphere flight of the Explorer II.:

[Time is central standard.]

8:30 p. m. [Nov. 10.]—Inflation with 300,000 feet of helium begins.

11:45 p. m.—A twenty foot rip appears in bag, is patched, and inflation continues.

8 a. m. [Nov. 11].—At sunup, the sphere is lashed to the balloon and it takes off.

8:15 a. m.—Capt. Albert W. Stevens radios "everything O. K." from height of 11,700 feet.

10:07 a. m.—Capt. H. K. Bailey, following the balloon in an airplane, reports Explorer II. over Niobara river, in Nebraska, at 21,000 foot level.

10:25 a. m.—Capt. Stevens radios the balloon is at 28,000 feet and rising 500 feet per minute. Outside temperature 40 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

11:17 a. m.—Stevens reports altitude 55,000 feet, 15,000 feet above the stratosphere level.

11:28 p. m.—Altitude of 60,000 feet reported by Capt. Stevens. He says he will try for "ceiling."

11:55 p. m.—Capt. Stevens reported altitude "about 71,000 feet," unofficial American record.

12:10 p. m.—Barometric pressure reading of 29 millimeters radioed by Capt. Stevens, computed to indicate altitude of 73,000 feet.

12:30 p. m.—Altitude of 74,000 feet indicated by barometric pressure reading.

1:05 p. m.—Stevens radios "we're coming down."

2:47 p. m.—Explorer II. has descended to 40,000 feet, Capt. Stevens reports. And position estimated 75 miles east of Valentine, Neb.

3:13 p. m.—Balloon located 50 miles west of Yankton, S. D., at altitude of 31,000 feet, and descending 500 feet a minute.

3:28 p. m. — At 23,000 foot level, Stevens and Anderson throw ballast over side to halt too rapid descent.

NEW POLICEMAN KILLS GUNMAN IN DEATH GRAPPLE

Policeman Ross Grant, a young rookie who joined the force two weeks ago, shot and killed an unidentified man last night when the latter threatened his life in the office of the Vilnis Lithuanian Daily newspaper, 3116 South Halsted street, known to the police as a meeting place for communists.

Grant was walking his beat at 31st and Halsted streets, when Walter Kostanas, 3239 Emerald avenue, a copy reader, ran up and told him a man with a gun was threatening four other employés in the office. Grant, who was in uniform, drew his revolver, held it at his side and entered.

He ordered the stranger, a man known only as Charley, to take his hands out of his pockets. Instead, Charley grappled with the policeman, pushed him against the wall, and thrust a revolver against his stomach. Grant calmly raised his own pistol, which the man apparently had not seen, and fired three times. One bullet pierced the stranger's heart.

Papers in his pocket indicated his name was Charles Kanzgaila, address unknown. Mrs. Margaret Radowicz, 1423 Minnesota avenue, South Milwaukee, said she had a brother of that name, 70 years old, whose last address was 4345 South Wood street here.

SCIENCE EAGER TO STUDY DATA OF STRATO TRIP

Cosmic Ray Record Holds High Interest.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Happy at the success of the stratosphere flight, National Geographic society officials tonight were nevertheless agreed that the aerial exploration "ceiling" had not yet been reached.

Society spokesmen expressed most interest, however, in the scientific data gathered on the voyage. Cosmic rays, wind and weather in the upper air, fungus growths that inhabit the upper strata—these were the matters that scientists will have a further chance to study as a result of today's flight.

Dr. Lyman Briggs, chairman of the scientific advisory committee that mapped the program for study on the voyage, saw in its success a further step in exploration of an area distined to play a large part in future civilization.

Seek Ozone Layer.

"The light of the sun which makes our own life possible on earth," he said, "can be studied much more accurately from the stratosphere. Scientists also are anxious to know more about the ozone gas that exists somewhere in the upper air and is believed to protect us from invisible rays of the sun."

The scientists gathered in the National Geographic society headquarters here were jubilant at Capt. Albert W. Stevens' radio description of the rapidity with which the cosmic rays were registering on the mechanism for the study.

The instrument was designed by Dr. W. F. G. Swann, noted physicist and director of the Bartol research foundation, who during the course of the flight instructed Capt. Stevens in its adjustment by short wave radio from New York.

Samples of Air Taken.

Samples of the stratosphere air were brought back by the balloonists as well as spores of various fungi picked up in sterile tubes that were dropped from the ship with small parachutes. From these spores the scientists hope to learn something of the species of life in the stratosphere and their relation to life in lower strata.

At the peak of the flight Capt. Stevens took pictures with a special camera designed to penetrate the haze along the horizon and possibly show the curvature of the earth.

Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic society, wired his congratulations to the airmen immediately after learning of their successful landing, praising particularly the bringing down of the craft without damage to the delicate instruments.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, world famous physicist, said at Chicago that the expedition's ray measurements would undoubtedly prove of "high importance."

Dr. Compton was "very interested" in a report from the balloon that cosmic rays at a rate of 150 per minute had been counted near the flight's zenith.

Other Scientific Aims.

Other scientific aims which the Stevens-Anderson expedition included:

Measurement of temperature and barometric pressure changes from the earth to the ceiling of the flight.

Studies of sunlight and skylight, partly to learn more about ozone—the substance which absorbs ultrashort light rays and protects life on earth from their harmful effects.

Observation of sky, sun, and earth brightness from high altitudes.

Studies of wind direction and velocity, possibly affecting future high altitude transportation.

Checks of barometric altitude scales by means of photographs of the earth at varied levels.

Study of balloon navigation.

Study of changes in electrical conductivity of the air with increasing altitude—a project which may aid in development of airplane engines for high altitude use.

STRATO FLIGHT JOINS THE UPS AND DOWNS IN WORLD RECORD BOOKS

Rapid City, S. D., Nov. 11.—(AP)—These records of heights and depths give an idea of the altitude—approximately 74,000 feet—reported reached today by Capt. Albert W. Stevens and Capt. Orvil A. Anderson.

Official balloon altitude records — 61,237 feet, Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle and Maj. Chester Fordney, Nov. 20, 1933.

Unofficial balloon altitude record—72,000 feet, three Russian balloonists, killed when gondola crashed in descent, Jan. 30, 1934.

Airplane altitude record—47,352 feet, Commander Renato Donati, Italy, April 11, 1934.

Airplane altitude record [United States]—43,166 feet, Lieut. Apollo Soucek, June 4, 1930.

Small unmanned sounding balloon — 22 miles or 116,160 feet.

Highest mountain [Mount Everest]—29,141 feet.

Highest cirrus clouds—40,000 feet [approximated].

Greatest ocean depth so far measured—35,400 feet.

Deepest dive made by man in sea, 3,028 feet, Dr. William Beebe and Otis Barton in the bathysphere, Aug. 15, 1934.

Bottom of stratosphere [above United States]—About 7 miles, 36,960 feet.

Top of stratosphere [estimated]—About 30 miles above earth.

FIND PLANE AND BODY OF NAVAL PILOT IN BAY

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The body of Lieut. Mathias M. Marple, 36 year old navy flyer, who hurtled to his death in Chesapeake bay during a heavy fog, was found today in the wreckage of his plane beneath 24 feet of water three miles off Annapolis.

The discovery ended a search carried on by the Naval academy ever since the aviator met death on Oct. 30 en route from Dover, Del., to the navy proving ground at Dahlgren, Va., where he was stationed.

It was hauled up by a floating derrick hurried out from the academy. The body of Lieut. Marple was seated in the cockpit in flying suit, helmet and gloves.

FIND AIR TRAVEL 4 TIMES FASTER, 3 TIMES SAFER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Notwithstanding the recent series of fatal airplane crackups, senate commerce subcommittee investigators have concluded after a thorough survey that travel by air today is "three times safer than ten years ago."

Carl Dolan, chief investigator of accidents and federal aviation administration for the subcommittee, which is seeking the basis for new legislation to improve safety in the air, said this record was achieved despite speed that permitted coast to coast flying in one-fourth of the 60 hours required in 1921.

Dolan is laying the groundwork for Senator Copeland [Dem., N. Y.], committee chairman, to present a safety bill at the next session.

Dolan said data gathered by the investigators showed 101 fatal airplane crashes since 1927 and that a plane not now made caused 35 of them. In the 101 accidents, 252 persons were killed, including 140 passengers.

2 BRITISH FLYERS SET NEW RECORD, CAPE TO LONDON

HANWORTH, England, Nov. 11.—(AP)—David Llewellyn and Mrs. Jill Wyndham arrived here by plane from Cape Town today, breaking the record established by Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison in December, 1932.

Llewellyn and Mrs. Wyndham completed the northward flight in 6 days 12 hours 3 minutes, beating Mrs. Mollison's time by more than nineteen hours. Her time was 7 days 7 hours 5 minutes.

DESIGNS CRUISER; PLANS A VOYAGE TO WEST INDIES

Charles H. Morse Jr., 25 years old, said yesterday in his home in Lake Forest that he would depart shortly for a six months' cruise in a boat he designed himself. The boat, a 60 foot twin screw Diesel powered cruiser, will be launched Thursday at the Peterson Boat works in Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

"I shall pilot the boat to Chicago next Sunday and leave for Memphis in two weeks," Morse said. "I'll return by train to spend the holidays at home, and then go back to Memphis and proceed down the Mississippi to New Orleans.

"Then I'll sail for the Florida coast, Havana and Jamaica. My parents plan to join me in Florida for some deep sea fishing. My sister and brother-in-law, Baron and Baroness Wolfgang Beck of Munich, Germany, also plan to join me in Florida and may accompany me to Jamaica."

SUPREME COURT REFUSES QUICK REVIEW OF AAA

New Deal Also Gets Delay in Coal Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Despite the urgent appeals of attorneys who argued that New Deal legislation was harming their clients, the Supreme court today refused to rule immediately in two important cases now resting in the federal courts.

The court declined to decide upon the validity of corn and wheat processing taxes and also turned down a plea to intervene in a case involving the constitutionality of the Guffey coal socialization act. In both cases, the court decided, lower courts must issue rulings before the Supreme court will consider them.

The judicial branch of the government will not be lured into hastening its deliberations, no matter how hurried may be the actions of the legislative and executive branches, the judges indicated by their attitude.

New Deal Lawyers Happy.

Government lawyers were jubilant at the decisions. The administration may now hope for a period of months to go ahead with its agricultural program without the interference of any such decision as that which upset the National Recovery Act, it was pointed out.

The Washburn-Crosby company had pleaded with the court that it rule at once on the validity of the processing taxes under the AAA as amended by the last congress. The company challenged the validity of the corn and wheat taxes. It had appealed a federal District court verdict at Kansas City which upheld the constitutionality of the taxes under the AAA amendments although it condemned taxes prior to the amendments as an improper delegation of legislative authority by congress.

The case was appealed to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, where it was still pending when the plea to the Supreme court was lodged. The company contended the higher tribunal should take the case for consideration at the same time as the cotton tax involving taxes under the old law.

Free Hand in Cotton Case.

The court also gave the government a free hand to participate in arguments of the Bankhead cotton control test suit which have been set for Dec. 9. Attorneys for Lee Moor, Texas cattle farmer bringing the suit, sought to have the government barred from arguing on the right of lower courts to entertain the suit. They asked that Solicitor General Reed be compelled to stick to the question of validity of the act as a matter of constitutional law.

The government had not wished to argue the constitutional question until forced to do so. Today's ruling means that it can plead that the complainant did not bring his case properly in the lower court.

"It is customary to permit the government to argue without limitations," remarked Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes. "And this is a case of great public importance."

Refuse Coal Injunction.

A flat refusal was issued by the court to the plea of attorneys for James Walter Carter, coal operator, who is testing the constitutionality of the Guffey coal bill in the District of Columbia Supreme court. The nine judges declined to grant a temporary restraining order to enjoin government officials from enforcing the coal code provision of the act. It also refused to set aside an order of the lower court requiring Carter to post a $1,500 bond daily to insure the Carter Coal company against losses it might sustain by failure to pay the bituminous coal tax.

Pursuing the government policy of delay against Supreme court rulings on New Deal laws, Solicitor General Reed filed briefs with the court opposing the right of Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia to bring suit in the name of his state challenging the Bankhead cotton control act. The briefs were filed in response to a court order to show cause why Georgia should not be allowed to bring the test of the law.

Reed did not go into the merits of the controversy over actual validity of the law, but devoted 47 pages to a challenge of the legal propriety of the action. He argued that the suit is essentially against the United States, which may not be sued without its consent, and that it does not come within the original jurisdiction of the Supreme court. He also insisted that Georgia had failed to offer a valid complaint calling for the equity jurisdiction of the court.

Rice Millers Fight AAA.

Eight representatives of the rice milling industry also entered the fight over AAA taxes with an appeal to Associate Justice Benjamin Cardozo for a temporary injunction to stay the collection of rice processing taxes for September. Justice Cardozo referred the case to the full court for action. A decision in the rice appeal would affect the entire AAA program.

The milling companies had sued the Louisiana internal revenue collector in federal district court to restrain him from collecting the taxes. The lower court dismissed the case and an appeal was taken to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. Because the trial court refused to enjoin the collection of taxes pending the appeal, the companies decided to ask the Supreme court to intervene. The millers charged that it will require six or seven months for the court of appeals to decide the case and that a great amount of taxes would be collected in the meanwhile.

Brazil Is Goal

CASABLANCA, Morocco, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Miss Jean Batten, New Zealand flyer, arrived this afternoon after a solo flight from Lympne, England. She said she intended to continue on to Thies, Senegal, after refueling, preliminary to flying the south Atlantic to Natal, Brazil.

German Mayor Decrees 'Go to the Theater Night'

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The mayor of Nordhausen today decreed Thursday shall be legally enforced as "Go-to-the-Theater night." He forbids all other forms of amusement or public exhibitions. He states that even if citizens do not enjoy going to the municipal theater they should buy season tickets anyway as "a sacrifice for the sake of the nation."

Ogden L. Mills to Speak Before Rotary Club Today

Ogden L. Mills, Republican leader and secretary of the treasury at the close of the Hoover adminstration, will address the Rotary club at noon today in the Palmer house on "Unemployment."

EACH JUSTICE IS A DISSENTER IN DAY'S DECISIONS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—There was a rare occasion indeed in the Supreme court today when every one of the nine justices differed at one time or another from his colleagues in the opinions handed down.

In all there were nearly thirty dissents. Not all of these were written views. Sometimes the justices were merely recorded as disagreeing. In the written instances, one justice usually penned the objection and briefly announced that some of his fellows joined him.

Justices Cardozo, Brandeis, and Stone were out in front with five oppositions each. Justices Sutherland, Roberts, and McReynolds were listed with three each. Chief Justice Hughes and Justice Butler said twice that they did not share the conclusions of the majority. Justice Van Devanter, absent from the bench, was nevertheless put down as once not in accord.

RAINS AND SNOWS COVER U. S.; CITY UNUSUALLY WET

Rain, sleet, and snow prevailed throughout the nation yesterday with the exception of the far west and the south Atlantic seaboard.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicted that today would continue cloudy with the possibility of more rain and sleet early in the morning. He said the temperature would also remain in the low forties.

The precipitation here totaled .39 of an inch in the twenty-four hours preceding 7 o'clock last night, shortly after which hour it ceased. This brought the total precipitation for the first eleven days of the month to 2.91 inches, a figure which is exactly three times the normal of .97 of an inch. The condition is especially unusual, according to Mr. Donnel, in view of the fact that November seldom is a wet month.

Rainfall for 1935 to date is 35.78 inches, 21 per cent above normal. The normal total through Nov. 11 is 29.42 inches.

MAYOR SHELVES RULES TO SAVE TRIPLETS' LIVES

Orders Homemade Milk Given Maywood Babies.

A rule that the city health department's breast milk station donate rations only to Chicago babies was broken yesterday in an effort to save the lives of girl triplets born on Nov. 1 in the Oak Park hospital to Mrs. Pearl Schmeltzer, 33 years old, 1902 Warren avenue, Maywood. Although premature by two months, and weighing a total of only 7 pounds 12 ounces at birth, the Maywood triplets have a good chance to survive with plentiful breast milk, said physicians in attendance.

The mother, in whom tuberculosis, now inactive, flared up again not long before the babies were born, is not allowed to feed the babies normally because of the danger of infection. The father, Otto, 46 years old, an overseas war veteran, is employed only two days a week in a steel foundry and is unable to pay for the milk at the customary rate of 15 cents an ounce which hospitals charge.

Babies' Need Touches Mayor.

A baby specialist who is caring for the triplets called on Dr. Herman N Bundesen yesterday and pleaded that Chicago donate natural milk to enable the Maywood babies to live. Dr Bundesen was authorized by Mayor Kelly to give the milk as long as it is needed. The mayor is interested in the milk station as an important means of lowering the infant death rate. The tiny girls' current requirement is 1½ ounces apiece every four hours—27 ounces a day.

Mrs. Schmeltzer has not yet been allowed to see the babies. They were placed immediately in incubators, where they probably will remain for two months. They are numbered 1, 2, and 3 in the hospital, but their names are Barbara Ann, Dorothy Elizabeth, and Marilyn Ellen. All three have blue eyes and blond hair.

Given All Possible "Breaks."

Their father visits them daily. The hospital is providing a special nurse night and day free of charge in order that the girls may have every advantage possible in their struggle to overcome the disadvantages of entering the world two months too soon and with constitutions not too robust.

Mrs. Schmeltzer was married when she was 18 years old. For 13 years she was childless, according to the physician who delivered the babies, Dr. E. J. Ginnan of Maywood. About a year ago she lost twin babies three months before they were expected to be born.

Dr. William B. Raycraft is the pediatrician who was called in on the day the babies arrived. A plan is being considered to give the triplets Calmette vaccines if it develops that they must live in their parents' home under conditions which might involve exposure to tuberculosis. Dr. Raycraft remarked, however, that the efficacy of this form of immunization was not definitly established.

Roosevelt Lured by Balmy Weather to Lunch Outdoors

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt took advantage of summery weather today to have his lunch served outdoors on the portico just beyond his office. As usual on Monday, he had lunch with Secretary Morgenthau.

Four Take $214 at Office of Distilling Company

Four gunmen took $214 last night from the cashier's cage of the Brookson Distillers at 411 North La Salle street after forcing into a rear room the manager, Meyer Leavitt, 5520 Jackson boulevard, and his brother Gerry.

CCC WORKER ADMITS SETTING TWO REVENGE FIRES IN LIBERTYVILLE

Robert Kick of Libertyville, 19 years old, a Civilian Conservation corps worker, set fire early yesterday to a railroad depot and his grandfather's barn in Libertyville. He confessed setting the fires for revenge after five hours of questioning by railroad detectives and Lake county authorities.

The first blaze was discovered in the frame station of the Milwaukee railroad at 4 a. m. Firemen extinguished the flames after damage of $1,000 had been done. A few minutes later the barn of Frank Day on Brainard avenue was found burning. This fire was also put out by the Libertyville firemen.

In his confession the CCC youth told Sergt. Wolff that his father, Frank Kick, was killed 17 years ago when his horse and buggy were struck by a train. Since then the youth said he had nursed a grievance against all railroads. He said he set fire to the barn because his grandfather never had given him any money.

Kick, a member of Camp McDonald of the CCC at Naperville, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Willis Overholzer on a warant charging arson and was locked up in Lake county jail when unable to put up an $8,000 bail bond.

M'VEAGH TO LET ARTIST'S $2,500 JUDGMENT STAND

Attorneys for Eames MacVeagh indicated yesterday there would be no appeal taken from the $2,500 Municipal court judgement won against him by Miss Louise Hagen, New York artist, for breach of contract.

Judge Joseph J. McGarry after hearing the case entered the judgment on Sept. 14, but allowed MacVeagh sixty days in which to file an appeal. State Senator James J. Barbour, attorney for MacVeagh during the trial, said yesterday he had not heard from MacVeagh and that he was not working on any appeal. At MacVeagh's home, 900 North Michigan avenue, it was said he had made no plans on the matter.

At the time of the court's ruling, Attorney Barbour declared that MacVeagh owed $80,000 to banks and the plaintif "could get a $2,500 judgment and frame it." Counsel for Miss Hagen said they would take steps to collect the judgment in a few days after the expiration of the 60 day order.

Miss Hagen charged that MacVeagh was the father of her son, now 24 and that in 1929 following MacVeagh's marriage, he agreed to pay her $250 a month. In 1934, however, he stopped the payments and her suit was for the amount in arrears.

Today Is 11th Anniversary of World Fair Beginning

Today is the 11th anniversary of the first city council action that resulted in A Century of Progress. On Nov. 12, 1924, Guy Guernsey, former alderman from the 6th ward, presented a resolution, which was adopted, favoring a World's Fair to mark 100 years of progress for Chicago.

$150,000 BLAZE WRECKS LUMBER YARD ON W. SIDE

Third of City's Apparatus Fights Flames.

Damage estimated at $150,000 was caused last night by a spectacular fire which wrecked two buildings of the Siegel Lumber company at 4815 West Grand avenue and destroyed the millwork stored in them. Nearly one-third of the city's fire equipment was rushed to the scene in response to a 5-11 and three special alarms before the blaze was brought under control.

Adolph Meyer, the night watchman, discovered the fire in the main building and turned in the alarm after vainly trying to put out the flames with a hand extinguisher. The flames spread quickly to the adjoining annex.

Cause of Blaze Unknown.

The origin of the fire was not determined last night. Fire Marshal Michael J. Corrigan, who was at the scene and directed the fire fighting equipment, said that an investigation would be begun today. A. A. Siegel, president of the company, said that the loss was covered by insurance.

The main building of the company was located on Grand avenue between Cicero and La Crosse avenues. It was a one story combination office and storage structure of brick construction. While millwork stored in the annex, also one story high, was destroyed by the fire, the annex was still standing last night, although the roof blazed for several hours.

To the northeast of the buildings and running diagonally across Grand and Cicero avenues are the tracks of a belt line of the Milwaukee railroad. The flames were checked before they reached a receiving platform on the railroad.

Great Crowd Watches Spectacle.

The flames feeding on the wood in the building and annex rose high and illuminated the sky for miles around. Thousands of people gathered at the scene and police from the Cragin district were aided by squads from other stations in handling pedestrian and motor trafic. All automobile trafic was stopped on Cicero avenue between North and Armitage avenues for several hours.

Fire fighting equipment rushed to the scene included forty engines, four hook and ladder companies, two searchlight towers and two high water towers. Grand avenue was flooded with water from the fire hoses.

Two firemen were slightly hurt and given first aid at the scene. Joseph Cornella of Ladder company 35 cut himself on the hand with his ax and Elber Abbott of Engine company 7 was cut on the hands and face by flying glass.

The Siegel company buildings are four blocks east of the soy bean plant of the Glidden company at 1845 North Laramie avenue which was razed by an explosion on Oct. 7 in which eleven men were killed.

MAINTAIN POWER TO KEEP PEACE, IS ARMISTICE NOTE

Disillusioned City Honors Heroes and Cause.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

Chicago in a spirit of disillusionment observed yesterday the 17th anniversary of the Armistice which was heralded as bringing lasting peace to the world. There were the usual martial displays, undimmed by rain, and honors for the men who died in France and for those who returned. But the speakers of the day dwelt most heavily upon the death of the brave hopes of Nov. 11, 1918, upon a world beset by war and rumors of war, and upon the threats in America today against that democracy which the world war ostensibly was fought to save.

Thus before the Union League club Charles G. Dawes, supply chief of the A. E. F., with the rank of brigadier general, former Vice President of the United States and former ambassador to Great Britain, fairly exploded with:

"Peace! You can't have peace unless you have force behind it! Take your police off the streets of Chicago for a week and see what happens."

Record Visit for Gentle Lady.

From the same speakers' table Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commander of the 6th corps area, reminded his hearers that the seventeen years since the Armistice have constituted the longest period of uninterrupted peace in the history of the United States.

Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, repeated the quotation: "Peace is a gentle lady, but she cannot be wooed by weakness," and then added:

"Peace cannot be maintained unless we have an army and navy to maintain it. It is the statesmen and the people who make the choice. The army and navy merely enforce the decision."

Speaking at the same luncheon, the Rev. A. L. Girard, chaplain of the Union League club post of the American Legion, described his first Armistice day, spent ministering to men wounded in the final attack of the war, and then referred to "these days, when so many churchmen are preaching a brand of pacifism which seems to me a form of cowardice and even of crooked or shallow thinking."

Obligation to God and Country.

"I am a patifist and hate war, for I know its brutality," he continued. "But I am proud to wear the uniform of my country. Too many of us look on God and government alike as sources of supply. The real citizen is the one who realizes that we cannot have privileges without obligations and who defends those rights which others have won for him."

Gen. Dawes pleaded for a realistic consideration in the United States of the problems of Europe.

"Why couldn't the treaty of Versailles be framed so as to insure an enduring peace?" he asked. "I'll tell you why. They tried to draw boundary lines so that each nation would consist of a homogeneous people, thus eliminating one of the greatest causes of war.

"They found that such lines cut off some nations from the sea. They had to reckon with the economic necessities of people, and when they had drawn boundaries to take care of economic necessities they found they didn't have homogeneous peoples."

Continent of Incontinent Hate.

He told of a conversation with the ageing Georges Clemenceau, who referred to these readjusted boundaries as "spots of absolutely inevitable trouble in the future" and concluded the talk with the epigram, "Europe is based on hatreds."

"God help this country," concluded General Dawes, "if we listen to the demagogs who tell us that international bankers make wars, or that munition makers make wars, and are persuaded to disarm. We will be taken by the first nation which has the strength and desire to take us."

The speaker before the Traffic club of Chicago, at the Palmer House, was Col. George T. Buckingham, constitutional lawyer and a former soldier.

"All the soldiers who died in the world war and those who returned believed they had given their utmost to make the world safe for democracy," said Col. Buckingham. "There have been 25 wars and 18 dictatorships since then.

Sees Abyss of Absolutism.

"The tendency now is away from democracy and toward absolutism. That leader who declared that we are returning to the horse and buggy era uttered the most dangerous fallacy ever uttered by man. Actually the constitution made no reference to transportation. It didn't deal with the things man made, but with man himself. It was a political charter and not an economic plan. The nature of mankind and the way he reacts to a given situation is the one thing on this earth which has never changed and never will.

"It is the easiest thing in the world for a constitutional democracy to gravitate into a dictatorship, and a dictatorship is the hardest thing to get out of. The Germans patterned their democracy on our own, but one provision in their constitution caused its downfall. That was the provision that in time of emergency the president could dispense with other forms of government and rule himself.

The Peril of Suspending Law.

"Von Hindenberg dispensed with the others for 30 days, and then for 60 days, and when he died his successor said: 'We've dispensed with the constitution for several periods to show that we were able to. Now we'll dispense with it for all time.' That lesson of the Germans, who are an intelligent people, should not go unheeded."

Ralph E. Church, Cook county's only Republican congressman, made a plea for the retention of the American form of government in his Armistice day speech before the Evanston Chamber of Commerce at the North Shore hotel.

"I believe," said Congressman Church, "that the present theories at Washington are inherently inimical to American democracy. There is every indication that the executive branch already has undermined the constitutional plan of our government and has set up in place of a well tested, three divisioned system an executive burocracy ever hungry for more power."

Observance in the Loop.

The loop saw a double Armistice day observance yesterday at 11 a. m. State and Madison streets, site of previous ceremonies, witnessed the traditional sounding of "Taps," and the American Legion, parading in two sections, marched to the La Salle street entrance of the city hall, where Ferre C. Watkins, past state commander of the Legion, was the principal speaker.

Detachments from the Illinois National guard, Marine corps and naval reservists, and the Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Mandel Brothers and Marine posts of the Legion took part in the State street demonstration. They marched from the Goodman theater of the Art institute, in Grant park, to the scene of the ceremonies, where commanders of each of the Leagion posts called the honor roll of deceased members, a platoon of 24 rifles fired a volley, and the mass drum and bugle corps of the posts sounded "Taps.'

Officials Review Marchers.

Mayor Kelly and other public officials were in the reviewing stand at which the participants in the Legion observance gathered before the city hall.

For the first time in the history of Chicago Armistice day celebrations, high school R. O. T. C. units and their bands marched in the twin parades which converged on the city hall.

In line were 1,496 boys from the R. O. T. C. units of eleven high schools. Many schools not represented in the downtown demonstrations sent detachments to assist at neighborhood patriotic programs. High school outfits reviewed by the mayor were the following:

Amundsen	Harrison	Senn
Bowen	Hyde Park	Tilden
Crane	Marshall	Waller
Foreman	Schurz

Armistice day ended with a round of balls and reunions of service men's organizations and veterans' associations of various military units.

The Disabled American Veterans of the World War sponsored an Army-Navy ball at the Drake hotel. The Veteran Corps of the 131st Infantry, the old "Dandy First," held a reunion in the armory at 16th street and Michigan avenue.

MANY CITATIONS LOST IN MAZE OF RECORDS IN WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Seventeen years since the war ended, many a doughboy who distinguished himself in France still awaits his award for valor.

The tales of their heorism are buried in masses of war department data. To ferret them out, the army has a decoration board headed by Col. James Woolnough at work delving into the records and history of each case brought to its attention.

Recently a veteran asked the war department why he had not received the congressional medal of honor for which he had been cited. Examination disclosed that not only that veteran but 28 others in the same engagement had been cited for valor but never received their decorations.

Citations were lost in the shuffle of wartime correspondence.

ALL BUT ONE VET OF 12 WILLING TO GO TO WAR AGAIN

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A poll taken among twelve veterans of two wars gathered at the Armistice day exercises before the Eternal Light, Madison square, today disclosed that all except one were willing to march off to another war.

The world war veterans were unanimously ready to serve except for John Findlay, who fought with the 154th aviation squadron, A. E. F.

"I'd have to think it over," said Findlay.

A British veteran was included in the poll. He is Herbert Wigley of Brooklyn. He served in 1914 with the duke of Cornwall's light infantry, being one of the First British army, the "Contemptibles."

"Of course I'd serve my country again if I was physically fit," said Wigley.

Sydney Gumpert, a captain in the reserves and holder of the congressional medal of honor and thirteen other war decorations, admitted no doubts.

"Sure," he said, "I'd go again. They amuse me, these fellows that want to live forever."

Maj. Edwin D. Graff of the regular army, A. E. F., said: "Sure, I'd go again tomorrow."

Village Recaptured in '18 by Yanks Honors Pershing

VARENNES-EN-ARGONNE, France, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., was made an honorary citizen of this city today. The city was recaptured by American troops on Sept. 26, 1918.

U. S.-CANADIAN PACT OUTLINED BY ROOSEVELT

Speaks for Peace at Tomb of Unknown Soldier.

"Defense Is Our Policy."

"Defense against aggression by others—adequate defense on land, on sea, and in the air—is our accepted policy; and the measure of that defense is and will be solely the amount necessary to safeguard us from others. The more they decrease their armaments the more quickly and surely we shall decrease ours."

The President said that this country by word and deed is giving an example to the rest of the world by removing or lowering barriers which impede friendly intercourse. On this Armistice day, he said, it was fitting that he should tell of another act cementing the historic friendship between the United States and Canada.

"I am, therefore, happy to tell you on Armistice day that the Canadian prime minister and I, after thoughtful discussion of our national problems, have reached a definite agreement which will eliminate disagreements and unreasonable restrictions, and thus work to the advantage of both Canada and the United States," he said.

National Commander Ray Murphy of the American Legion, another speaker at Arlington cemetery, urged a three point program intended to insure maintenance of peace and American neutrality.

The President's address was the highlight of the capital's Armistice day observance. As he finished speaking, the President faced east and stood with bowed head at 11 o'clock as a bugler sounded "Taps."

CANADIANS ACCEPT TRADE PACT WITH U. S.; WILL SIGN TOMORROW

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Definite agreement on the terms of a reciprocal trade treaty between Canada and United States was announced simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt.

Details of the treaty are being kept closely guarded pending the time when it will be ready for official signing, probably later this week. Details will be made public then simultaneously in two capitals. Mackenzie King will leave for Washington, probably Wednesday, to sign on behalf of Canada, after which he will proceed farther south for the holiday he interrupted in order to conclude the trade negotiations.

The Canadian cabinet council approved a draft of the treaty after an hour's study this morning and the premier immediately telephoned to President Roosevelt.

Expressing great satisfaction in the speedy agreement, Mackenzie King, at a newspaper conference called immediately after the Armistice day ceremonies on Parliament hill, said he hoped the treaty would "show to an anxious and troubled world a better way of solving its difficulties."

LONDON SILENT 2 MINUTES TO HONOR WAR DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—In the lengthening shadow of what is possibly another European conflict, London celebrated the 17th anniversary of the armistice with two minutes of silence in honor of world war dead today.

When Big Ben in Westminster tower chimed 11 o'clock, radio carried the sound throughout the empire. The duke of York, substituting for his father, King George, whose physicians ordered him to stay out of the damp weather, laid a wreath at the Cenotaph memorial in Whitehall. Be-medalled, uniformed men—some crippled—stood at attention and civilians stopped silent as all trafic halted and noises were stilled in London. Salvos of artillery, the peal of bells and blowing of the "last post" ended the silence. The bishop of London read a prayer.

FRANCE HONORS ARMISTICE DAY MID CIVIL STRIFE

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 11.—France celebrated Armistice day in an atmosphere of civil strife reminiscent of Germany on the eve of the Nazi revolution.

The traditional parades of veterans' and patriotic societies to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier under the Arc de Triomphe this year for the first time developed into political demonstrations by rival forces of the left and right with localized mob fights all up and down the Champs Elyseés. The strategic genius of Police Prefect Langeron and the guns of thousands of mobile guards on horse and afoot averted bloodshed, but that could not prevent an afternoon of wild disorder.

The Fascists and adherents of the Popular Front exchanged insults and blows with fists or canes and brickbats. A big café had its windows smashed. Vigorous charges in which helmeted mobile guards with rifles had to back up the police were made. Even greater violence marked celebrations in the provinces.

Clear Cut Division.

What was most sinister and impressive in the Paris demonstrations was not so much the incessant scuffling as the clear cut division of the crowd into two bitterly hostile camps. Political passions completely overcame the usual French decorum in anything pertaining to the dead.

Somewhere around half a million Parisians participated more or less actively in the fray. To understand the meaning of this you have to have a mental picture of the scene.

A column of war veterans, the blind and crippled in front, comes marching slowly and in perfect order up the middle of the avenue, bearing wreaths and placards with such innocuous sentiments as: "Internal peace is what we want." "Our rights—order, liberty and peace."

This first procession, which may include as many as 50,000 marchers, is definitly left wing in tendency and the nonpolitical war veterans' associations which head it are followed by contingents officially affiliated with the Popular Front.

Red Workers Cheer.

The crowd lining the sidewalks is composed mostly of workers with caps and red ties or scarfs. The marchers are greeted with thunderous applause, fists upraised in a sinister salute which the German communist emigres introduced into France.

Here and there, however, there are sections of the crowd which are definitly nationalist. These groups, instead of cheering as the left wing veterans pass, boo and answer the communist salute with the Fascist salute.

Insults are hurled back and forth from sidewalk to street, then from one side of the street to the other, while everywhere localized disputes get under way.

In the middle of this incredible bedlam the paraders file past the tomb of their dead comrade, and quietly slip off the scene through the dense hedges of police—needless to say to run into the inevitable clash with rival marchers just as they are getting ready to disband.

Blue Shirts in Parade.

This goes on from 2 o'clock until after dark. The left wing veterans are followed by the patriotic and Fascist organizations—Action Francaise, French Solidarity, Francists—wearing their blue shirts and berets.

The fury of the crowd touches fever pitch. Cries of "Fascist assassins," "hang La Rocque," [Francois de la Rocque, head of the Croix de Feu], arise on every side. The scuffling on the sidewalks increases.

In their bitter hatred, the Fascist groups of workmen in one corner spat upon royalist young girls marching by.

Shortly after this—about 4:45 p. m.—occurred the most serious incident of the day which looked for a moment as if it would lead to a riot. At the sight of the blue shirted Camelots du Roi, a handful of young Reds broke the police lines and rushed out into the middle of the street to attack them.

The royalists broke rank and mobbed the attackers, and the crowd smashed against the line of mobile guards almost throwing them off their feet. The day was saved when a quick witted police captain rushed up with a mobile squad, grabbed the young Reds by the collars as fast as they were knocked down by the royalists, and hauled them out of harm's way.

The Croix de Feu did not participate in the afternoon demonstrations. They had a big orderly parade led by Francois de la Rocque this morning in which between 15,000 and 20,000 men marched by in perfect discipline to the plaudits of a respectful crowd.

Almost overlooked was the official parade. President Albert Lebrun reviewed a display of France's military might, as he stood bareheaded under the eternal light at the tomb.

When is an Old Trade-mark really "Old"?

THE "LIFE SPAN" of a trade-mark parallels that of a business or professional man, with one great difference—a trade-mark can be constantly revitalized.

With man, the first stage is that of growth and widening influence.

Next comes the second, or middle-aged stage, wherein for a long time he is at the height of his reputation.

This gradually and inevitably merges into the third period, wherein he loses out before the competition of younger men and newer methods.

When trade-marks reach this third period, something must be done to revitalize them.

To quote from an outstanding national advertiser's general letter to stockholders (from which we borrowed the subject of this advertisement), "There are three general ways in which Management may meet this:

1. It may produce new products under new trade names . . . a slow and expensive process.
2. It may purchase other trade-marks that are in the first, or growing portion of their 'Life Span.'
3. It may shift the old trade-mark to cover new products, thereby conserving the money spent in past years' advertising of the old mark."

It takes great experience to prescribe for a trade-mark whose brightly-minted image has grown over-familiar to a changing world. Time stales its lustre . . . familiarity breeds indifference . . . new symbols eclipse it.

A real "Trade-Mark House"

Lord & Thomas doubt that any other advertising agency can match their long experience and fruitful strategy in the field of trade-marks, old and new.

For 63 years we have christened, nursed, encouraged, and sent them forth to win supremacy in more national fields than we can enumerate. You know them. Your grandparents knew them. And your grandchildren will know them. They are a vital part of America's higher standards of living.

Lord & Thomas salesmanship-in-print put these trade-marks up there, over the years. And Lord & Thomas strategy is constantly devising new ways to keep them up there—making money for their owners. We do not believe in an "Old Man's Home for Trade-marks." We believe in keeping them out in the field, working—where they belong!

New Cases—New Prescriptions

Lord & Thomas fully appreciate the advantages of the aforementioned three general premises for aging trade-marks. We have, many times, evolved supplementary by-products to carry on the name. And we have elevated these same by-products to the stature of successful products by true salesmanship-in-print. We open up new fields, create countless modern packages, fire with enthusiasm the national dealer.

In addition, we constantly discover new ways to revitalize trade-marks. For example, a completely new kind of radio contest for a dentifrice—it breaks all records.

For a great marketing organization, a striking new advertising appeal—sprung from a four-year research with leading universities on a product more than 25 years old . . . a product with no apparent new appeal.

Each case may be different, demanding bold and original thought. But Lord & Thomas, we believe, have been singularly successful in finding the right prescription.

ATTACK ON JAP STORE RENEWS SHANGHAI TERROR

500 More Marines Landed from Warships.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 12.—(Tuesday.)—Japanese consular officials protested over a further incident this morning, charging that Chinese schoolboys threw stones which struck a Japanese schoolgirl on the cheek. The injury was said to be not serious, but it was stated the incident indicated the growing anti-Japanese movement here.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11.—Chinese-Japanese animosities flared anew tonight when demonstrators threw bricks and bottles and smashed a window of a Japanese porcelain dealer's shop located at the busiest section of Nanking road in the heart of the international settlement. Fear stricken Chinese continued to flock into the foreign area for safety.

Five hundred more Japanese marines were landed today from three warships in the harbor, bringing the number posted about the Chinese native city to considerably more than 2,000. Japanese naval officers, however, declared the 500 were merely replacements for bluejackets who are to depart for Japan Wednesday.

The Japanese military attaché's office immediately after the window smashing issued a report alleging that the demonstrators were of Chinese nationality, since they had distributed handbills signed "The Anti-Japanese National Salvation society" which urged "war on Japan to save China."

Claims "Identity Unknown."

The British police official of the international settlement who investigated the incident, however, stated tonight: "The identity of the persons who smashed the window of the Japanese shop has not been established." He left the impression that the act may have been committed by Japanese or Coreans interested in causing further complications here. This the Japanese denied.

Itaro Ishii, Japanese consul general, in a statement late tonight said he regretted the "recurrent incidents involving Japanese nationals in Shanghai" and protested against incidents "in which the culprits escape all the time." Earlier in the day Ishii called on Mayor Wu Teh-chen of Greater Shanghai and urged redoubled efforts to find the slayers of Hideo Nakayama, Japanese marine, whose death Saturday was followed by the Japense landing of marines.

The Japanese embassy spokesman, in a statement to the press, declared it was necessary for Chinese authorities to adopt strict measures for curbing the anti-Japanese movement. The movement, if not curbed, he added, may cause a reversal of the recently improved relations of China and Japan. The military attaché's office made a further declaration blaming the Kuomintang party [government party] for not dissolving anti-Japanese groups.

Hold Elaborate Funeral.

In the meantime, the mystery of the unidentified assassin of Nakayama remains unsolved. Japanese claim the assassin was a Chinese. International settlement police infer the culprit's nationality was not established. The lone Chinese witness to the slaying declares the man who fired the shot wore a uniform similar to that of Nakayama. Four separate investigations continue.

Japanese naval authorities conducted an elaborate funeral service for Nakayama in accordance with Shinto rites, all the naval landing party participating in the march.

While incidents were piling up here, China was preparing to hold the opening ceremony of the fifth national Kuomintang party congress in Nanking tomorrow morning. More than two-thirds of the delegates were already present in the capital today.

While Canton is sending a delegation of civilian political leaders, a strong effort will be exerted to induce Gen. Chen Chi-tang, military commander of Kwantung, and Gen. Li Tsung-jen, commander of Kwangsi province, to attend. Most colorful of the delegates is the "Christian General" Feng Yu-hsiang who again is wearing his characteristic silken gown after a half dozen years of hermit life on Mount Taishan, affecting a coolie mode of existence. The most important subject for consideration is the vital issue of relations with Japan—whether peace or war.

Protest North China Arrests.

The Chinese ministry of foreign affairs at Nanking yesterday lodged a strong protest with Japanese Ambassador Akira Ariyoshi over the action of the Japanese military in North China in arresting Chinese ["Blue Shirts"] suspected of anti-Japanese activities. The Chinese charge the Japanese action constitutes a "grave violation of Chinese sovereignty as well as an infringement of international law and demands the immediate cessation of the practice."

The Chinese protest was precipitated by the action of the Japanese military at Peiping which sent gendarmes to the private home of Col. Hsuan Chieh-hsi, an officer of the 29th army, during the night and arrested him. He is still confined within the Japanese embassy premises at Peiping. The Japanese now are holding a large number of Chinese who are allegedly involved in anti-Japanese activities.

BLAME SUICIDE ON ACCIDENTAL DOOR SLAMMING

Youth's Feelings Hurt at Girl's Home.

The accidental slamming of a door in the home of the girl he had escorted to a motion picture theater was believed by police yesterday to have led Ralph Divver, 19 years old, 6439 Newgard avenue, to kill himself Sunday night. Divver was found fatally wounded in his home by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Divver, 42 years old, a widow. He told her he had shot himself with the .22 caliber rifle which lay beside him.

Miss Frances O'Hayer, 17 years old, 6518 Bosworth avenue, the girl whom Divver took to a show Sunday night, testified yesterday at the inquest into his death. She said that she had been keeping company with him for four months. The hearing took place in undertaking rooms at 7066 North Clark street.

Departs With Feelings Hurt.

After returning from the theater, Miss O'Hayer said, Divver was bidding her good-bye when the door to her apartment slammed accidentally. When she reopened the door, Divver had left, apparently feeling she had rebuffed him. When he arrived home he telephoned her, Miss O'Hayer testified, and she assured him the closing of the door was unintentional. He appeared satisfied with the explanation, she said.

Police believe, however, that despite the girl's assurance, Divver brooded over the fancied insult. His mother testified that he was of a sensitive nature.

While the police indicated they were convinced Divver's wound was self-inflicted, the inquest was continued to Nov. 20 to allow time for further investigation.

Woman Recounts Outcry.

Mrs. Katherine Collison, who lives across the hall from the Divver apartment said at the inquest that she had heard someone cry "O, God, forgive me!" and believed it might have been a woman's voice coming from the Divver apartment.

The time at which Mrs. Collison heard the cry corresponded to the time Mrs. Divver found her son dying and the police surmised that the cry might have come from Divver after his mother found him wounded.

Mrs. Divver returned home after an evening spent out with Timothy Maloney, 2415 Morse avenue. Maloney took Ralph to the Edgewater hospital where the youth died.

Divver was a clerk in the C. D. Peacock jewelry store in the loop and was taking a night course in advertising on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university. While at Lake View High school, of which he was a graduate, he was captain of the rifle team.

54 Are Seized for Hunting in County Forest Preserve

Fifty-four men, whose shotguns were confiscated yesterday and Sunday while they were hunting pheasants in the county forest preserve, will be arraigned today before various suburban magistrates. They will be charged with hunting in the forest preserve tracts, which is forbidden by county ordinance. The hunters were arrested by the forest preserve police.

LAMP BLAST SETS FIRE TO PRINCE OF WALES' RESIDENCE, ST. JAMES'

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The explosion of a kerosene lamp in the servants' quarters of St. James's palace, residence of the prince of Wales, caused a general fire alarm and much excitement tonight, but the blaze was extinguished with minor damages to the palace.

Flames were spreading through the servants' quarters and the mess room of officers of the guard when the firemen arrived, but they quickly brought the fire under control.

Wedding presents of the duke and duchess of Gloucester are on display at the palace, adding to the interest in the fire, which brought a large crowd to the scene.

Boy Scout Receives Medal for Rescue from Drowning

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett presented the James E. Russell life saving medal, state award of the Combat Medal Men's association, to Star Scout James Suter at Armistice day ceremonies last night in Libertyville High school. By methods learned as a boy scout, Suter saved a companion, Maurice Fabick, from drowning in the Wisconsin river on May 14, 1932.

BOY RETURNING FROM A MOVIE KILLED BY AUTO

Police Trace Driver by Car's License.

Richard Hokanson, 8 years old, 1439 Balmoral avenue, was crossing the intersection of Foster avenue and Broadway in the rain last evening on his way home from a movie theater with Lorraine Mautner, 9 years old, of the same address, when an automobile rounded the corner and struck the boy, hurling him 35 feet, and injuring him fatally.

Witnesses obtained the license number which was traced by Sergt. Theodore Cullinan of the Summerdale station to Henry Harding, 2018 Farragut avenue, a real estate agent. Harding was taken into custody at his home and recalled hitting "something" at the intersection but said he thought it was an obstruction in the street. His vision was obscured by rain, he said.

The Hokanson boy died soon after being taken to the Edgewater hospital. Harding was held for the inquest.

Four Other Victims in Day.

Four other automobile deaths were recorded yesterday in Cook county. The victims:

John Gedman, 55 years old, of Willow Springs. Died in the County hospital of injuries incurred Friday when he was struck by an automobile near his home at 82nd street and Keane avenue. The driver of the car was Herman Diedricksen, 638 North Kensington avenue, La Grange Park.

Joseph Galmenus, 49 years old, 12213 Emerald avenue. Killed last night when he was struck in front of 12411 South Halsted street by an automobile driven by Arle Balser, 6345 South Morgan street.

Hugh McNamee, 60 years old, 727 South Euclid avenue, Oak Park. Killed last night when he was struck by an automobile at Harlem avenue and 43d street in Stickney, where he was waiting for a bus. The driver was Harlan E. King, 29 years old, 1917 South Grove avenue, Berwyn.

Joseph Krause, 56 years old, 3243 Parnell avenue. Died in St. Paul's hospital from injuries incurred Sunday night when two automobiles collided at 33d and Wallace streets and knocked him through the plate glass window of a store.

Truck Runs Into House.

A loaded merchandise truck, driven by Claude Marine, 21 years old, Muncie, Ind., collided with and overturned another truck, jumped the curbing and crashed into the side of a house at 87th street and South Chicago avenue yesterday. Four persons were injured including Marine, Louis Dean of Muncie, who was on his truck, Milton Maddox, colored, 24 years old, 6503 South Racine avenue, driver of the other truck, Allen Stewart, 19 years old, colored, 1214 East 62nd street, who was riding with Maddox.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 838 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In that period 652 were killed and 15,130 injured in trafic crashes within the Chicago city limits.

U. OF C. GEOLOGY MOVIES SHOWN FOR FIRST TIME

The first showing of the six reels of motion pictures of geological phenomena drew a crowd of 2,500 students and educators from the middle west to the University of Chicago last night.

The films, which have been three years in preparation, show earthquakes, duststorms, volcanoes, electrical storms, rivers, mountains, plains, and numerous other manifestations of nature.

"The films will be used to fill a gap in our educational plan which could not be demonstrated in classrooms by lectures or charts," President Robert M. Hutchins asserted at the opening of the show last night. He said the films later would be lent to other educational institutions.

VILLAGE SAVED FROM EXPLOSION BY MACHINE GUN

Tank Train Wrecked and Bursts Into Flame.

Willard, Kas., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—This Kansas community of 100 residents was saved from threatened demolition today through the desperate use of a machine gun to puncture a flame-surrounded gasoline tank.

The machine gun, an unscheduled part of the town's Armistice day observances, was rushed 15 miles here from Topeka. Sherif's deputies drove here at high speed with the weapon after high powered rifles had failed to penetrate the steel of a railroad tank car that was in danger of being exploded.

Tank Train Is Wrecked.

The fire started when a tank train was wrecked in the town and six gasoline laden cars burst open. Blazing fluid spread over other cars, several of which were loaded with coal.

The stockyards were destroyed and there appeared danger that all the buildings in the town would follow. The intense heat kept workers several hundred feet away from the railroad station, which was damaged when 18 cars of the east bound freight train were derailed near it.

The greatest threat was from the expected explosion of two of the remaining eight gasoline cars. It was feared the sherif's men would not have time to get here with the machine gun before the heat would cause them to burst and probably kill all the fire fighters.

Machine Gun Does Trick.

However, when the weapon arrived it was hurriedly put in action and its rat-a-tat-tat rang out, the bullets opening gaps in the cars. One car, thought to contain gasoline, proved to be empty. But the other one actually was filled. It soon drained from the numerous holes drilled in it.

Fire companies from Rossville, who had fought the blaze for several hours, reported tonight that the fire was under control. Unofficial estimates of the damage ranged as high as $50,000.

12½ MILLION IN '34 ROCKEFELLER FUND EXPENSES

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Rockefeller Foundation announced today that it had spent $12,679,775 in the year 1934, and at the same time made public the totals granted for specific divisions of its program, as embodied in its annual report.

Max Mason, president of the Foundation, outlined the decisions as to policy taken during 1934 in a statement accompanying the announcement. The Foundation proposes to continue its work in public health, in medical science, with major interest directed to problems of mental health, in natural science, social science and the humanities, Mr. Mason said.

In connection with the latter, he declared that "the vast general fields of the radio broadcast and motion pictures" will receive consideration in the work of the foundation.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN STRANGLING OF GIRL CHOIR SINGER

Find Bride-to-Be Heavily Insured; Ring Missing.

Mount Rainier, Md., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Questioning of two men and police prediction of the arrest of a mystery woman topped surface developments today into the strange slaying of pretty Corinna Loring.

Richard Tear, who was to have married the village choir singer, and Aubrey Hampton, once a friend, were in jail tonight for renewed and intensive interrogation.

The corps of investigators grew during the day when State's Attorney Alan Bowie called in aid. Lieut. Joseph Itzel of Baltimore came to assist County Police Chief J. J. Crowley, Sergt. Ralph Brown, and the Mount Rainier police chief, Eugene Plumer, in the hunt for the person or persons who left the beaten, bitten, and throttled body of the woman in a pine thicket some time before last Saturday night.

Fiancé Reads Detective Stories.

Tear, an attendant in a Washington hospital, was led into the inquistorial chamber late in the afternoon after having spent part of the day reading detective stories brought him by his brothers, Theodore and H. E. Tear.

Hampton, employé of the Federal Emergency Relief administration and former soldier, was to tell his story later tonight.

Plumer told reporters that arrest of a woman in the case was "more than likely," but he gave no hint as to her identity.

Girl's Diamond Ring Missing.

Plumer disclosed two new clews during the day. He said the girl was heavily insured, but did not reveal the number of policies, their value, or the beneficiary. An expensive diamond ring given Miss Loring by Tear was missing, said Plumer.

Belief that Tear is innocent was expressed by George A. Loring, father of the slain girl. Mrs. Lillian Botkin of Washington, protested that Hampton, whom she said she had befriended, was not involved in the crime.

Loring, an employé of the Maryland state roads commission, said he knew nothing of reported opposition of his wife to the marriage of his daughter.

G. O. P. WINS MANY COUNTY BOARDS IN N. Y. ELECTION

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—In addition to gaining eight up-state assembly seats and thereby recapturing control of the lower house of the legislature, the Republicans wrested control of boards of supervisors in a number of up-state counties, it was learned today.

In Fulton county, the Republicans elected twenty supervisors and the Democrats one. Eight Republicans and no Democrats were elected in Yates county. In Ulster county, the board, formerly Democratic by 17 to 16, will be Republican by 26 to 7.

The Republicans gained five supervisors in Orange county, three in Westchester, two in Putnam and one in Columbia. Livingston county elected thirteen Republicans and two Democrats; Herkimer, twelve Republicans and three Democrats; Franklin, thirteen Republicans and six Democrats; Delaware, eighteen Republicans and one Democrat; St. Lawrence, twenty-eight Republicans and eight Democrats.

In Lewis county the Republicans by electing eleven Republicans and eight Democrats, won control of the board for the first time in years.

Naming of 10 Cardinals in December Expected

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Ten or more new cardinals may be named at the next Vatican consistory which responsible ecclesiastics said today they believed Pope Pius will call in December. There are 21 vacancies in the College of Cardinals of 70, but today's spokesmen said they believed only about half of them would be filled. The last consistory at which cardinals were named was held in March, 1933.

HIGHWAY EMPLOYE DIES OF FEVER.

Du Quoin, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Funeral services were held at Cutler, west of Duquoin, today for Peter Sebastian, state appointee, who died of typhoid fever. Sebastian maintained a section of state highway and his death is believed to have resulted from drinking impure water.

YOUNG G. O. P. TO SEEK ADDITIONAL REPRESENTATION

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Efforts will be made by the Anti-New Deal youth movement to get larger representation on the various state delegations to the Republican national convention next year. As the delegates left for their homes today the belief was expressed by many of them that the party should aim at the selection of high grade delegates, with as few strings as possible attached to them, and that the delegates themselves should pick the strongest presidential candidate, even if they have to stay in session two weeks.

Some of the Young Republicans from near and far voiced a fear that with so many candidates, actual and possible, on the field man, delegations may be tied up with favorite son pledges, and with preferential primary instructions, that the convention might develop too much vote trading.

Meanwhile the Young Republicans plan to expand their organization as rapidly as possible. The new temporary regional committee met today. It reiterated its full harmony with the Republican national committee. It will start reorganization at once on its new regional basis and by Feb. 1 it is expected the new official regional committee of ten members will have been elected.

Expects Death as Slayer; Shot Dead Leaving Home

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Michael Sisto, 55 years old, Brooklyn, who had been expecting for two weeks to be killed by relatives of a man he murdered twenty years ago, stepped out of his home early today and was shot dead by two men in an automobile before he had walked a block. Matteo Delissio, 72 years old, and his son, Anthony, 23, the father and brother of James Delissio, the man Sisto shot in 1915, were arrested a few hours after the crime, charged with the murder.

DIONNE QUINTUPLETS SIDESTEP HOLLYWOOD IN SIGNING FILM PACT

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Dionne quintuplets have been signed for a full length, man sized picture. But they will not come to Hollywood.

Twentieth Century-Fox Films made the announcement last night. Production will begin in a few weeks, when a company will leave for the Dionne home in Callender, Ont.

Darryl Zanuck, vice president in charge of production, will head the company. The picture will be known as "The Country Doctor."

Dr. Dafoe May Not "Act."

CALLENDER, Ont., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Signed at the tender age of 17 months for a full length feature film, the Dionne quintuplets waited unconcernedly in their model nursery home for the arrival of all the accoutrements of the Hollywood lot—minus the glaring lights.

"There'll be none of those around," insisted Dr. A. R. Dafoe. "They'll have the soft floodlights such as they used in the short pictures."

Neither the terms of the contract nor the quintuplets' salaries were disclosed. The story is built around the life of Dr. Dafoe, but the doctor said he hadn't "been advised" as to whether he will act in the film.

40 Russian Miners Hurt in Crush of Snow Avalanche

MOSCOW, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Word was received here today of the injury of 40 coal miners and members of their families in a snow avalanche at the Ivanoff mine in the Abakhan coal region. The avalanche buried a community dwelling, trapping the inmates for several hours until rescue workers dug them out.

HELD AFTER SHOOTING.

Benton, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Garrie Broy, 26, West Frankfort, was jailed here today pending investigation of the shooting of Robert Brown, 31, at Broy's home last night. Brown was shot in the neck with a rifle and in the stomach with a shotgun. He is in a hospital in a critical condition. Neither would make a statement.

MRS. BLACKLIDGE "RECONCILED" ON 40TH DAY IN JAIL

Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge yesterday spent her 40th day in the county jail since she was sent there on Oct. 3 to complete her sentence of six months imposed for failure to pay a $7,500 judgement obtained by Mrs. Suzanne Nottingham for the theft of the affections of her husband, Policeman Norman Nottingham.

Well coifed and vivacious, the former collector of revenue said she was reconciled to jail life, and was determined to "make the best of it" until March 1, 1936. So well has she adapted herself to prison life that the three and one-half months stretching before her seem short, she said, adding that she missed her books most of all. She previously served a month of the six months term, being freed on bond while her case was being fought out on habeas corpus proceedings, which she lost.

"Everything will straighten out," Mrs. Blacklidge said. "When I get out I'll go right back to my sewing. Why, I remodeled six fur coats last year. Do you think anybody that had any money would do that? I'll still have my roomers, too." Her roomers, she explained, are three policemen, one of them Norman Nottingham.

N. JERSEY DEMOCRATS PROMISE TO BATTLE SALES, INCOME TAXES

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Democratic members of the New Jersey assembly, meeting in caucus in Jersey City today, pledged the party to oppose any further efforts to pass a sales or income tax in the state. Thomas Glynn Walker of Hudson county was elected minority leader and chairman of the caucus.

Walker charged that the Republicans in the legislature planned to extend the state's taxing program with a sales levy tax and an income tax. He declared that if this was done some residents of New Jersey, particularly those employed in New York state, would be subjected to three income taxes, the federal levy and New Jersey and New York taxes.

This burden, he said, would drive many residents out of the state. He referred to a similar situation in California, where corporations and individuals are protesting the heavy taxes.

CAPITAL SMILES OVER PAMPHLET ON CONSTITUTION

Roosevelt, New Deal Aids Listed as "Sponsors."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Official Washington chuckled today over the revelation that a handsomely printed booklet entitled "Your Rights Under the Constitution," warning of the dangers of departing from the constitutions' spirit and provisions, is gaining a nation-wide circulation under a most extraordinary sponsorship.

The snickering came over the discovery opposite the title page of the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt as honorary president general of the United States Flag association which is circulating the pamphlet. Mr. Roosevelt's name is printed in bold type, as are the names of his cabinet members of the board of sponsorship.

Wallace's Name Heads Column.

At the head of one column is the name of Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, who recently advocated a scheme by which the constitution would be amendable at any time by popular referendum.

Inquiry at the headquarters of the association revealed that a copy of the booklet was sent to the White House before it was given wide circulation, but that no word came back from the Presidential sanctum either forbidding or approving the work.

In the absence of any orders from Mr. Roosevelt as honorary head of the association, a few copies of the booklet were mailed out. There followed a sensational response and already more than a quarter of a million copies have been sold at 25 cents a copy.

Good Treatise on Constitution.

A reading of the work revealed it as an uncommonly clear exposition of the constitution appealing to the understanding of the ordinary reader. Many readers, remembering that the constitution and the Supreme court have thus far provided many a stumbling block for the New Deal leaders whose names appear in the leaflet found interest in the following statement:

"The more we know and the better we understand the constitution the more do we realize what a remarkable document it is and how dangerous it is to depart from its spirit and provisions."

And again:

"Should this great title-deed to human liberty ever be destroyed, it would be a calamity not only to Americans but to the whole of mankind."

Recall "Horse and Buggy" Cry.

These readers, recalling President Roosevelt's "horse and buggy days" outburst after the Supreme court had ruled the National Recovery act unconstitutional, noted also that the treatise states firmly:

"Certain provisions of the constitution are intended to make the chief justice, the associate justices, and the federal judges, all of whom are appointed for life, independent of congress, the President, and the voters, so that in all their decisions they may be fearless and impartial.

"The Supreme court is the final authority upon the constitutionality of all laws passed by congress and by state legislatures as well as upon the acts of all executive officers."

Seems Aimed at New Deal.

One portion of the booklet seemed to be directed squarely at many of the officials whose names appear inside the cover.

"What is the trouble with many people who are clamoring for amendments to the constitution or for a change in our form of government?" was the rhetorical question put. And the answer given was:

"They have never studied the constitution—some of them never having even read it—and they do not therefore really know or understand the form of government that has been established under the constitution.

"It is not only foolish but it is dangerous for groups or factions because of the passions of the hour, or temporary abnormal conditions, to want to change our form of government or to enact laws at variance with the letter or spirit of the constitution."

Army Colonel Is Author.

The author of "Your Rights Under the Constitution" is Col. James A. Moss, U. S. Army, retired, who founded the United States Flag association in 1924. He has devoted almost his entire time to the association since then, serving without compensation. The slogan of the association is "Honor the Flag and Uphold Its Ideals" and the association has devoted itself to combating influences which it deems detrimental to the government.

Presidents Coolidge, Hoover, and Roosevelt thus far have been honorary presidents general of the association. Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes of the Supreme court is chairman of the board of founders and the board of sponsors consists of the Vice President and the cabinet in each administration.

MISS GERTRUDE GOLDSTEIN.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Miss Gertrude Goldstein, known as the "little lame princess" of Newton, N. J., today realized her "magnificent obsession"—to ride in grandeur behind motorcycle police.

"Years ago I was told that some day I would ride with motorcycle police clearing the way, and today it happened!" she exclaimed.

Mrs. Roosevelt brought about today's big moment. "We're great friends, Mrs. Roosevelt and I," she explained, "you see, for twenty-five years I was able-bodied, I taught the crippled children on east side New York. Then I got my pension, and I said 'I'm going to see the world.'

"I got as far as Bonough hall in Brooklyn—that was ten years ago—and a taxi hit me.

"When I wasn't quite so lame as I am now I spent my time cheering up the boys and girls in the children's ward of a Long Island Orthopedic hospital. There I met Mrs. Roosevelt."

OLSON TO SEEK SEAT OF SCHALL IN U. S. SENATE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Although Minnesota's Farmer-Labor governor, Floyd B. Olson, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of Liberals in New York Friday night, he declared he has no intention of offering himself as a third party candidate for President.

So far as 1936 is concerned the governor has set his heart on battling Thomas D. Schall for the United States senatorship and intends to let nothing stand in the way. What he will do in 1940 is another question.

Gov. Olson's recognition as a national figure was expected to be strengthened by two other eastern addresses. He will speak Saturday night following a radio address by Herbert Hoover, and he is planning a debate with Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia on the question of the Supreme court's powers to declare laws unconstitutional.

NEW DEAL GOAL LIKENED TO THAT OF KING GEORGE

Causes of 1776 Revolution Are Cited.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The American Liberty league today issued a statement comparing the New Deal to the medieval mercantilist system which reached its climax under King George III. and precipitated the American revolution.

Without revealing his identity, the league quoted "one of our country's greatest men" as having stated within the last few days that:

"The very thing that caused the American revolution is what is taking place today. The present course of our government is not new. It is history repeating itself. The things that oppress today—arbitrary economic planning and excessive taxes—helped to cause our revolutionary war."

Revolt of Colonies Recalled.

Pursuing this theme, the league says:

"King George III. was the symbol of the autocratic power against which the colonies revolted. The twenty-seven grievances enumerated in the Declaration of Independence were directed specifically against him. Under New Deal laws and usurpations of authority, autocratic power to plan the course of economic affairs has become centered in the President of the United States who, in his inaugural message on March 4, 1933, served notice that he would ask 'broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe.' In Italy Mussolini and in Germany Hitler typify autocracy and a planned economic order."

Pointing out common features of the New Deal, medieval mercantilism, and present day Fascism, the statement asserted that "all three contemplate a broad control of our working lives and activities along lines planned by the politicians in power."

In the case of the New Deal, it was asserted, "this is shown in the attempt to expand the power of the federal government under the commerce clause of the constitution and to use power under the revenue clause for purposes of regulation."

"In all three," the statement continued, "there is a government class which considers itself an aristocracy of intelligence and morality. The executive branch of the government, under the New Deal, has usurped the functions of congress in violation of the constitution. Planning is in the hands of the President and his staf. In Italy parliamentary authority has been weakened almost to the point of destruction. The American colonies were regulated and taxed without the right of representation in the government.

"Under dominant theories of all three the interests of individuals are subordinate to the welfare of the state. In the New Deal this characteristic is typified by policies which have been attacked in the courts on the ground of violation of the due process clause of the constitution."

EDSEL FORD SPURNS U. S. BID TO PARLEY ON HAMSTRUNG NRA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Edsel Ford, son of Henry Ford, tonight declined to participate in the forthcoming industrial congress of the hamstrung NRA, but offered the government the experience and counsel of the Ford Motor company. This offer was accepted by Maj. George L. Berry, NRA chief, who assured Mr. Ford the new NRA is seeking counsel and not blind agreement with brain trust ideas.

Maj. Berry quoted from Ford's letter, "hitherto unquestioning acquiescence, and not counsel, has been asked." To this Maj. Berry replied, "may I say with complete frankness that, incredible as it may seem, what I want is counsel and not unquestioning acquiescence."

In declining to attend the conference, Mr. Ford said: "We have not participated in such conferences in the past, and our observation of their effect upon the recovery of the nation's economic health has not convinced us any beneficial end will be served by them now."

BORAH PREDICTS 'LIBERAL' G. O. P. PLATFORM IN '36

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho tonight predicted the Republicans will have a liberal platform and a liberal candidate in the 1936 presidential campaign.

Passing through here en route to Washington the independent Republican senator said he was not ready to predict who the G. O. P. choice would be. He declined to discuss his own plans for the campaign.

Asked what he thought of proposals made thus far by the conservative wing of the party, Senator Borah said:

"If you want to know what I think of their program, ask them what they think of me."

WPA APPROVES $25,000 PROJECT, TO AID 1 WOMAN

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Admitting that he does not know what it is all about, Fred G. Austin, WPA director for the Seventh Illinois district, announced today that a $25,000 sewing project has been approved for Monroe county, where only one employable woman is on relief.

A similar project was approved for Washington county, where only five women employables are listed on relief rolls, Austin said.

These projects were drafted in state WPA headquarters in Chicago. Sewing projects pay employable women security wages to teach sewing to other relief employables. Classes are open to women from nonrelief families if this class of women furnish their own materials.

LUMBER CAMP GETS FOOD FROM DISABLED SHIP

Word was received at the central coast guard station yesterday from the coast guard cutter Crawford of Two Harbors, Minn., that it had reached the disabled supply boat Elmar II. at Washington Harbor, Isle Royale. Supplies had been taken off and delivered to a lumber camp at Siskowit bay, Isle Royale, fifteen miles away, the message said.

The cutter will return and tow the disabled craft to Grand Marais bay, on the mainland.

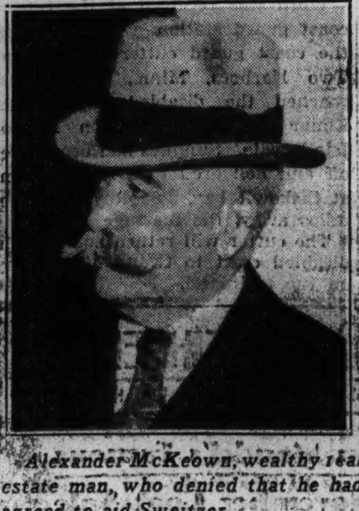
SWEITZER CASE TO JURY TODAY; STATE FINISHES

$196,000 Bond Deal Kept Out of Evidence.

SWEITZER CASE TO JURY TODAY

Robert M. Sweitzer (center) in court yesterday with his attorneys, I. Harvey Levinson (left) and Ben Short. He completed his testimony during the day and the case is expected to go to the jury today.



Alexander McKeown, wealthy real estate man, who denied that he had agreed to aid Sweitzer.

names of the purchasers of federal securities. Pentis said he had no records that would throw light on the ownership of the Victory notes or of the treasury certificates.

After this Judge Lewe made his ruling that the state's inferences and testimony were not properly connected up, and struck from the record all the testimony pertaining to the Victory notes and the treasury certificates.

The evidence "certainly creates a strong suspicion in my mind," said Judge Lewe, "but I do not believe the state has sufficient legal proof to tie up the transaction."

Sweitzer's Last Examination.

Previously Sweitzer himself, on the witness stand for his final crucial hour of cross-examination, had intimated once or twice that there was more that he could tell and would like to tell, but he was not encouraged in this by either side.

That there was a shortage in his accounts he again admitted. When asked if $100,000 of this went to politicians he said not exactly that, but for "political purposes."

He admitted that he dipped into the county funds and put them at times in his personal bank account. They became "commingled," he said, and while he always intended to pay the money back, he regarded such political expenses and loans as a personal matter.

Insists on "Proper Audit."

While he was only worth around $40,000 in cash when he left office, he said, he stood then and he stands now ready to pay back any shortage in public funds that has been finally determined by a "proper audit."

The main defense, which will be insisted on in the closing arguments today, is that Sweitzer never refused, as charged in the indictment, to pay back such funds, but that he disputed the audit made at the request of his successor and wanted time to make an investigation of his own.

Mr. Salter in cross-examination pressed him again and again to tell why he had not paid what he admitted he owes, but the same excuse was always given, that he would not pay until he knew the correct amount.

A. F. McKeown Is His Hope.

In answer to his own attorney, Mr. Short, Sweitzer told the jury that he was able and willing to pay any correctly determined amount. Asked what arrangements had been made toward this end he said that it had all been arranged with Alexander F. McKeown Sr., south side real estate man, who testified as a Sweitzer character witness.

Mr. McKeown, who lives at 4850 Drexel boulevard and is said to be one of Chicago's largest land owners, was not summoned by the state as a rebuttal witness, but after the court session he was reached at his home. He declared that he had not made any arrangement to let Sweitzer have money to repay the shortage.

It's News to McKeown.

"That's a new one," said Mr. McKeown, commenting on Sweitzer's testimony. "Several other people and I did sign a bond for Sweitzer a long time ago before there were any disclosures of discrepancies. [This bond was temporary and was replaced by another one furnished by surety companies.] I know nothing of any other bond.

"I wouldn't have signed the first bond if I had known what condition things were in. As a matter of fact, I'm not even a Democrat. If I had $400,000 available [the approximate amount of the alleged Sweitzer shortage] I could use it to buy real estate."

Sweitzer Vague on Stand.

Sweitzer was exceedingly vague and forgetful regarding his finances under his cross-examination by Prosecutor Salter. On Friday he could not remember in what extra bank he had carried an account. Yesterday he could hardly remember the name of the fuel company in which he had invested a matter of $250,000. He did not know what the stock in this company was worth today, if anything.

Sweitzer seemed somewhat in doubt about the effectiveness of his witness stand appearance. He looked worried and at times closed his eyes and stroked his forehead as in pain or prayer. But he soon recovered.

The courtroom was well filled despite the Armistice day holiday. At one point in Sweitzer's testimony, when the crowd laughed as if in sympathy with him, Judge Lewe ordered the bailifs to evict any one that caused a demonstration in the future.

DETAILS OF TESTIMONY

Prosecutor Salter called Sweitzer to the witness stand as soon as court opened at 10 o'clock. Sweitzer walked slowly toward the witness chair. His expression appeared strained.

Q.—Now, Mr. Sweitzer, I will ask if you recall the manner in which you withdrew the interest from the official funds and put it in your personal account. A.—It was done in two or three ways, Mr. Salter. In many cases the bank sent me a check or cash for the amount or else a credit was made to my personal account by the bank.

Q.—That was done by the bank with your knowledge and sanction, was it not? A.—Yes.

Q.—You authorized the bank to do those things, is that correct? A—Yes.

Identifies Bond Signature.

Q.—Now I will ask you if this is your signature to this bond [Sweitzer's official bond as county clerk]? A.—Yes, it is.

Q.—No one signed that for you? A.—No, that is my signature.

Q.—And you swore to it before a notary public? A—Yes.

Q.—Now I desire to direct your attention to one provision of this bond.

Defense Attorney Levinson was on his feet immediately with an objection, contending that the "bond speaks for itself" and that Salter could read it all to the jury if he desired, but could not pick out one section.

"I never heard of such a thing," snapped Salter. "I want to direct this defendant's attention to one section."

After a short huddle of all the lawyers and the judge this line of examination was dropped.

Salter Snaps Out Questions.

Q.—When you left office [as county clerk] you knew you owed the redemption fund in round figures about $375,000—is that correct?

An objection to this question was sustained. Up to this point Salter had spoken in an ordinary tone of voice. Now he began to snap his questions at the witness.

Q.—When you left this office why didn't you pay the amount you knew you owed? A.—I didn't know I owed that sum.

Q.—Well, you knew you owed this $200,000 item, didn't you? A.—I did not.

Q.—And you knew you owed this $66,000 as shown on your own bookkeeper's statement under the heading "S"? A.—I knew I owed some of it.

The defense attorneys tried to stop this line of cross-examination by contending that the subject was covered when Sweitzer was on the witness stand last Friday. Judge Lewe, however, allowed Salter to go ahead.

Knew He "Owed Some."

Q.—Am I to understand that you did not know you owed any of this money when you left office? A.—I knew I owed some of it.

Q.—About how much? A.—I did not know. Some money I expended to pay the office employés and I did not have the exact figures in mind.

Q.—In round figures how much was it? A.—I don't know. The only guide I had would be the statement of the bookkeeper.

Q.—Why didn't you pay that amount? A.—I didn't know I owed that amount exactly. That was why I wanted an audit and I so told Mr. Flynn and it was agreeable to him to have the audit.

Q.—Was there any other reason [for not paying] than what you have stated? A.—No.

Salter Tries to Find Money.

Prosecutor Salter followed this up with a series of questions which the defense attorneys tried in vain to stop.

Q.—I will ask you if the real reason you did not pay is because you did not have the money. A.—No, I told the county board, Mr. Flynn [his successor as county clerk] and the newspapers that I had the money and would pay when the right amount was determined.

Sweitzer's statements to the county board were made before the board ousted him as county treasurer last June because of the shortage in the clerk's office. He left the clerk's office last December after his election as treasurer.

Q.—Tell where you had the money. A.—In my control.

Q.—"Where was the money?" was the question. A.—The day I went out of office [as county clerk] I had securities and some money which was coming to me.

Q.—What securities did you have? A.—I don't remember now.

Q.—Tell us one place where you had securities or one item of securities you had.

Defense Objections Overruled.

The defense attorneys again attempted to go to Sweitzer's rescue by contending that the place the securities were kept or the kind Sweitzer had was not material to the case at issue. The only question, they said, was whether Sweitzer was willing to pay. The judge ruled Salter could continue.

Q.—Isn't the real reason you did not pay over the money to your successor that you did not have it? A.—No. I had securities and——

Q.—Stop right there. What securities did you have? A.—I had securities and some money, and was also assured the balance of any money I needed.

Q.—Where did you have these securities you talk about? A.—I had a number as collateral at the First National bank.

Q.—Did you have any securities which were not pledged as collateral for a loan? A.—Yes, I had some in my possession.

Q.—What kind? A.—I can't give you a schedule of them now.

Where He Had Securities.

Q.—Where did you have them? A.—Some of them were in my desk and some were in the cashier's vault in the clerk's office, and later in the county treasurer's office.

Q.—What was the amount of the securities you had in your desk? A.—I had several of them. One of them had a value because I had arranged a loan of $400,000.

Q.—What was the amount of the stock? A.—I had 250,000 shares of this stock, which was that of a California company. It was about one-fifth of the capital stock.

Q.—Now, tell us the name of the stock.

Sweitzer fidgeted in his chair as he groped for the name of the company. He finally replied that it was something like the U. S. Fuel and Utility company.

Q.—Now you say you had that stock in your desk on the day you left office, is that correct? A.—It was previously in the possession of a friend of mine to secure a loan made to me, but I paid that up.

Loan Paid; Stock Returned.

Q.—Then you paid up the loan for which you had that stock up as collateral? A.—Yes.

Q.—That loan was adjusted and you got the stock back and kept it in your desk, is that right? A.—Yes, I had it then. It was kept by my friend for safety more than anything else.

Q.—What was the market value of that stock then? A.—I do not believe there was any trading in the stock at that time so I could not tell the market value.

Q.—Have you got the stock now? A.—Yes.

Q.—Where is it? A.—At home.

Q.—Whereabouts at home? A.—I can't give you a map of my home.

"At home may be all right to you but it does not tell us anything," said Salter, and Attorney Short got to his feet objecting to the questioning.

"This court is not a collection agency," said Short. The line of inquiry was dropped for the moment.

Quizzed About Other Stock.

Q.—Did you have any other stock outside of the stock you just mentioned? A.—I had several hundred shares of Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. I am sorry, Mr. Salter, but I just cannot recall all of it.

Q.—Where did you have that stock? A.—In that envelope at the office.

Q.—Have you that stock now? A.—I think it is at my temporary office downtown. After I left, or rather was ejected from the county treasurer's office, my papers were in a confusion. I think it is somewhere in that mass of stuff I got. I can't give any better answer than that—I have it. I am sorry I cannot tell all from memory, and it is not remarkable that I can't remember anything after what I have been through.

The prosecutor did not attempt to stop Sweitzer as he rambled on. When the little speech was finished, however, Salter started questioning the defendant again about his assets on the day he left office.

The $40,000 That Was Repaid.

Q.—You did not have any money on hand, did you? A.—I must have had some to pay that $40,000 in the cash box.

Q.—Isn't it a fact that you raised the money? A.—No, I did not. I borrowed a little but I had most of it myself.

Q.—Then when you went out of office you did not have more than $40,000 in cash? A.—Something like that.

Salter went back to the stock Sweitzer contended he had on hand the day he left office. He developed after some questioning that the large batch of stock Sweitzer said he owned was in a company which manufactured coal bricks.

Sweitzer and the prosecutor quibbled over whether the company should be called a coal brick company and it was finally agreed that Salter would refer to the concern as one which among other things manufactured coal bricks.

250,000 Shares in Company.

Q.—And that was the company in which you had 250,000 shares, is that correct? A.—Yes.

Q.—Is it now a going concern? A.—Yes, the last I heard of it.

Q.—Has that stock any market value? A.—I can give you the last price in which it was traded in two or three months ago. At that time it sold for $5 a share or better.

Q.—Now how much of the redemption fund did you put in the coal brick company?

A defense objection was sustained.

Q.—Did you use any of the redemption fund money to invest in this coal brick company? A.—I don't think so.

Q.—Didn't you tell Mr. McCarthy [Florence J. McCarthy, managing editor of the Chicago American] that you did? A.—Maybe such a deduction could be made.

Q.—Did you or did you not invest redemption funds in this company? A.—If I must say 'Yes' or 'No' I would say 'No.'

Q.—What did you mean by your answer that you could assume or make a deduction that such money was used? A.—The answer is that I never gave any money direct from the redemption fund. There was certain money drawn from time to time which went into my personal account.

Sweitzer explained that his private funds were mingled with his official funds, but that all money for investments came from his private bank account and therefore he did not consider he was using official funds for private investments.

Q.—How much of the redemption fund account did you give to politicians? A.—No, sir, I did not give from the redemption fund. I used the money from my personal funds in political activities, is the better way to put it.

Q.—What amount did you give to politicians, I asked? A.—I don't know. It would be hard to say.

Q.—Did you not tell Mr. McCarthy that you gave $100,000? A.—He fixed that amount and it is as good a figure as any.

Attorney Levinson objected to this line of questioning and called attention to the fact that when Sweitzer ran for the mayoralty against a former Republican mayor the latter spent $1,500,000 in his campaign.

"It is hard to tell how much went for political activity," Sweitzer said, taking the cue from his attorney. "I had to provide most of the campaign funds myself. I did not have much of a campaign fund. I had plenty of private funds to replace the money."

Q.—Why didn't you replace the money then? A.—I already have stated that I am not sure of the amount.

Q.—Isn't the truth of it the fact that you did not have the money? A.—I have already stated that is not true.

Salter suddenly ended his cross-examination with the following question:

Q.—Isn't it true that the interest earned which went into your private bank account was interest earned on official funds? A.—That is likely true.

"That is all," said Salter as he resumed his seat.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION

Defense Attorney Short began redirect examination of Sweitzer.

"Are you still in a position to get that money?" Short asked.

"I am able and willing to do it. Yes, positively," said Sweitzer, his enthusiasm revived under friendly questioning.

At this point a recess was declared, as it was five minutes before 11 o'clock. The whistles of the Armistice day observance sounded faintly through the rain and the dusty courtroom windows. The courtroom crowd forgot to stand and face east. Its members loitered and smoked, waiting for the session to be resumed.

Questioning Is Resumed.

At 11:15 Judge Lewe returned to the bench and Sweitzer again walked to the witness chair. He was smiling and at ease. Attorney Short asked him first about the interest funds which he had admitted having put in his pocket all the years of his tenure of office.

Q.—What was the arrangement regarding the interest? A.—A representative of the bank that had been carrying the major portion of the county deposits asked me to continue the deposits and the arrangements of my predecessor. The interest rate had been fixed on the daily average balance. I said yes, that I would continue this. I found it had been the practice of officials to retain interest. I don't ever recall any demand for it.

Q.—What about this $200,000 that the state says you got? A.—I never got the money. I told my bookkeeper to make an entry on the books.

Q.—How was it carried? A.—As in transit.

Denies Any Misrepresentation.

Q.—Did you ever say anything to your subordinates about covering up, disguising, misrepresenting anything? A.—Positively no; every item was on the books.

Q.—You testified that you were ready to get the needed money when the audit was completed. Is this arrangement still in existence and can it be carried out? A.—Yes.

Q.—With whom? A.—The arrangement is made with Alexander McKeown, who was on the stand here the other day, the man who signed my bond for $1,000,000 and who offered to sign it for $3,000,000.

"That's all," snapped Mr. Short.

A recess was then taken while the defense waited for its last witness, a man who was said to be searching for records somewhere in a bank. As this man did not appear after an hour the defense finally announced that it would rest without further witnesses.

Then followed the clash over the testimony of Pentis and the ruling out by Judge Lewe of all the evidence concerning the $196,000 of treasury certificates. The last event of the day was the granting of permission to the defense to bring in this morning a written motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, but this was regarded as a perfunctory gesture on the part of Sweitzer's lawyers.

'INSULL DEFENSE' TO BE TRIED BY 3 IN NEW YORK CASE

Deceptive Statements 'Honorable,' Is Claim.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The so-called "Insull defense" of honorable intent will be offered, it is believed, at the trial of three former New York Title and Mortgage company officers, scheduled for tomorrow.

Indicted on one felony and three misdemeanor counts, the three men face the possibility of prison sentences up to three years.

The defendants are:

Frederic J. Fuller, former president and chairman of the executive committee.

Harry A. Kahler, former chairman of the board of directors.

H. Pushae Williams, chairman of the loan committee.

The defendants will assert that all transactions in which they had a hand were intended to benefit the stockholders and certificate holders.

U. S. Will Watch Trial.

A former governor, Nathan L. Miller, will represent Fuller; former Supreme Court Justice Joseph M. Proskauer will be Kahler's counsel, and Wilbur Chambers will represent Williams.

Assistant District Attorney Alexander Kaminsky will be in charge of the prosecution. Joseph E. Brill, special assistant to the United States attorney general, will sit with the prosecuting attorneys as an observer.

The misdemeanor counts in the indictment charge that the three former officers violated sections of the penal law and the state insurance law at the end of 1932 by sending out to stockholders and certificate holders of the New York Title and Mortgage company a false and deceptive statement of the company's financial condition.

This statement, the indictment recites, represented that the company had $8,823,547.61 in cash on hand, whereas in fact the liquid cash holdings were about $2,000,000 less.

"Cover-Up" Loans Charged.

The statement was for Dec. 31. On the same date, it is charged in the felony count, arrangements for two paper loans of $1,000,000 each to the company were made by Fuller, Kahler, and Williams. The loans were of the "year-end" variety, it is alleged, and were negotiated for the purpose of balancing the company's books, the money being returned to the banks four days later.

On the outcome of the trial starting tomorrow may depend whether a misdemeanor indictment against eight former directors of the New York Title is pressed. They are J. Stuart Baker, chairman of the Bank of Manhattan company; Lewis L. Clarke, George T. Mortimer, Joseph S. Obermayer, former United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, W. Averell Harriman, Stanley P. Jadwin, and Parke A. Rowley.

YAWNING VICTIM

Bus Driver Dies After Beating; Hunt Assailants

Woodlawn police were searching last night for two men who caused the death of John McNellis, 38 years old, 6335 Greenwood avenue, by beating him Sunday night at 63d street and Dorchester avenue. McNellis, a driver for the Chicago Motor Coach company, died in Woodlawn hospital early yesterday of a skull fracture received when his assailants threw him to the pavement. An inquest, opened in the hospital yesterday, was continued until Nov. 29.

PICK JURY TO TRY 3 HOOSIERS FOR SECURITY DEALS

Charged with Using Mails in Fraud Scheme.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Bitterly attacked by Val Nolan, United States district attorney, officers of the defunct Pfaff & Hughel security firm went on trial here today in federal court before a jury of nine farmers, two real estate-insurance men, and one saw mill operator.

Selection of a jury was accomplished quickly as the defendants, Walter P. Pfaff, Myron M. Hughel and Robert D. Robinson, constantly consulted attorneys.

Formidable Array of Counsel.

Pfaff is represented by Fred E. Hines, former judge of the Hamilton county Circuit court, and Hughel by James E. Watson, former United States senator from Indiana; W. J. Parr Jr. of Lebanon, and Clair McTurning. Robinson is defended by Arthur Gilliom, former Indiana attorney general; Thomas C. Batchelor, and Fred C. Gause.

Much of Nolan's opening statement dealt with allegations that Mrs. Georgia W. Crosley of Indianapolis, a gray haired widow, lost approximately $800,000 through illegal activities of the defendants, all of whom are charged with violating the postal laws.

Termed "Sordid; Larceny; Fraud."

"We are about to draw aside the curtain on what I consider one of the most tragic, sordid misuses of other persons' money ever written in the annals of this court," Nolan said. "This evidence will disclose a story of fraud, deception, larceny, and betrayal of trust the like of which never before has come under my observation."

Mrs. Crosley will be one of the state's 75 witnesses.

Thieves Get Child's $6.53 in Banks and $195 Gems

Burglars who took two penny banks containing $6.53 belonging to Merle Hurowitz, 4 years old, 7946 Essex avenue, while the family was absent Sunday were sought by police yesterday. The father, Sol Hurowitz, said jewelry valued at $195 also was taken.

TEXAS TURKEY CROP STARTS LAST TREK TO THANKSGIVING POTS

Cuero, Tex., Nov. 11.—(AP)—The last roundup for thousands of fattened turkeys was on tonight across the broad ranges of Texas.

Branded like cattle and almost waddling after heavy feeding, haughty gobblers and hens began the long trek to the nation's Thanksgiving tables as the annual drive got under way in Dewitt county, center of the vast turkey pastures.

The largest gobblers, rulers of the flock, were snatched from roosts, herded to the front, belled and started along a trail, scattered with corn, that led them into traps. The hens followed the tinkling bells to market.

It is estimated that this year's turkey drives throughout the state would net growers between $8,500,000 and $10,000,000. Cuero alone is expected to ship enough turkeys to provide bountiful dinners for 3,340,000 persons.

Goes by Air to White House.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A turkey gobbler, housed in a crate built in likeness of the White House, was shipped by air today to grace President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving table. Gov. Henry H. Blood placed the big bird aboard a passenger plane at the Salt Lake airport. It is a gift from the Northwest Turkey Growers' association.

TAKE LAKE BOAT OFF REEF IT HIT DURING A FOG

Detroit, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The City of Cleveland III., D. and C. line steamer, was released by tugs today from a reef in the Detroit river near Amherstberg, Ont., and started here under tow for inspection of possible damage.

The vessel, loaded with freight for Buffalo and carrying no passengers, went aground in a fog last night.

Although the stranded steamer did not block the channel, the river was closed temporarily to navigation because of the weather.

$100,000 Fire Sweeps Auto Supply House in St. Paul

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin swept through the first floor retail room of the Western Auto Supply company late tonight, causing damage estimated at $100,000. One fireman was injured.

FALL ON STAIRS IS FATAL.

PRETTY SWELL, WORKING FOR BOWMAN, EH, DICK?

● Most of the children out on Bowman route 1964 can't remember back when John Cisar and Dick didn't bring their milk, that was so long ago. John Cisar has been with us now for nine years. We like him; he likes us.

As for Dick, he seems content . . . with his oats, his rub-downs, his warm stall, and his blankets to wear when he's out in snow weather.

We are pleased, of course, to hear that Bowman employees, including many veterans like Cisar, speak of "fairness" and "security" when they talk about their jobs. Pleased because we sincerely believe these two old Bowman policies are quite directly responsible for the courteous, dependable service Bowman is able to offer.

SEARCY ASSAILS NEW DEAL AIM TO SHACKLE NEEDY

Underlying Purpose of Social Bills Revealed.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Republican minority leader in the state senate, today vigorously condemned a number of provisions in the Washington dictated New Deal social legislation that Gov. Horner has submitted to the special session of the general assembly.

Searcy's attack centered on the administrative sections of the social bills. In these sections he said he has found provisions that would lead to the potential enslavement of Illinois' dependent persons and the abdication of state sovereignty.

Calls Conference of Action.

The minority leader's views are set forth in letters to Republican members of the house and senate, which will be placed on their desks tomorrow. After setting forth an analysis resulting from his study of the bills, Searcy asked the Republicans to hold immediately a joint conference to plan a course of action.

"Obviously, the underlying purpose of the administrative sections of these bills," the letter states, "is to place Roosevelt and Hopkins [Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress administrator] in direct control of every Illinois recipient of public aid."

Under provisions of the old age pensiion bill there would be set up in each county a welfare bureau to supplant county boards in relief activities. These county bureaus would be under the control of the state department of public welfare, and all of them, Searcy contends, would be subject to federal orders.

Appalled by Its Challenge.

"For one," Searcy's letter continues, "I am appalled at the potential enslavement of Illinois' unfortunate citizens and the utter abdication of Illinois state sovereignty. In my opinion, some of these measures embrace the most critical challenge to statehood and state sovereignty in all our history.

"Manifestly, the scheme is not so much to help the citizen classes affected as it is to extend the tentacles of an already bloated political octopus. These measures seek to lay this unholy enchainment upon all who come within the definition of those eligible to what the measures term 'public assistance.'

"Likewise, the proposed unemployment insurance plan reeks with direct federal control and political manipulation, making employers and employés alike subject to the caprices and vagaries of an ever shifting federal burocracy."

SALVAGERS QUIT LUSITANIA HULK UNTIL NEXT YEAR

[Special to The Tribune.]

ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, Nov. 11.—Prevented by autumn storms from further investigations, the Orphir is about to move fifteen miles up the Clyde river to its winter quarters at Glasgow, where it will prepare for next year's salvage work on the Lusitania. Anchored over the hulk of the great Cunarder, two tremendous mooring buoys, mighty enough to withstand the winter seas, will guard the wreck.

Next spring the Orphir will return with additional equipment which will be used in raising the treasure from the Lusitania's strongroom. Though the crew are all anxious for shore leave in home waters, there will be none for them today, as much work remains to be done before the Orphir ties up at Glasgow.

However, all take great satisfaction in the fact that the mystery of the resting place of the Lusitania has at last been solved and that next season the crew can complete the work so well begun.

MARRIAGE RATE IS CUT IN HALF IN LAKE COUNTY

Marriages performed in Waukegan during the first eleven days under the régime of Russell H. Alford, new county clerk of Lake county, totaled 119, a figure which is 131 less than the 250 ceremonies of the corresponding period of 1934, when Lew Hendee was county clerk.

These figures were consistent with Mr. Alford's statement when he took office that he would end Waukegan's reputation as a "gin wedding mill,."

Marriage licenses are issued now only during regular office hours, while previously they were granted at all hours. One Saturday afternoon in the Nov. 1 to 11 period of 1934, 200 licenses were issued. Mr. Alford keeps the clerk's office closed on Saturday afternoons.

COUNTY OPPOSES 2 BILLS PENDING IN LEGISLATURE

Urge State to Pay All Pension Costs.

Objections to several bills affecting Cook county, now pending before the state legislature, were voiced yesterday by members of the legislative committee of the county board. The committee met with State Senator Harold Ward, State Representatives Stephen Adamowski, and Pierce L. Shannon, and Douglas Sutherland, secretary of the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency.

Urge Pension Amendment.

The first bill opposed by the commissioners would assess the county one-half of the costs of administering the old age pension in the county. The state and federal governments are each to pay half of the pension. It was urged that the bill be amended so that the state also bear the administrative expenses.

"The county should not be forced to bear additional expenses," Clayton F. Smith, president of the board, declared. "Whenever the county agrees to bear added expenses it finds that the door has been opened for increasing expenditures thereafter."

Also Oppose Welfare Bill.

Another measure opposed is senate bill No. 18, which would place all county welfare bureaus under the state department of public welfare. Such a bill would place the County hospital and other county welfare projects under state supervision.

The legislators pledged their aid in opposing the measures in their present form before the legislature.

HIGHEST COURT DENIES GRAHAM STOLEN BONDS

State Senator Richey V. Graham [Dem., Cicero] lost yesterday his fight to recover $8,000 in Illinois state highway bonds which were stolen from his home in September, 1930. The United States Supreme court handed down at Washington a unanimous decision holding that the White-Phillips company, which purchased the bonds without knowing they were stolen, acted in good faith and did not have to return them.

The bonds were stolen by J. A. Connolly of St. Paul, who sold them to the Chicago office of the White-Phillips company, which has its main offices in Davenport, Ia. Connolly died in prison and the money he received for the securities was not recovered. Graham then filed suit to compel the company to return the bonds on the ground that it bought them after receiving notice of the theft and it negligently failed to check the serial numbers on the securities.

The United States District court ruled for Graham, but this decision was reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago. The Circuit court was sustained by the Supreme court yesterday.

'DING' DARLING QUITS WILD LIFE SURVEY TO RESUME DRAWING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—J. N. "Ding" Darling, critic of administration machinery and friend of the wild duck, today quit his job as chief of the bureau of biological survey. He will return to his cartoon drawing board.

The resignation, effective Nov. 15, was announced by the agriculture department while Darling was in Detroit.

The cartoonist, who by his own admission doesn't care a whoop for Democrats or Republicans, will be succeeded by Ira N. Gabrielson, consulting specialist to Darling and assistant chief of the division of wild life research. Gabrielson, a native of Iowa, has been in the bureau since 1915.

Blunt-spoken, explosive in his manner, caustic in condemnation of governmental red tape and inefficiency, Darling became head of the survey in March, 1934.

In a statement prepared with his resignation, Darling said he would like to stay longer but previous private obligations were prohibitive.

Three Held After Smashing of Wacker Drive Balustrade

John Mislevich, 17 years old, 644 West 36th street, was identified last night as the driver of the automobile which crashed through the concrete balustrade on the northwest side of Wacker drive near Franklin street last Saturday night. He was held for leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving. Giddy Mislevich, his brother, was arrested for not having state or city licenses for the car. Sam Silver, who operates a liquor store at 1908 South Halsted street, was held for selling liquor to a minor after John Mislevich said he bought two pints of whisky in the store.

JURY OF ARTISTS DEFENDS CHOICE IN CHICAGO SHOW

Insists Exhibit Is Truly Representative.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A formal statement explaining their side of the controversy over American paintings and sculpture on exhibition at the Art institute of Chicago was issued today by the three members of the jury of awards, Henry Varnum Poor, Lloyd Goodrich and Waldo Pierce. The statement said:

"The jury was entirely responsible for the selection of the paintings, except the invited minority, and for the prize awards. In accordance with the customary procedure, the institute allowed the jury complete freedom of action and choice.

Calls Attack Unfortunate.

"It is unfortunate that the matter should be made the occasion of an attack on the staff of the institute. Dr. Harshe is generally recognized as one of the most intelligent and farsighted museum directors in the country. The great success of the recent Century of Progress show and the commanding position occupied by the institute among American museums are in no small measure due to him. His intelligence and integrity showed in the fact that he made absolutely no attempt to influence the jury, evidently feeling that in a contemporary show a contemporary jury should be allowed to deal honestly with the work at hand.

"The jury sincerely feels that it did not discriminate against either the 'conservative' or the 'modernist' trends, but selected the best work regardless of labels. The jury enjoyed particularly the fresh and vigorous work of the younger western painters.

"'Sweetness and light' and 'pretty' subjects may be comparatively lacking in the exhibition, but this is due not to the individual taste of the jurors but to the character of the overwhelming majority of the works submitted. There has been a deep shifting of values in the artists world, and the exhibition rightly reflects this change. Not that the pictures are 'gloomy'—quite the contrary. We see no reason for any real lover of American painting to be offended by anything in the exhibition, but much to applaud in the freshness, courage, and vitality of the artists who are creating an art no longer borrowed from Europe.

"As for the so-called 'indecent' pictures, the jury cannot remember a single painting calculated to disturb any but the professional vice crusader."

Soviet Fleet's Defense of Coast Declared Success

41,000
More Families Than Homes

IN January, 1934, there were 66,457 vacant dwelling units in Chicago.* Of these, 16,000 were unfit for habitation. In addition, 3,600 were demolished during the year 1934.

During the same year, 189 dwelling units were provided by new construction, making a total of 47,046 presently available.

Against this supply there is a potential demand for 88,135 homes to take care of new marriages and the "undoubling" of "doubled-up" families. This indicates an actual shortage of 41,089 homes.

With a constantly increasing demand and a dwindling supply of available dwellings, higher prices for existing residential structures are indicated.

PREDICT 100,000 WILL HAVE WPA JOBS BY FRIDAY

Illinois Officials Hope to Meet Federal Edict.

Indications from Illinois districts of the Federal Works Progress administration point toward the employment of 100,000 relief clients on made work projects by next Friday, Nov. 15, in keeping with a mandate from Washington. This was the opinion yesterday of Ralph H. Burke, deputy WPA administrator for the state.

Burke said that there were 45,000 persons employed on WPA projects throughout the state up to yesterday. The state WPA probably can put 55,000 more to work by Friday night at the rate of 11,000 jobs a day, but the going from then on "may be tougher," said Burke. A second edict from national officials is that the total Illinois quota for WPA employment, 183,500 persons, must be reached by Nov. 25.

55 More Projects Approved.

The Illinois office received approval of 55 additional projects requiring $1,384,354 in federal funds from Controler General J. R. McCarl at Washington during the day. Robert J. Dunham, state administrator, has the power to select which projects should be started.

Two Chicago projects were included in the approved schedule. One calls for the expenditure of $128,801 in WPA funds for a program embracing education and leisure time activities for Negroes at 2763 South Wabash avenue. The second is a $12,064 program of recreation and entertainment at Burnham-Calumet Memorial park in Calumet City.

6,594 Students Get Cash.

Dispatches from Washington said that William J. Campbell, Illinois director of the National Youth administration, which draws from WPA funds, had reported that federal money has been distributed among 6,594 students to help them carry on their education in Illinois colleges and universities. For October, Campbell reported, $100,890 was disbursed.

The University of Illinois led with 1,275 students receiving a total of $19,125. Federal money went also to 678 students at Northwestern university and 531 at the University of Chicago. Junior colleges in Chicago had 547 students receiving government money.

Job Applicants Brave Rain.

The WPA personnel office at 1212 South Michigan avenue was open during the day for the registration of applicants for supervisory positions and a queue of men and women a half block long braved the rain. Applications are being received from the unemployed whether they are on relief or not.

35,000 STUDENTS WAIT FOR CHECKS 6 WEEKS OVERDUE

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Thirty-five thousand needy high school and college students in this state are still awaiting the first of the monthly subsidy checks that the National Youth administration was scheduled to send them six weeks ago, it became known today.

Although NYA officials have been drawing their salaries regularly, administrative red tape has held up distribution of the checks that were intended, under the regulations governing the organization, to keep impoverished students in their classes.

Checks for graduate and undergraduate students in thirty-nine institutions of higher learning here and upstate will be mailed from WPA headquarters today, a spokesman for the local NYA promised tonight, while those for high schools are expected to go out by the end of the week.

MONTANA COPPER MAY BE USED TO REBUILD HELENA

Helena, Mont., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Copper from Montana's mines may be used to build quake-resisting houses to replace homes wrecked by a month of quakes.

"This house has aroused the attention of world famous architects," Hibbard said. "It is ultramodern and is said to possess strong earthquake resistant features. It is air conditioned and sheathed with copper."

Scahill attempted to hold up a taxi driver at Pulaski road and Division street, and was shot by Felix Clossey, 3040 West North avenue, to whom the cab driver appealed for aid. A coroner's jury termed the shooting justifiable homicide and commended Clossey.

ENGLAND EXPELS HITLER'S AGENT; REASON IS SECRET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Dr. H. W. Thost, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's right hand man in England, today was ordered to leave the country on the ground that his presence is "not in the public interest." In addition to keeping his chief informed of the trend of events, Thost is London correspondent of the newspapers Der Angriff and Voelkischer Beobachter in Germany and head of the Nazi propaganda organization here.

No details concerning the refusal to renew the German's permit to remain in this country were available, but it was suggested in some circles that authorities were annoyed by an article he wrote recently attacking Winston Churchill. Others believe the German's expulsion was a reprisal for the ousting from Germany of Capt. C. R. Aue, British consul at Hanover, last week. Aue was expelled on charges of communicating German military secrets to London.

In an effort to "explain the Nazis' anti-Jewish policy to England Thost has addressed many lively meetings, including one in the house of commons which broke up in disorder.

COMMUNITY FUND GIFTS SOUGHT OF CITY EMPLOYES

Special Unit Chief Issues Appeal for Pledges.

Employés of the city, totaling 20,000, are being solicited for the Community Fund in an appeal issued to all department heads by John P. Wilson, deputy commissioner of public works. Mayor Kelly named Wilson chairman of the city employés' group in the 1935 Community Fund campaign, which, for the first time, has a soliciting unit to work solely with city employés.

The mayor's efforts on behalf of the fund are recounted in a statement issued yesterday by the campaign headquarters. At the fund organization meeting Mayor Kelly spoke and pledged $500.

Explains Objects of Campaign.

Mr. Wilson's appeal asserts that the $3,200,000 budget "represents the minimum requirements of the welfare agencies if their vitally important work is to be continued."

"None of this money," Wilson wrote, "is spent for relief for which federal, state or city funds are provided. Government relief is concerned primarily with food, shelter and clothing for those who are physically able but cannot secure employment. The work of private agencies goes beyond this.

"It provides a service of salvage and rehabilitation, acting to prevent social disaster, the separation of families, the spread of disease, the increase of infant mortality, the collapse of personal pride and ambition. It represents the single hope of the city's helpless—the children, the aged and infirm and the hundreds who have been left adrift without funds, without shelter, and most hopeless of all, without courage."

A Duty to the Community.

The city employés are reminded of their "regular salary" and the responsibility involved in living in a community of individuals. A plan is outlined in the appeal whereby they may pay contributions in four instalments. In acknowledgment of each donation the official CF button will be given, it is pointed out. The concluding paragraph reads:

"The officers of the Community Fund have discussed the fund with Mayor Kelly, and he has asked me to present their plans to the department heads with the hope that the employés will respond as generously as each is able to do."

POLICE HUNT PAIR IN MEAT MARKET HOLDUP MURDER

Frank Peretti, 43 years old, 4344 Adams street, an ex-convict, and Al Lenz, 40 years old, address unknown, were sought yesterday by Chicago and suburban police as the men who shot and fatally wounded Joseph Moravec, 50 years old, in a holdup in his meat market at 1346 South Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, Saturday night. Burl Harrison, 26 years old, 2716 Grove avenue, Berwyn, the third holdup man, was shot to death by Moravec after he was mortally wounded.

At a double inquest yesterday a coroner's jury returned a murder verdict in Moravec's death and a verdict of justifiable homicide in the killing of Harrison. The jurors decided that the shots that killed Moravec "are supposed to have been fired" by either Peretti or Lenz.

The police said they got the names of Peretti and Lenz from Harrison's widow, Mary, who said her husband had gone out with them. Pictures of the three men were identified yesterday as those of the trio which committed six robberies recently in Oak Park.

SEARCHING PILOTS UNABLE TO TRACE KINGSFORD-SMITH

SINGAPORE, Straits Setlements, Nov. 12.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Royal air force flyers who sent their planes low over the Islands and coastline of the Western Malay peninsula reported today no trace of the missing Australian aviator, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, and his co-pilot, Tom Pethybridge.

An Indian ocean monsoon was believed to have sent the pair down Friday while they were attempting to make a record flight from England to Australia.

C. James Melrose, who passed Kingsford-Smith's plane early Friday morning over the Bay of Bengal, was participating in the search.

ARGUE ON MORE TRIALS IN ARSON KILLINGS TODAY

Judge Joseph B. David will hear arguments today in Criminal court on whether Franke Vitale and Joseph Di Chairi may be tried again on arson charges. The men already have been found guilty and a jury has fixed their sentence at 99 years and one day for causing an incendiary fire at 558 West Taylor street on Sept. 29 when ten people lost their lives. The charge of murder by arson, of which they were convicted, was based on only one death and the state seeks to prosecute them again in the hope of winning a heavier penalty. A third defendant, Joseph Vitale, a nephew of Frank, was sentenced by Judge David to 199 years' imprisonment when he pleaded guilty. Judge David has indicated he would uphold the defense contention that the men cannot be tried again on the ground it would place them in jeopardy more than once for the same criminal act.

54 STRANDED ON ROCK; ALL WELL, MESSAGE TELLS

5 Americans Aboard as Vessel Crashes.

MANILA, Nov. 12.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—An unsigned message saying, "So far all is well" was flashed here by radio early today from the site of the wrecked British freighter Silverhazel, ashore in treacherous San Bernardino straits with forty-nine crew [men] and 5 American passengers. The straits are off southern Luzon Island.

The message, received by A. G. Henderson, vice president of the Silver Java Pacific line, said the stranded party had been contacted on the bleak rock against which the vessel crashed and broke in two.

Henderson received the message at 6:33 a. m. [4:33 p. m., Monday, Chicago time] shortly after word came that the United States destroyer Peary had reached the wreck and was standing by. The Peary reported the weather was moderating.

One Vessel Damaged.

Heavy seas previously had damaged one rescue ship, the Japanese freighter Chicago Maru, and it steamed for Manila. The United States' Steamship company's New York, which had been standing by, messaged it was proceeding toward San Francisco, having been relieved of rescue work by the Peary. The steamship Tana, and the interisland vessel Gov. Taft remained at the scene.

Henderson hoped to salvage cargo aboard the fore portion of the Silverhazel, which the official said was built in 1927 at a cost of $1,250,000. The 3,091 ton craft apparently struck the rock early Sunday near the end of its voyage from San Francisco to Manila. Its wireless seemed to have been decommissioned by the crash.

Five from California.

Lifeboats sent out by rescue ships yesterday were tossed by the tide and heavy swells of San Bernardino straits, in which the wreck was discovered, and were forced to turn back. Captains of the vessels sent out appeals for some ship with motor powered lifeboats to come to their aid.

Names of the passengers, announced by the General Steamship corporation, San Francisco agents for the Silverhazel, were:

Mr. and Mrs. George Bissinger, San Francisco, and three Los Angeles women, Mrs. Neil Williams, Mrs. H. N. Zerfing, and Mrs. C. C. Windham. Bissinger is an executive of the Philippine Calamba Sugar company.

GERMAN WRITER MIXES HIS WORDS; EDITORS JAILED

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—(AP)—What newspaper executives said was a misprint resulted today in an investigation by authorities of the newspaper Berliner Lokalanzeiger and the reported arrest of several members of the editorial staf.

In an account of a speech at Munich Saturday by Rudolf Hess, minister without portfolio, the newspaper used the word "freiheits-beraubung" [despoilment of freedom] instead of "freiheits-bewegung" [movement for freedom].

Hess said Hitler youths should thank the 16 victims of the 1923 Nazi beer cellar putsch "that you share in the honor of being able to count yourself part of the greatest movement for freedom in German history."

WILD ETHIOPIANS BUTCHER ENEMY IN 4 DAY BATTLE

Italians Slaughtered with Swords and Knives.

BY HAROLD DENNY.

[Special correspondent of the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune.]

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

HARRAR, Ethiopia, Nov. 11.—Wounded Ethiopians brought here from Gorahai on the southern front in Ogaden declare a fierce battle raged day and night for four days at that town.

According to these warriors, most of whom were injured by air bomb fragments, quarter was not given by either side, and few wounded survived. One force of Italian troops, mostly Somali blacks, who had got a foothold in the town were virtually massacred.

[Gen. Rudolfo Graziani, commander of Italy's southern armies, last Friday reported the capture of Gorahai, the "gateway to Harrar."]

Kill Occupants of Tank.

The Ethiopians, using both machine guns and artillery, are said to have scored a direct hit on a tank charging down on the defenders. They overturned it and wrecked it and three white men within were dragged out and killed.

The climax came when a large Italian force attacking from the south between ridges and hills was surprised by fierce tribesmen, who fell upon them silently with swords and knives, slaughtering almost the whole force. It was in this battle that Commander Afewerk, who was commanding Ethiopian troops in front of the town, was killed.

Italians Strike at Railroad.

ROME, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Ethiopia's railway, connecting Addis Ababa with the sea, appeared tonight to be the destination of both the Italian northern and southern armies.

Press dispatches from east Africa said Gen. Rudolfo Graziani's southern forces, after strengthening its position at Gorahai, had pressed farther on to Daggah Bur, 30 miles northwest of Sasa Baneh and only a little over 150 miles from the railway between the capital and Djibouti, French Somaliland. These reports said the troops already had taken Sasa Baneh, a city of strategic importance.

Severe Casualties Reported.

Gen. Emilio de Bono, Italian commander in chief, reported that one column of light tanks had moved up the valley of the Fafan river, inflicting severe casualties.

Gen. De Bono also announced the capture of many prisoners, including some Ethiopian chieftains. He said Abdel Kerim Mohammed, son of the late Abdullah Mohammed [Mad Mullah, once king of Iraq], had joined the Italians, with his army, at Gorahai.

The southern army, as a result of its speedy movement of the last few days, had reached a position where it threatened the strategic points of Jijiga, Diredawa, and Harrar.

Occupy Heights Beyond Makale.

In the north, the Italian forces occupied all the heights south of Makale, taken Friday.

Gen. De Bono said his soldiers commanded the vicinity of Selicot, south of Makale, on the road to Amba Alaji, their next objective.

Italian correspondents reported that more than 200,000 Ethiopians were concentrating in the vicinity of Amba Alaji. They said the defenders were lying behind the Kidonemiret mountains, a natural defense in which there are cliffs 11,000 feet high.

Rushes Troops to Jijiga.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie tonight ordered 40,000 troops rushed from the capital to Jijiga in a supreme effort to hold that key town against an Italian assault from the south. Officials believed the ultimate object of the Italians is to cut the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad, less than 75 miles northwest of the town. Jijiga is one of the strategic points protecting the railroad from the south.

The Ethiopian strategists, while refusing to concede that Sasa Baneh, a little more than 100 miles southeast of Jijiga, had fallen, said the mountains between the two cities were expected to offer exceptional difficulties to the Italians.

Ex-Envoy to Rome Arrives.

Thirty thousand of the warriors ordered to Jijiga will be well equipped troops under Ras Getachou. Among them is Hubert Julian, the "Black Eagle of Harlem." The other 10,000 will be under Dedjazmatch Amdi, governor of Arussi province.

Afework Ghevre Yesus, former chargé d'affairs at Rome, arrived today and reported at once to the emperor. Tecle Hawariate, former envoy to Geneva, has gone into Tchertcher, his native province, to sell lands and cereals to raise money for the war. When he returns he is expected to get an important army command.

Reports published abroad that Ras Nasibu, Ethiopian chieftain, had been assassinated during a mutiny among his soldiers in the south were dismissed by the Ethiopian government as untrue.

ISLAND IN BRITISH WEST INDIES IS STRUCK BY QUAKE

PLYMOUTH, Montserrat, British West Indies, Nov. 11.—(AP)—This "Emerald Isle" of the Caribbean counted heavy property damage today from a Sunday earthquake which damaged buildings, cut off Plymouth's water supply, and disrupted telephone communication. None of the island's 13,000 inhabitants was injured, however.

St. Peter's church and the local Catholic church were badly damaged, the city's main water line was carried away by a landslide, and the island's only hospital was so badly shaken that 16 of the 21 patients had to be moved home. Government house and the island commissioner's home were damaged and sections of a hotel were left unsafe for habitation.

Vibrations also were felt on nearby Antigua Island, where some property was damaged, and on St. Kitts. The shocks continued throughout Sunday afternoon and night, and followed two weeks of preliminary rumblings.

FOUR CARS LEAVE RAILS.

Austin, Minn., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Four cars of Milwaukee train No. 11, including two Pullmans, were derailed east of Rose Creek at 5:15 a. m. today. Sleeping passengers were thrown from their berths. None of the thirty en route from Chicago to Austin was hurt.

CATHOLIC CHURCH IN ITALY JOINS DUCE'S WAR ON SANCTIONS

[Special to the London Daily Telegraph and the Chicago Tribune.]

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 11.—The Catholic church today came into line with the Italian campaign against league of nations sanctions. Bishops ordered parish priests throughout the country to economize in the use of lights in churches and to buy Italian products for all ecclesiastic requirements.

As far as possible evening masses will be said earlier to avoid lighting the church lamps. The bishops' "Buy Italian" manifesto makes special reference to incense, candles, vestments, religious pictures, and statues.

Meanwhile the public is becoming convinced that the tightened belt has come to stay even should sanctions quickly be withdrawn. The newspaper Tevere made it clear that the need for strict public and private economy will continue "whatever may be the changes in the international political situation."

A bitter Armistice day article in the newspaper Tribuna was the only mark of anti-British feeling.

"Today," it said, "Italy is taking no part in the celebrations of the common victory to which she contributed so much. Fifty states have been mobilized against her by the greatest empire in the world."

League O. K.'s Ship Deals of 2 Nations with Italy

GENEVA, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The league of nations subcommittee on sanctions decided today to authorize Poland and Siam to complete contracts with Italy for construction of ships for which a majority of the cost had already been paid. Poland had ordered a steamship to be placed in the New York service. Siam had contracted for seven destroyers and torpedo boats.

and that the league draw necessary conclusions from them. It asserts it is undeniable that from such happennings a new duty devolves upon Italy because of reprisals against the freed populations should Italian protection end.

"Spirit of Covenant Killed."

Point 3. Without acknowledging the reality of the facts, the league has applied strictly the letter of the covenant and killed its spirit. Through a very hasty procedure, it says, the governments of many states have been brought to envisage the application upon Italy of measures of pressure suggested by a coördination committee which is not a proper organ of the league of nations. Italy does not recognize the legitimacy of the committee, it adds. Therefore, Italy considers that each government is individually judge of, and responsible for, the measures against Italy.

Point 4. The embargo on arms and munitions to Italy and the free sale of such materials to Ethiopia is a measure which can only have the effect of aggravating the special situation which the Italian government had denounced to the league and which has compelled Italy to take urgent measures for the protection of the security of her African colonies.

Point 5. The coördination committee has decided the application of many measures of economic and financial character without taking account of the fact that sanctions of this type were never applied before in other conflicts.

Calls Sanctions Unjust.

These sanctions would be applied therefore for the first time against Italy, the note adds, under conditions which Italy considers unjust and arbitrary and against which the Italian government raises the firmest opposition.

Both in their economic and moral aspects, the note calls the serious attention of each league member to the gravity of the proposed measures and the consequences they are likely to bring, not only to Italy but also to the troubled economic situation of the world, the recovery of which will be hampered.

The note adds that no one can deny the Italian government the right and the necessity in which it finds itself to protect and insure the very existence of its people. Italy, it adds, will be forced to take measures of an economic and financial character which might bring about considerable disruption of the national currents of trade.

"Real Act of Hostility."

Point 6. The boycott on Italian exports, more than an economic measure, is a real act of hostility which amply justifies Italian counter measures. Although Italy is an interested party to the conflict, the note adds, Italy does not believe it is less objective when it says that the artificial attempt to cut off from the world economy a market of 44,000,000 people contains the danger of having immediate repercussions on the lives of millions of workers throughout the world.

Point 7. Italy has not wished up until now to leave the Geneva organization, because she wanted to prevent as far as possible dangerous complications. Italy has taken all measures to prevent further dangers from arising from the present situation, the note says, but she believes she is justified today in calling to the attention of league members their responsibility for the measures concerned and to the gravity of their consequences.

"The Italian government asks to be advised how your government in its free and sovereign judgment intends to act with regard to the measures proposed against Italy," the note concludes.

GERMAN FARMER TOLD TO PRODUCE MORE FOODSTUFF

GOSLAR, Germany, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The Nazi reich sounded a new cry for intensified farm production to end food shortages before assembled German farm leaders today. Thirteen hundred of these leaders, in 46 group meetings of their convention here, considered projects for field and plant improvement, animal breeding and fertilization, and the economics of grain, potato, cattle, egg, and grape production. In the next few months the farmers themselves will be instructed as to these improvements.

Even in this dictatorial nation, however, fulfilment of the aim of complete food self-sufficiency was considered problematical. Germany now produces about 80 per cent of her foodstuffs, but from the first the production battle has been attended by dissatisfaction over marketing regulations and by attempts to circumvent maximum prices. Hence, officials are frankly worried.

Heroic efforts have been made to insure a food supply. Under pain of a 1,000 mark fine [about $400] dealers are forbidden to slaughter cattle or hogs of less than the prescribed weights. Warnings against hoarding have been widely published. New top prices have been set for a wider range of products lest current shortages boost prices.

Distributes Hapsburg's Photo; Hungary to Try Him

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Count George Apponyi, a Hungarian legitimist leader, faced charges of illegal political activities tonight. The public prosecutor has charged that the count is responsible for the distribution of postal cards bearing a picture of Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the non-existent Austro-Hungarian throne. The pictures, distributed in a recent election campaign, were immediately confiscated by police.

SLATE FALL CRUSHES MINERS.

Jenkins, Ky., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Ollie Canada, 44, mine foreman for the Greenough Coal company, Greenough, and Noah Kid, 32, assistant foreman, were crushed to death today by a slate fall.

CAMERAMAN BEATEN BY WARRIORS IN FEAR PHOTOS RUIN SOULS

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Nov. 11.—(AP)—A belief among Ethiopian tribesmen that they will lose their souls if they are photographed was blamed today for a violent assault on Edward Genock, Paramount News cameraman, in Harrar, Ethiopia.

Genock, who said he was unaware of the official ban on taking pictures in Harrar, was set upon by warriors as he was making motion pictures of the arrival of Chief Arrisis and his followers. Shouting their native war cries, the blacks seized the cameraman, smashed his camera, and pommeled him before Chief Arrisis succeeded in calling them off.

Ras Fitourarai Bande, in charge of the Harrar territory, answering a protest lodged after the attack, said the irregular warriors were members of a fierce and primitive tribe which regards cameras with evil superstition in the belief that whoever obtains their pictures also takes their souls. He said the official ban had been ordered as a result of a "spy scare."

George Cohan's Daughter Will Get Divorce Today

Reno, Nev., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Cohan Litt, daughter of George M. Cohan, expects to receive her divorce tomorrow from Neil Litt. She sued on charges of extreme cruelty. In 1927, when she was 18, they eloped to Elkton, Md., and were married.

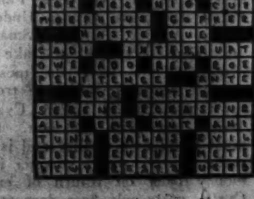
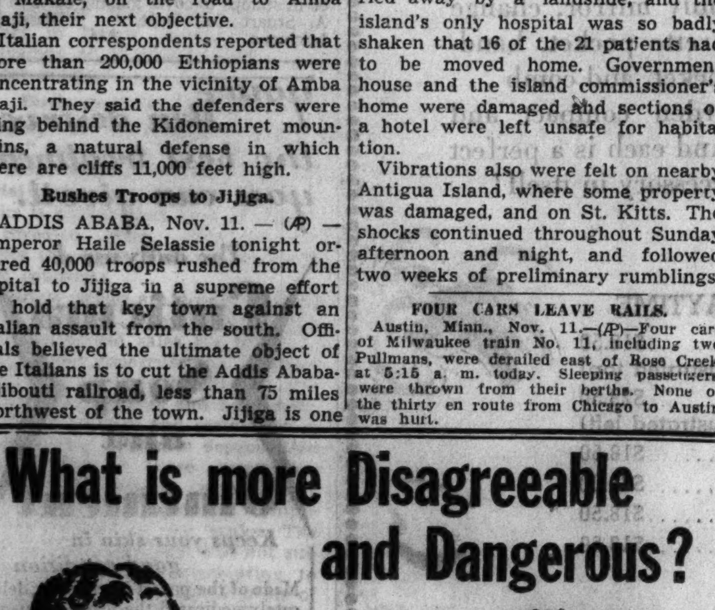
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED





What is more Disagreeable and Dangerous?

Bad colds may come from a simple cause

You may not sit in draughts, you may keep your feet dry, you may eat plenty of food to build up resistance against colds, but with all this there may be a deficiency of vitamins in your diet.

It may account for your readiness to catch cold, for your lowered vitality and the utterly run-down feeling you have. Do not be discouraged. There may be a quick way to restore the lack of vitamins in your system and bring back the sparkle of health in your eyes—and it only costs a few cents a day.

Find out what Vitamins A and D will do for you

Vitamin A is the essential element used in building and repairing the outer skin and the inner linings of the body. It builds resistance against colds, with their tendency to cause lung, throat and sinus infections. A deficiency of it retards growth and may cause certain skin and eye diseases. Vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin, builds and repairs body, bone and teeth.

Nature's own tonic

One of the richest sources of Vitamins A and D is cod-liver oil. But there is no need for you to take this unpleasant-tasting oil. By a new, scientific process (U. S. Patent No. 1,690,091) owned by the International Vitamin Corporation, Vitamins A and D are extracted from cod-liver oil, concentrated and sealed in gelatin capsules called I. V. C. Vitamin Pearls. They are tasteless, odorless and easy to swallow. It is the simplest way of getting practically straight vitamins in a convenient and easy-to-take form at a low cost. Insist on the genuine I. V. C. Pearls.

There is only one genuine

GERMANY STRIPS JEWS OF MONEY WITH 'FLIGHT TAX'

Emigrants Forced to Sell Property at Big Loss.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—While the German government is holding back its regulations for implementing its anti-Jewish laws and thus increasing the fear of more stringent measures against the Jewish population, its coffers are filling gradually with money the Jews are compelled to sacrifice to obtain permission to leave the country.

The government collects a minimum of a 25 per cent tax from each person officially leaving Germany. Then it has the remainder of the individual's fortune inscribed in its books as "sperr marks," or frozen marks, which can be used to buy certain groups of German goods—none of which sell easily.

If the emigrant can find foreign buyers for these goods he will be able to receive the equivalent of part of his frozen marks abroad, naturally at a depreciated rate. The loss he thus takes helps the Nazis sell their wares. If lucky, the emigrant may emerge from the reich with 30 per cent of his property.

Called "Flight Tax."

The Jews refuse to speak about this gradual expropriation for fear of endangering persons who are too poor to buy their way out of Germany and into foreign countries.

The German government describes the money collected as "flight tax" and it is difficult to estimate the total amount paid by the Jews.

Bankers declare that if Jewish "panic sales" continue at the present rate the greatest portion of Jewish property soon will be in the hands of the government and its followers who seize the opportunity to buy Jewish businesses cheaply.

Economic experts carefully tabulated the Jewish property offered for sale in a financial newspaper during the past two months. The advertisments listing prices showed 50,000,000 marks' worth of Jewish property had been offered in that paper alone. [The mark is currently quoted at 40.23 cents and the equivalent of the foregoing total is about $20,000,000.]

Must Prove He Has Money.

The figures do not include the advertisments without prices. Consequently they represent only a small fraction of the property thrown on the market since the proclamation of the anti-Jewish laws at Nuremberg.

A Jewish business man who succeeds in selling his property at whatever price is obtainable must find a country willing to harbor him and his family. Moreover, he must prove to that country he still has property to start a new life.

This is easier for a rich Jew who is able to swing big deals. Take, for instance, the case of the owner of a chain of department stores who left Germany four weeks ago. This once tremendous fortune still aggregated $3,050,000 when he was called on by tax authorities to pay the "flight tax." He paid $800,000. The rest was registered as "sperr marks." He succeeded in selling two German ships to the Italian government which used his "sperr marks" to pay for them. The Italian government paid him slightly more than a million dollars in Dutch currency for the equivalent of $2,170,000 inscribed as "sperr marks."

Business Circles Alarmed.

Paying in depreciated "sperr marks," the Italians were able to buy the ships despite the fact that the official price of German ships in marks is higher than that of British or Swedish ships. This is true despite the depreciated currencies in those countries.

Business circles are deeply alarmed by the situation. They point out that these semi-forced sales are bound to cause serious repercussions. German banks have invested heavily in Jewish business ventures and hold mortgages on buildings and residences in Jewish hands. A sizable depreciation in the value of these enterprises through readjustment after hasty sales, it is feared, also will complicate the position of the banks. The Nazis contend the banks will not suffer because they are attempting to adopt measures to restrict a crisis of this kind.

Business men point out that several industries are beginning to feel the pinch. Official reports of the shoe industry are complaining of the "extreme depression" and a simultaneous 20 per cent rise in the price of lether.

In the radio industry a number of firms have changed from Jewish into Aryan hands. One of them was the Nora firm. Other firms suspended payments and business reviews emphasized the "setback in the radio industry."

FOES OF BALDWIN CONCEDE CABINET VICTORY AT POLLS

Premier to Deliver Final Election Plea Today.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Great Britain's general election campaign will reach the peak of intensity tomorrow when Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin winds up his fight with a speech at Newcastle. Practically every other member of the national government, together with leaders of other parties, will be roaring into final action. The voters will go to the polls Thursday.

In his speech Baldwin is expected to make a final appeal to the supporters of his government against the danger of overconfidence and apathy and the necessity for turning out the vote.

He will reiterate the achievements of the government in the last four years, while the Labor orators will center their broadsides around the allegation that the cabinet has failed to provide for 2,000,000 unemployed and is now about to embark on a needless, expensive rearmament program.

Tory-Labor Dispute.

A bitter eleventh hour controversy has broken out between the Conservatives and Laborites over the issuance by the Conservatives of a pamphlet warning voters of all complexions as to what building societies and the persons who buy their houses through these societies might expect if a Labor government is elected.

The pamphlet was entitled "Your House to Go. Your Building Society, Too, if Socialism Comes."

The leaflet brought the immediate charge of "a deliberate Tory lie" from Maj. C. R. Atlee, Labor leader, who gave assurance that the "Labor program will not harm either building societies or small home holders." The Tories claimed their leaflet was justified by the developing of the Labor theory regarding land nationalization, which would threaten the existence of building associations.

Concede Baldwin's Election.

Opponents of the Baldwin cabinet tonight conceded that his government would be given control of parliament with a substantial majority.

In political circles speculation is increasing on how Baldwin is going to revamp his cabinet after the elections. That he will modify it radically seems beyond doubt. Some observers declare he may resign with the whole cabinet so as to free his hands completely to reconstitute a complete new ministry.

Sir Samuel Hoare, minister of foreign affairs, seems certain to retain his post in the next cabinet. Neither Ramsay MacDonald, lord president of the council, nor Sir John Simon, home secretary, is sure of reëlection. Baldwin was returned to parliament automatically because he had no opponent.

It is estimated that about 31,000,000 will cast their ballots Thursday.

Count Votes Leisurely.

The British take as much time about their elections as they do about their cricket, where the players adjourn for tea between innings. The results in only 221 out of 615 constituencies will be declared on election day, or not enough to denote officially who won the elections.

Then on Friday 327 results will be announced. In London, Manchester, Birmingham, and Glasgow they speed up the counting of the votes. But in the universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and London they make a leisurely count and the results are not announced until Saturday. In nine remote Scottish districts the results may be delayed even longer, due to the weather affecting the transit of the ballot boxes.

GERMANY MUST SET UP MARRIAGE MARKET, DOCTORS DECLARE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The state must establish an official marriage brokerage department to bring together numerous youths and maidens who are anxious to marry but have no chance of meeting likely partners of the opposite sex, according to the Goal and Path, official organ of the Nazi German Doctors' society.

The presupposition is that such young persons must be of healthy ancestry. The journal remarks that the government already has made a start for the provision of the country with healthy children through its marriage bonus scheme. Every registry office should have a list in which young people can enter their names, the publication declared.

At the same time, Dr. Palandt, president of the national supervisory board of justice, demanded an amendment of the inheritance law aimed at preventing German property from going to distant relatives in foreign countries. He wants a law under which inheritance could only pass to a descendant of the testator's grandparents, otherwise to the state.

Yellow Cab

The World's Model Cab Company

YELLOW CAB has just placed in service one thousand handsome new cabs, which are the acme of modernity, solidity, roominess, luxury and comfort. These cabs are a vast step in advance and in all the world have no equals.

They carry out, to the last detail, YELLOW CAB'S promise of 20 years ago, to keep Chicago constantly in the front rank of safe and luxurious local transportation equipment. Nor has the promise ever failed of fulfillment, as you and your family know.

These cabs, which will be speedily followed by additional numbers of the same high character, have been paid for in cash, hence they carry no mortgages to be used as subterfuge to dodge complaints and claims for damages.

YELLOW CAB is the only cab in Chicago equipped with fare registers which automatically print meter receipts to show the amount of the fare and to identify the cab, the driver and the trip. In the event of untoward incident, or the leaving of personal property in the cab, the printed receipt unfailingly establishes responsibility.

Over $100,000 worth of personal property annually reposes in YELLOW CAB'S Lost and Found Department, brought in by our drivers and awaiting proof of ownership to be established by these receipts. Thus, every possible precaution is thrown about every man, woman and child who uses Yellow Cab.

The courtesy and efficiency of our drivers is a proverb. The experience of years, the exact knowledge of Chicago and its environs, a thorough appreciation and knowledge of their responsibilities to the public, an accurate knowledge of the traffic laws and a desire to observe safety, has fashioned them into the best and most careful drivers in the world.

And back of them—and back of YELLOW CAB—is the MORAL, ORGANIZED and FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY which has ever been a powerful bulwark to YELLOW CAB, and has raised it far above the average cab industry of America.

The very best Christmas present you can give your wife or mother is a YELLOW CAB $10 or $25 coupon book. Call YELLOW CAB and one will be delivered to your address.

SENATOR SEARCY'S CHALLENGE.

In a forceful statement to colleagues and fellow Republicans Senator Searcy, minority leader in the state senate, makes comment on the major proposals submitted to the legislature at the special session. His study of the bills, says Senator Searcy, has appalled him at "the potential enslavement of Illinois' unfortunate citizens and the utter abdication of Illinois state sovereignty." Not only will our local liberties and responsibilities be absorbed by an "already bloated political octopus," but the federal control bills will almost double the present number of state departments and divisions, each functioning as a tax-eating device.

"Under the proposed scheme," says Senator Searcy, "the Illinois department of public welfare, primary clearing house for federal burocratic orders, becomes in effect a federal bureau. Each county is given a 'county department,' to supplant the local county board. This 'department' is to administer the varying kinds of relief, or 'public assistance.' The federal social security board tells the Illinois department of public welfare what to do, and the Illinois department passes the word on to the 'county departments.' Illinois relief recipients become federal chattels. The 'county departments' may even, at their discretion, take over and 'manage' the property of old age pensioners, opening the gates to limitless favoritism, racket and fraud. In hearings and controversies burocracy is invested with disastrous advantages over taxpayers. It is even sought to abridge the legitimate rights of state courts, if expedient. Even though some of these measures deal with relief which we have always supported in principle and fact, the proposed new federalized system of administration thereof challenges us, if we have any regard for Illinois sovereignty."

Obviously, Senator Searcy asserts, "the underlying purpose is to place Roosevelt and Hopkins in direct control of every Illinois recipient of public aid," and he calls upon the legislators as Illinoisans to see that such legislation as may be enacted "shall retain rightful domestic state control."

This is the issue in fact throughout the nation.

POLITICAL CONVULSIONS AND AMERICAN WARS.

There may seem to be a bit of a rule that every time the American people start breaking down their usual party lines in disapproval and discontent they conclude the proceedings by going to war. The formula is weightier in coincidence, no doubt, than in cause, but for greater or less import there is a show of facts. Popular shifts from one political base to another reveal sharp issues and a high political temperature. Directly or obliquely the subsequent acts may be outside political action.

The destruction of the Federalists—it had certain aspects of suicide—by the Jeffersonians was followed by the second war with Great Britain. The Federalists might have avoided that if they could have continued in power. Their antipathies set them against the French revolution. They could forget Yorktown more easily than their Democratic-Republican opponents intended to. They did not regard the Englishman as for all times their natural enemy. Too arrogant in administration for the new breed of average men, they saw in the French Jacobin the worst type of that fellow. They might have survived the international storm without going to war in the last whiplash of it.

The growing pains of the civil war were evident in the Mexican conflict, as was also the waning of the Whigs. There were soon reliable premonitions that the political arrangements of the United States were unsatisfactory. They were not to contain the prejudices, emotions, and demands of the people. Abortive attempts at readjustment, as found in the growth of the Know-Nothings, gave way to the decisive struggle in which the Whigs disappeared, the Republican party was born, and the Democrats were divided by the river of fire which could not be crossed. It was not the birth of the Republican party so much as the death of the national Democratic party which made the war then inevitable. When the Charleston and Baltimore conventions created the Democratic Party South and the Democratic Party North the nation was divided against itself. If Douglas of Illinois and Richmond of New York could have found an agreement with Yancey of Alabama and Davis of Mississippi a united Democratic party, electing a President, might, for the time at least, have preserved the peace with the Union.

Little more than coincidence can be found in the relation of the silver split in the parties in '96 to the Spanish war in '98 unless there is a psychological probability that after the people had been so heated in their political conflict they were more than ordinarily willing to blow off steam in another scrap. Anyway, there is the coincidence.

In 1912 there was another major political shift, splitting the Republican party hopelessly and electing Woodrow Wilson. In 1917 there was another war. The Democrat was an ideologist and when he warmed up to the glorious opportunities of a universal democracy he could shake the world with declamation. We cannot know what would have happened if the American President had been a man who liked a successful expedient more than he liked a phrase. We know that the Republican split elected the man who went to war for freedom of the seas and self-determination, a war to end war and to make the world safe for democracy.

It is not observable that seas are any freer, except when it's of no consequence whether they are free or not, that self-determination has helped the population of regions torn from their homelands, that democracy is doing very well under European absolutism, or that the weaker peoples are any safer from the war lords. We do know that we had a political upheaval and then a war. And as usual we do not know anything about the future.

THE FEE OFFICE PAY ROLLS.

The judges of the Circuit court of Cook county have turned down the request for additional jobs in 1936 submitted by the heads of the thirteen fee offices in the county government. The decision was a wise one. As shown recently in a well-reasoned letter of the Civic federation, the total pay roll of the fee offices this year was only slightly less than in the peak year 1928. Substantial reductions made in the early years of the depression have been almost entirely restored despite the fact that business and property values have by no means reached the 1928 level.

The favorite argument in defense of increasing the number of jobholders is that the increase results in a corresponding advance in revenues. The federation's letter proves that this expectation, however plausible, has not been realized. Between 1932 and 1934 there was a 9 per cent advance in pay roll expenditures but a 15 per cent decline in fee office revenues.

The judges are to be commended for their refusal to lengthen the pay rolls. It is to be hoped that before many more years have elapsed they will be relieved of the duty of budget making, which is nonjudicial and even anti-judicial in character. Because political jobs are involved it becomes a matter of great concern to political leaders to elect judges who will approve bigger if not better pay rolls.

It is worth noting that the task was assigned to the court because the judges were thought to be the only agency in the county sufficiently disinterested and independent to deal with the matter honestly. The result over the years has been disappointing. There has been little improvement in the quality of administration in the fee offices since the judges were placed in charge of the budget, but instead a deterioration in the quality of the court. It cannot be attributed wholly to the duty of parceling out political jobs, but that has been an important element in producing the result.

COLOR PRINTING HAS COME.

Three color pages in a forty-six page paper Friday, twenty color pages in a one hundred and twenty page paper Sunday, one color page in the thirty-two page paper yesterday and in a thirty page paper today show that some forty years after its introduction into the newspaper world THE TRIBUNE has established color printing on a production basis.

While a crude form of color printing, suitable for comics and poster effects, came into use in the last years of the past century, the next twenty years saw no advance in technique, and the burocratic repressing of individual effort during the war hobbled it for another decade.

Peace released manufacturing facilities and also creative abilities. The world flared into color—dress, buildings, linen and tableware, house decoration, lighting, all donned gala shades except the newspapers. Neither they nor the press manufacturers tried to keep up with the taste of the times. The papers merely chronicled the change in black type. The inevitable result was a decrease in newspaper popularity, concealed in the general boom, but none the less real. First the afternoon, then the Sunday, papers began to lose public patronage.

As long ago as 1920 THE TRIBUNE began to experiment with color on a miniature press, and in 1922 perfected and began publishing its process named coloroto, the most perfect device yet found for reproducing the fine arts.

The depression, radio, and other forms of competitive advertising set THE TRIBUNE to solving the problem of color printing in the daily paper at a speed of forty thousand copies per press per hour.

The last five days acclaim the achievement. Twenty-six million eighty-nine thousand and ninety colored pages have been produced in that time: Two million two hundred and four thousand two hundred and sixty-four of coloroto; thirteen million two hundred and twenty-five thousand five hundred and eighty-four of comics; ten million six hundred and fifty-nine thousand two hundred and forty-two of newspaper size.

That is only part of the story.

TRIBUNE circulation and TRIBUNE advertising have gone up in a generally falling market. THE TRIBUNE's demand for labor has gone up also, as it takes three times as many men to produce a color page as a black and white page. Increased circulation and advertising employ more mailers, more drivers, more transport workers, more newsboys, more papermakers, railroaders, sailors, and workers in the industries producing raw materials for paper manufacture.

Most important of all, the advertisments move the goods advertised and stimulate that exchange of effort and remuneration which we call prosperity.

Color printing has come. All of its problems have been solved. We commend it to our contemporaries as a means of solving their own problems and of helping the producers bear the staggering load of taxation inflicted upon them by the extravagance and corruption of the national government.

HERE'S THE WAY that Thomas Atkins, the w. k. Sealyham, looks at it. I said to him the other day, "Thomas Atkins, are you a communist?" And Mister Atkins said in Sealyham (and I speak Sealyham perfectly), "I are not." He occasionally mixes up his grammar, does Mister Atkins, but I am giving what he said in his own words. "And why not, Mister Atkins?" I asked. "Because," said Mister Atkins, "we have now an eight room flat and I get a good meal every night and a bone every other day. Now if the communists came into power we would have only a fifth part of one room; there would be at least four other families in the same room. And each family would have a hound. Let us say that the other hounds would be, to wit, namely: a chow, an Airedale, a police dog, and a wire haired fox terrier. I would have to lick each and every one of those hounds every night. I wouldn't mind it the first two or three weeks, but after that it would get monotonous. And that Boston bull, Tuffy FitzHenry, might be one of my neighbors in the room, and that woman has an appetite like an alligator. She always tries to steal my bones and if I gently admonish her to desist she nips me in the nose. I am a gentleman and I would not hit a woman, but if that lowdown Boston bull nips me twice more in the snoot there's going to be trouble. No, and no, decidedly! I do not care to be a communist. Four other hounds sleeping in the same room and requiring that I give one and all a good licking every night would be too much. I would have nervous prostration before the month was out."

AUTUMN EXODUS.

In November's timeless train,
Dimly through the wind and rain,
Moves this pageantry of pain
Through each field and down each lane.

Crickets, locusts, and bumblebees
Smitten crawl upon their knees,
Fleeing as one fearful flees—
Death now shadows each of these.

All drone out and then crawl faster,
On past stalk and aging aster,
Hurrying from this old disaster—
Frost is each one's ageless master.

All the lifeless leaves sift down
And blow beyond this aging town—
Scarlet leaves and mottled brown—
Patches from dead summer's gown.

V-shaped lines of gray-winged birds,
Crying inarticulate words,
Lift above the solemn herds,
For lakes are churned to chilling curds.

Something sneers far down the river,
Cattle huddle, call and shiver;
This thing sneers and lake reeds quiver—
Something taking gift and giver.

THE LINEBOOK OF 1935, which is just about ready to pop (oh, a few weeks maybe, but only a few), is, to my mind, one of the best looking of the lot. It's streamlined, of course. Fancy trying to bring out anything these days from a freight car to a new necktie that isn't streamlined. And it's air cooled; oh, it is air cooled—everything has to be air cooled these days. And it's a miniature book; you know what a fad the miniature camera is, so I hasten to say that the new Linebook is a miniature book; it has to be, with only sixty-four damn pages, and it has a telescopic lens. I don't know just where the telescopic lens thing comes in, but, shucks, telescopic lenses are very popular, and so I am proud to say that the new Linebook of 1935 has a telescopic lens. And it pulls down over the left eye and it is automatic. No getting up on cold mornings and having to run down in the basement to fix it. And it brings in the music and voices of Paris, London, Constantinople, Cochin-China, Australia, Tokio, Moscow, and Turkey Run, Ind., just as though it were in your own room. And it costs only a dime. Perhaps you didn't think we had such small money any more; Washington has taught you to talk in nothing less than a million. But the Linebook will cost only a dime, ten cents, 10 cts., the tenth part of a dollar. That is, 10 cents on the hoof; if you want Mr. Farley to bring it to you it will cost 13 cents. And you write or order from The Tribune Public Service Office, No. 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.

THE OYSTER SEASON is in full swing and yet only one item has appeared in the newspapers about a man biting into a big fat bivalve and finding something hard and gritty between his teeth and—gosh! there was a great big pearl worth five thousand dollars! Either the newspapers aren't what they used to be or if a man finds a pearl in his oyster these days he doesn't brag about it. What with bandits and gunmen and income tax collectors all around, the wise man who finds a pearl in his oyster is going to take the darn thing over to the lake and chuck it in.

PREVENT SYPHILIS IN BABIES.

No one knows the exact number of persons in the United States who harbor within their bodies the parasite of syphilis. We are aware, however, that the disease is all too prevalent and that it is still proving one of the most destructive scourges of mankind.

The treacherous character of the condition may be understood from the fact that a great many people who have syphilis are unaware of the fact. It may smolder for years in a state of latent activity and fail—during this period—to exhibit a single obvious symptom. Nevertheless the parasites are slowly at work undermining the foundations of body resistance, just as insect borers, if sufficiently prolific, destroy hundreds of acres of forest. As a result there comes a time when the heart, the blood vessels, the nervous system, and every tissue and organ of the body fail to function. There may be paralysis, convulsions, mental deterioration, or loss of muscular power and nervous control.

The fortunate thing about syphilis is that it can be cured if the treatment is begun early. Even in late cases, where the disease has remained unrecognized for years, substantial improvement is possible and the individual can be freed from the likelihood of passing on the infection to any one. It requires great skill on the part of the physician and the complete coöperation of the patient.

One of the world's greatest tragedies is that a mother afflicted with syphilis may transmit the infection to her unborn child. This is a situation that can be completely remedied if proper treatment is given the prospective mother. If these women are untreated 25 to 50 per cent of their children will be born dead, and of those living at birth 30 to 50 per cent will be infected with syphilis. In only 15 per cent, if the mothers are untreated, will a living child escape the disease.

With active anti-syphilitic treatment live babies free from infection can be expected in 90 to 100 per cent of the cases. Much depends upon the month in which treatment is begun. For example, after the fifth month of pregnancy the percentage drops. After the birth of the child, even though it is normal, every syphilitic mother should continue treatment until the disease in her own body has been arrested or eradicated. The importance of treating the mother is tantamount to closing the floodgates that otherwise would submerge the land.

We can recognize the disease in an infant through the appearance of skin eruptions and sores on the mucous membranes of the mouth and other parts of the body. Frequently the eyes are involved, particularly the cornea, which may leave the vision greatly impaired or totally lost. If the disease is untreated in the child certain deformities may occur in the teeth, the shin bones, the bridge of the nose, etc. Every child afflicted at birth with syphilis faces a prolonged fight for health.

We can stamp out syphilis in newborn babies if we will insist upon a blood test of every pregnant woman followed by treatment if the test is positive. We must revise our thinking about this disease and forget that in the past it has been associated with morals. We must realize that it is a horrible affliction that must be totally eradicated if civilization is to survive. A large number of infections occur under conditions that do not in the slightest degree involve moral turpitude. We should require as vigorous an attack against this disease as has been waged in the past against smallpox, or as is now being waged against diphtheria, poliomyelitis, and scarlet fever.

Far from resenting a blood test, every pregnant woman should welcome the procedure, as it means protection not only for her unborn baby but for herself and all the members of her family. A recent study of 4,369 pregnant women showed that 6 per cent were afflicted with syphilis. After receiving six or more treatments 97½ per cent of the infected women gave birth to normal children entirely free from disease.

OLD PAL WINTER ITCH.

A. P. writes: My arms and legs always itch after a bath. What is the cause and what can be done for relief?

REPLY.

Bath itch is due to the water and to the temperature changes of the skin. The condition may be aggravated by soap. The symptom may be relieved by rubbing the skin with sterile olive oil following the bath, by using as little soap as possible, by avoiding very hot and very cold water, and by thoroughly rinsing the body.

THE NORTHWESTERN CO-ED.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 8.—The article on the Northwestern co-ed in last Sunday's TRIBUNE is both an exaggeration and a misrepresentation of the facts. Since publication the article has been a topic of heated discussion on the Evanston campus, for it reflected very unfavorably on every girl.

The inference that girls think of nothing but clothes, expensive dates, and superficialities is disproved by students and professors. Northwestern is noted for her pretty girls, but only about one in every two hundred thinks of herself as a prospective beauty queen. Northwestern is co-educational, so of course the co-ed intends to be well groomed. She knows, however, that on campus elaborate clothes are poor taste.

Northwestern is cosmopolitan because it is in a cosmopolitan area and reflects its background. As to expensive dates, the fact that they do cost has placed dating at a minimum, with the emphasis on bridge games at home or a walk to the local movie. Because there is less dating than in most co-educational schools, girls have ample time for study, reading, and jaunts to the city for Theater guild and the opera. The great majority of girls go to Northwestern for the educational facilities and not for the social whirl.

Northwestern has an excellent faculty and most girls appreciate the fact. Moreover, they judge their professor by his subject and its presentation instead of by masculine appeal. Every week the contemporary thought lecture, which is open to the public, overflows with students, girls included, who have an intelligent curiosity and interest in science and philosophy as they are expressed in the modern world.

Furthermore, a great many Northwestern co-eds actually work their way through school. Last year the university placed 297 women in jobs. Between 46 and 50 per cent of the women, either from necessity or choice, do not belong to sororities. In the case of these girls they know that to be given a really thorough "whirl" they must belong to a sorority. Therefore they must come for an education, and it is not fair to exclude them from an article about the Northwestern university co-ed.

Miss Scully's article was a pretty story, but about as fictitious as most movie versions of college life.

A PUN FOR THE DAY.

Alpena, Mich., Nov. 6. — "Wallace Drops AAA Pig Limits for Next Year; Warns of New Control for 1937," is the headline in a recent CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Could this be considered as a 1936 breeding spell for pigs?

LAWRENCE BROWN.

PROGRESS IS SHOCKING.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—I am a visitor in the city. Yesterday I attended the very interesting exhibit of American painting and sculpture at the Art Institute.

Do not the critics of this showing understand that it represents art in the making, it being a selection of the best that has been produced during the past year?

A study of the history of art proves that a change in methods or subject matter in art has always brought forth a storm of criticism from the public. If the pictures had satisfied all, then we should have known that there had been no advance in thought and that the public had caught up.

MRS. T. J. MATTHEWS.

CARTOONS IN COLOR.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The greater part of this modernism, so prevalent at the current exhibition of American painters, is not art. It is nothing more than cartooning in color.

HERMAN FOLKMAN.

ANOTHER.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The conductor on the Halsted-Broadway street car, No. 5211, which was at Halsted and Madison streets about 5:10 last night [Nov. 5], deserves an orchid for spontaneous and generous courtesy. He assisted a ragged blind man off the car, over the sidewalk, until the blind one's cane could reach the building bases. He smiled as he punched a transfer for a girl who said: "You forgot to give me a transfer and I want to get off here." As he reached for the signal cord a fat woman stumbled against the steps, too overcome with hurrying to climb them. Our conductor reached down with both hands and boosted her on. I hope that this conductor reads this so that he may know that we, the public, do respond to the smile and the extra courtesy we get along with out street car ride.

G. W. BLAIR.

DON'T TELL THE INDIANA SOCIETY.

Moline, Ill., Nov. 7.—McCutcheon's cartoon of the husking finals shows all the champion huskers as left handers with the bang board on the left side of the wagon. Ninety-five per cent of all huskers are right handers and the bang board is on the right side of the wagon. I doubt if any of the champs are left handers. McCutcheon doesn't know his corn.

ARRESTED IN WILMETTE.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Wilmette may not be able to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, but some of its trafic officers have learned to realize the utmost from a trafic violation, especially when committed by a Chicago car. Not coming to a full stop at the crossing of its main street, I received an arraignment on five charges: Three for not stopping, and then from pure benignity, one for "speeding" and another for "reckless driving." The good will manifested in the last charge is evidently to expedite justice, for I was informed that by pleading guilty I could avoid a grand jury indictment. The total fines amounted to $28, but as I had given my representative but $20 the generous village let it go at that.

TAX FORFEITURE.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—When a tax bill is stamped forfeited [1] will this property be offered for sale? 2. If sold after forfeiture, what time is there for redemption? 3. Will it take buyer two years to get tax title and seven years to perfect title? 4. When not sold after forfeiture, what terminates owner's right to property?

M. A. C.

1. The forfeiture is a substitute for sale as far as that year's taxes are concerned.
2. If sold for a subsequent year's taxes two years will be allowed for redemption.
3. Yes.
4. See 3. In general, the forfeiture can be adjusted at any time. Apply at the office of the county clerk.

MORTGAGE RENEWAL.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have just had a mortgage renewed for the second time by the same people and paid $2,000 off the principal. They now tell me to bring in the renewal papers and have them filed in the city hall. Is this customary? I was afraid of having something happen to them.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico.—The senate is going to be asked to clarify the colonial policy of the United States government, according to Rafael Martinez Nadal, president of the Porto Rican senate. Lack of a definite colonial policy, he feels, is back of the irritations that have been characteristic of the relations with Porto Rico, and the Virgin Islands as well, in recent months.

The president of the Porto Rican senate, who is also the leader of the island's majority party, is going to ask the United States to examine the proposal recently advanced by a United States senator, that a bureau of colonies be established and manned by career men. Such a bureau, relieved of political interference, could be stafed by men trained in colonial administration.

Porto Rico seems to be suffering at the present time from an overzealous enthusiasm for rehabilitation. A good deal of money is to be spent in the island, but department of interior officials seem disposed to rehabilitate the island politically as well as materially. By so doing they have produced friction on both sides of the Caribbean sea.

In the island there is distrust of the motives of Washington because acceptance of rehabilitation money seems to be involved with acceptance of the desire on the part of Washington to have the Liberal party placed in power at the next election. The president of the island senate and his associates strongly resent such interference, but in making their position clear Washington has been offended and throws back the charge that the island politicians want to dictate how the money is to be spent.

In going direct to the senate of the United States with his plea Martinez Nadal will emphasize the fact that a closer and more informed understanding of the island psychology will clear up such misunderstandings. Action taken in Washington, addresses, and newspaper articles mean one thing in the United States and something altogether different when translated into Spanish and given to Porto Rican leaders.

A case illustrating the point is found in the appointment of a Liberal party member to the office of attorney general. Dr. Ernest Gruening, rehabilitation administrator, has tried to explain that the appointment did not mean that he is making an effort to strengthen the electoral prospects of the Liberal party. He insists that he wanted a Porto Rican in the office and that he wants to have Porto Ricans in all the important island positions including that of governor.

A better informed official, according to Martinez Nadal, would have known that the appointment of virtually any Porto Rican to a key position like that of attorney general would be construed as political strategy. In fact, both Liberals and Coalitionists do so construe the appointment.

With this information at hand Martinez Nadal wants the senate to state as a feature of colonial policy that there will be no interference with the strictly local political situation.

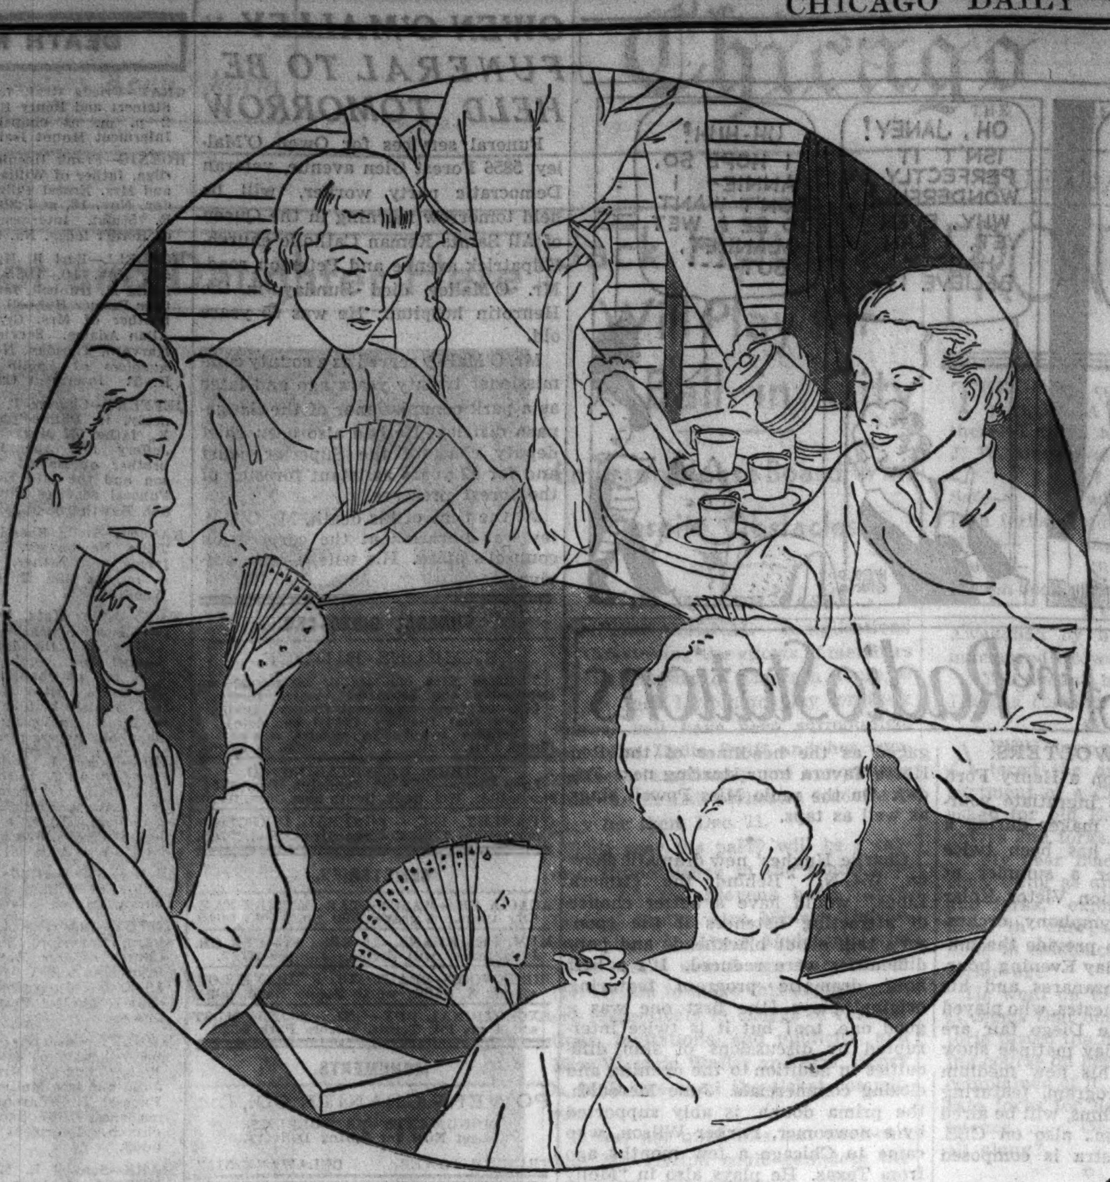
AN ADVERTISEMENT FOR ADVERTISERS



Tell it to Sweeney

. . . the "best people" for business

MR. BENZ makes bridge tables, and very good bridge tables, too. For the past few years the leader of the Benz line has been a table that sells for around $2.50. It is well and strongly built, with rounded corners, dependable legs, and a durable top in distinctive, soft colors.

Mr. Benz often finds his bridge table in the homes of his friends, in country clubs, in Palm Beach hotels, in Maine fishing camps—and feels a pardonable glow of pride. The Benz table has made good with some mighty particular people.

Mr. Benz believes in advertising, too. His advertising agency boasts a Park Avenue office, staffed by some Park Avenue people whose ideas all come wrapped in cellophane. The advertising shows the Benz table in Elsie de Wolfe settings, with smart young things cooing over it. Social Register matrons write testimonials for it—and a consideration. It runs in only the smart magazines. All of Mr. Benz's friends like his advertising—except his salesmen.

And all the while, most of the Benz bridge tables are being sold in Macy's and many little stores, to people who learned their bridge from radio talks and newspaper articles; to young brides in kitchenette apartments and factory girls in pretty drab homes; to country schools and young mothers whose children scrawl and scissors and paint on the top of Benz bridge tables. It is bought not because it is smart, but because it is convenient and serviceable, and a lot of table for the money. And most of its buyers never see the Benz advertising.

IN common with many business men, Mr. Benz confuses his friends with his customers, mistakes his own associates and environments for the markets of America. He likes to think that his table is bought by the best people—although he sells some 200,000 a year!

Many business men still suffer from the illusion of doing business with the "best people", the moneyed prospects—ignoring the fact that the total expenditures of the "best people" was never but a fraction of the market made up by the little incomes. Even in New York, wealthiest of American cities, there are twenty or more families with incomes under $10,000 a year for every one over that figure.

And after the worst depression of modern times, the market of the wealthy is badly shrunken. Income from investments has not gone up as much as salaries and wages. The rich feel little like buying. The rest of us must keep on buying! In buying power and capacity to consume, the general public today is a vastly easier and more profitable market than the "best people".

This "best people" idea also confuses advertising aims and objectives, interferes with sensible selection of advertising media. The Mr. Benzes assume that the publications they like have some special appeal to people of means—but no economist or psychologist has ever been able to find any connections between an individual's income and his reading habits. Because there isn't any!

SO we think this is a very proper time to remind business men who spend money for advertising to Tell It to Sweeney. Sweeney is the middle class New Yorker, whose income ranges from $6,000 a year down. There are 1,500,000 of such families in New York City, the wealthiest large group of people in the world. The Sweeneys make and spend more money than the average American. They have suffered less from the depression than people elsewhere, and recovered earlier. And because there are so many of them so close together, your salesmen use less shoe leather, your selling costs less!

And advertising to the Sweeneys is easy and inexpensive—because most of them can be reached at one time through one newspaper. The News goes to two-thirds of New York City families, to more suburban families than any other medium. The News reaches more families of every income grade, including the top, than any other New York newspaper. The News gives your advertising a chance to do more work on its small and highly visible pages. And The News costs a lot less than any other medium you can use in this market!

If The News isn't selling for you in New York these days, you aren't selling as much here as you might! Ask your advertising agency to investigate this medium and its market!

MRS. ANNA BEMIS DIES; EX-COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Taken Ill Suddenly in Her Home; 67 Years Old.

Mrs. Anna Sargent Bemis, former county commissioner and a leader in many Chicago affairs, died suddenly yesterday in the County hospital a few hours after she was taken ill in her home at 860 Lawrence avenue. She was 67 years old.

MRS. ANNA BEMIS.

Mrs. Bemis became ill shortly after eating lunch. She summoned Dr. Anders J. Weigans, 1475 Farragut avenue, and lapsed into a coma a short while later. Dr. Weigans ordered her taken to the County hospital, an institution in which Mrs. Bemis had taken deep interest for many years.

Will Determine Cause of Death.

Dr. Weigans said Mrs. Bemis may have died from a heart attack or some other natural cause, but that an autopsy would be performed by Dr. R. H. Jaffe of the hospital staf to determine the exact cause of death.

In February of 1922, Mrs. Bemis, a Democrat, was appointed a county commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Peter Reinberg. Ouster proceedings were begun by State's Attorney Robert Crowe. Mrs. Bemis resigned a few months later but in November was elected to a four year term on the Democratic ticket.

During her service on the county board Mrs. Bemis maintained an active interest in the county hospital at the Oak Forest infirmary, an interest she kept up the rest of her life, visiting each institution weekly. While a county commissioner Mrs. Bemis served as chairman of the Juvenile Home, the Juvenile Court Detention Home, the county health and civil service committees.

Leader in Many Affairs.

Mrs. Bemis established two large girls' camps in the Forest Preserves and in many other ways tried to help girls from congested areas of the city.

In 1923 Mrs. Bemis ended 10 years of work as organizer and head of the Americanization classes of the Woman's City club, of which she was a director. She was also chairman of the Americanization committee of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense of Illinois shortly after the war. Mrs. Bemis also served in many other positions assisting foreign born residents to become good citizens.

She was the widow of Prof. Edward Webster Bemis, city gas expert who died five years ago. Surviving Mrs. Bemis are two sons, Walter, a city consulting engineer; Lloyd Edward Bemis, a New York auditor; and a daughter, Alice, wife of Dr. Francis T. H'Doubler of Springfield, Mo.

W. C. CHYNOWETH, FORMER ILLINOIS LEGISLATOR, DIES

Kirksville, Mo., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—W. C. Chynoweth of Decatur, Ill., an Illinois state legislator for ten years, died in a hospital here today. For the last two weeks he had been under treatment here for anemia. He was 74 years old.

Chynoweth was born in Monroe county, O., and moved to Decatur in 1872. He edited a newspaper from 1888 to 1895 at Rogers, Ark., and was that town's postmaster for five years. Later he was chief deputy United States marshal in western Kansas for nine years.

In 1910 he returned to Decatur and entered politics. He was Republican representative of the 28th Illinois district from 1924 to 1934.

Mrs. Andrew Cooke Jr., 23, Waukegan, Kills Herself

Mrs. Glen O. Hoffhines, 409 South Water street, Waukegan, received word last night that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucy McKee Cooke, 23 years old, ended her life by shooting Sunday while suffering from a nervous breakdown in Boulder, Colo. Mrs. Cooke was the wife of Andrew Cooke Jr. of Waukegan. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, who were married July 1, 1934, have been attending the University of Colorado at Boulder, where he is a senior law student.

W. J. Kendrick Funeral Service at Leesburg, Fla.

Leesburg, Fla., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Funeral services for William J. Kendrick, 74, retired official of the Illinois Central railroad who died here Sunday, will be held at Fruitland Park, near here, tomorrow. Mr. Kendrick was with the railroad in Chicago for 43 years until his retirement 15 years ago. The widow; one son, H. G. Kendrick, Brooklyn; one daughter, Mrs. Walter E. Clark, Fruitland Park, and one sister, Mrs. Alice Thruston, Chicago, survive.

Rites Today at Milburn for Dr. Homer E. Jamison

Funeral services for Dr. Homer Eugene Jamison, a physician in Milburn, Lake county, for more than 40 years, will be held this afternoon from the home in Milburn. Dr. Jamison died Saturday at the age of 77. His wife, Mattie, and two daughters survive.

DR. A. B. T. HEYM, NEUROLOGIST, IS DEAD IN LEIPZIG

News of the death of Dr. Albrecht B. T. Heym, a specialist in nervous and mental diseases here since 1898, in Leipzig, Germany, on Oct. 29, was received here yesterday by officials of the Cook County Psychopathic hospital, where he was chief of staf. Burial was in a cemetery in Leipzig, beside the body of his father, a celebrated professor of mathematics in the University of Leipzig.

Dr. Heym was 73 years old. Last June he returned to the city where he was born in an attempt to recuperate his health. He was planning to attend the Psychiatric institute at Munich this month and visit with old Heidelberg and Leipzig classmates now attached to the institute, after which he would return to Chicago. He died of pneumonia.

A victim of diabetes, Dr. Heym became ill and a leg was amputated at Alexian Brothers hospital last February shortly after he succeeded the late Dr. Sidney Kuh as chief of staf at Psychopathic hospital. Dr. Heym also was head neurologist at Alexian Brothers hospital and formerly was head of the department of nervous and mental diseases at Loyola university.

Surviving are the widow, Jeanette, who was with him when he died; a son, Dr. Gerhard Heym of the department of Egyptology, London university, and a daughter, Mrs. Erna Nyquist of Kansas City.

STRING AERIAL OVER 'HOT' WIRE; THREE ARE DEAD

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Three men were killed by electricity here today while stringing a radio aerial. They were James Cummings, Dennis Butkewicz, and Kosta Prifti.

Prifti and Cummings were stringing the aerial from one house to another across the street. Prifti threw the aerial across a set of power wires, not knowing what they were. He then went to the street, picked up the loose end and fell dead. Cummings ran down to his side. As he touched the wire, he too fell.

Butkewicz, a storekeeper, ran from his store nearby. He tried to pull the wire from the grip of the two men and was himself felled.

Capt. Patrick D. O'Brien, Retired Policeman, Buried

Funeral services for Capt. Patrick D. O'Brien, retired police veteran, were held yesterday in St. Dorothy's Roman Catholic church, with burial in Calvary cemetery. Capt. O'Brien died Thursday in his room in the Strand hotel, 6235 Cottage Grove avenue. He was 78 years old. Capt. O'Brien joined the force in 1882 and was retired in 1933 after serving as detective chief under Mayors Carter H. Harrison, Fred Busse, and a former Republican mayor. Surviving are four sons, three of whom are city policemen.

Mrs. Annie McDougall, 69, Dies at Home in Wilmette

Mrs. Annie Irene McDougall, 69 years old, died yesterday in her home at 218 10th street, Wilmette. She was the widow of Dougall McDougall, north shore real estate dealer and is survived by a daughter, Mrs. W. L. Ballard of Syracuse, Ind. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in St. Augustine's Episcopal church in Wilmette.

Colored Woman, 107, Dies; Survived Twin Three Years

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Mary Jefferson, a colored woman, died today at the age of 107. A twin sister, Martha Cheatman, died in Wilmington three years ago.

Victor S. Holm, St. Louis Sculpture Teacher, Dies

St. Louis, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Victor S. Holm, 58, instructor in sculpture at the Washington university school of fine arts, died today of heart disease.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The way to land on a Henry Ford radio program is to ingratiate yourself with the motor maker during a world's fair. That has been twice demonstrated. After a summer at the Chicago Exposition Victor Kolar and the Detroit Symphony orchestra were installed to provide the music on the Ford Sunday Evening hour. And now José Manzanares and his South American orchestra, who played for Ford at the San Diego fair are to be put on a Sunday matinée show in the interest of his new medium priced car. The program, featuring Latin-American rhythms, will be aired from 1:30 to 2 p. m., also on CBS. Oh, yes, the orchestra is composed of women.

Myrt and Marge are presenting their 1,313th program over WBBM tomorrow night, Nov. 13. Sounds a little suspicious, but Myrt's publicists offered to make all of her scripts available for checking by a C. P. A.

Paul Whiteman deserves a mild rebuke for announcing on his last Music Hall broadcast that Helen Jepson was leaving radio to join the San Francisco Opera company. Miss Jepson left him to sing the lead in "Thais" with the Chicago City Opera company last night. John Charles Thomas, who sang opposite her, will do his next two Wednesday night NBC broadcasts from local studios, and there will be no audiences.

Eleanor Powell, the dazzling tap dancer who leaped to success in the picture "Broadway Melody of 1936," featuring Jack Benny, has been engaged as the headliner of the Red Horse Tavern hour starting next Friday. On the radio Miss Powell sings as well as taps.

Charlie Hughes' new dramatic show on W-G-N, "Behind the Camera Lines," would have a better chance of attracting listeners if the sponsor's talk about blackheads and pore difficulties were reduced. It's a half hour dramatic program featuring original plays [the first one was a good one, too] but it is twice interrupted by discussions of skin difficulties in addition to the opening and closing commercials. June Meredith, the prima donna, is ably supported by a newcomer, Parker Wilson, who came to Chicago a few months ago from Texas. He plays also in "Molly of the Movies," "Backstage Wife" and "Rich Man's Darling."

R. Calvert Haws is to become program and production director of WCFL on Nov. 15. Haws was in charge of radio activities at the 1933 Fair and produced Mrs. Roosevelt's last commercial radio series which was aired over CBS.

The following item from Conrad Thibault's Boswell possibly should have landed on Bob Becker's desk: Baritone Thibault first met his bride, Eleanor Kendall, while they were walking their respective dogs on Park avenue.

Herbert Hoover will be heard over the networks at 9 next Saturday evening from New York when he addresses the Ohio society. Title of his address: "A Discussion of the New Deal."

Ellen Cook, Once Aurora Social Worker, Is Dead

Word was received in Aurora yesterday of the death in St. Paul of Miss Ellen Cook, 59 years old, who for seven years was the head of the Family Service association of the Aurora Community chest. Miss Cook later served in a similar capacity in Elgin, leaving there for social service work in New York City. She was employed in the east until she became ill several months ago.

Ends Life with Motor Fumes on 76th Birthday

H. H. Highlands, Gary plumbing contractor, killed himself on his 76th birthday last night by inhaling fumes from his automobile motor in a garage behind his shop at 710 Washington street, Gary. His son, Herbert, found the body after Highlands had been missing for several hours. Police were told that Highlands had been despondent since the death of his wife several months ago.

THIRD YEAR FOR IMPERIAL QUARTET AT LAIN'S...

Since April, 1933, Lain's have included the IMPERIAL MALE QUARTET with all Chapel services, regardless of cost.

Included also, is the Organist and Organ.

Lain was the first in Chicago to make this definite contribution to beautify the chapel service—and our contract with the IMPERIAL QUARTET has been renewed for the third consecutive year.

The IMPERIAL QUARTET is a definite part of the Lain organization—available to all. No other chapel can offer you this well-known quartet.

Original features like the IMPERIAL QUARTET, and Conditioned Air, first introduced by Lain in 1932, have made Chicago's preference for Lain now 20 to 1—twenty times the average volume.

And yet over 63% of Lain's services cost less than $300—35% under $200.

OWEN O'MALLEY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Owen O'Malley, 5856 Forest Glen avenue, veteran Democratic party worker, will be held tomorrow morning in the Queen of All Saints Roman Catholic church, Kilpatrick avenue and Peterson road. Mr. O'Malley died Sunday in the Henrotin hospital. He was 65 years old.

Mr. O'Malley served as a county commissioner twenty years ago and later as a park commissioner of the Sauganash district. He had also been chief deputy clerk of the Superior court and for 12 years assistant forester of the forest preserve.

At the time of his death, Mr. O'Malley was librarian at the corporation counsel's office. His wife, Grace, survives.

Mrs. Root and Daughter Here

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Dudley Root and her daughter, Miss Denyse, who has returned to Chicago to make her debut, as they arrived on the Commodore Vanderbilt yesterday morning. Mrs. Root, formerly Ellen Dudley of Chicago, and Miss Root have been living abroad for some years and this is the young lady's first visit home in several years. They are at the Ambassador hotel temporarily.

Helen Jepson, Thomas Thrill in 'Thais' Roles

"THAIS."

Presented by the Chicago City Opera company in the Civic Opera house Monday, Nov. 11, 1935.

Thais	Helen Jepson
Athanael	John Charles Thomas
Nicias	William Martin
Albine	Mari Barova
Palemon	Norman Cordon
Crobile	Marjorie Livingston
Mirthale	Maria Matyas
Slave	Mark Love

Conductor, Richard Hageman.
Ruth Page and Bentley Stone, ballet.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A spectacular mounting of "Thaïs," with two nationally famous singers in the most important parts, is the Chicago City Opera company's latest achievement. The Civic Opera house was sold out, and an expectant throng watched the debut here of Helen Jepson of the Metropolitan and the return of the great John Charles Thomas for one of his rare appearances.

In addition there were the authoritative conducting of Richard Hageman, a debut by William Martin, and an opulent presentation by Ruth Page, Bentley Stone, and the opera company's ballet.

I am glad that the sequence of the work gave Thomas an opportunity to first display his powers in the austere beauty of the desert scene. A little later the richness and variety of cast and setting might have made it more difficult to concentrate on any single item of excellence.

Advance material about Helen Jepson did not exaggerate her talents. Vocally and histrionically she is magnificent. Her entrance was reginal, and there was no anti-climax when, in two separate acts, she embarked on the task of interpreting two radically different types of emotional experience. That is a difficulty of "Thaïs" [in which the name part changes from gay worldliness to deep mysticism] which has not been given enough attention.

There was a very exciting ovation to Jepson and Thomas at the end of the long duo which takes up the the whole first scene of the second act. Another high point of the evening was the yerning beauty of Thaïs' plea to Athanael that she be allowed to take to her strange new life the little likeness of Eros which Nicias had given her.

William Martin made his debut as Nicias, and turned in quite a polished performance of the Alexandrian dandy. His voice seems light in texture but of pleasing quality. Mark Love brought his rich bass and good stage presence to the part of the churlish guardian of Nicias' door.

Norman Cordon sang the hard rôle of the aged cenobite, Palemon [hard because it comes early in the opera before there is any emotional momentum to carry things along], and Marjorie Livingston and Maria Matyas were grateful to ear and eye as the palace servants of Nicias. Unfortunately I could not hear Mari Barova, as her entrance comes very late.

Ruth Page and Bentley Stone took full advantage of the splendid opportunities offered by the last scene of the second act and filled the pause in the drama's action with a virtuoso bit of ballet.

Word came later to this desk from a scout that Helen Jepson was roundly bravoed at the end of the opera.

In this week of great sopranos Tuesday is Lotte Lehmann's day. She appears tonight as Elsa opposite Mario Chamlee.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra has made a change on the Thursday and Friday programs, dropping the Miaskowsky Symphony in favor of the one in B flat of Chausson.

'King Solomon of Broadway' Is Well Acted

"KING SOLOMON OF BROADWAY."

Produced by Universal.
Directed by Alan Crosland.
Story and screen play by Albert J. Cohen and Robert T. Shannon.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST.

King Solomon	Edmund Lowe
Sheba	Dorothy Page
Pinky Tomlin	Pinky Tomlin
Nikki Bradbury	Louise Henry
"Ice" Larson	Edward Pawley
Uncle Winchester	Charles Grapewin
Roth	Bradley Pace
Murray	Arthur Vinton
Schultz	Clyde Dilson

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Presenting Mr. Edmund Lowe as Solomon McGuire, a wise cracking, quick thinking, agile stepping Broadway night club owner, who loses his establishment, y-clept Solomon's palace, in a poker game.

That is, he is to lose it to the crooks he's been playing with if he doesn't pay up in three days.

A tough character, "Ice" Larson, just out of stir, who has an interest in the place, appears unexpectedly to complicate matters. Pinky Tomlin as orchestra leader and song composer extraordinary, Dorothy Page as a refined, beauteous, and brainy torch singer, and a small dog of uncertain parentage named "Hamburger" are featured as deliverers in chief. Uncle Winchester [Charles Grapewin], relative of an eccentric society beauty and said e. s. b. [Louise Henry], also have a lot to do with the proceedings.

As a whole, "King Solomon of Broadway" hasn't much to offer. But individual performances are excellent and events move swiftly to a finale in which virtue wins a just reward.

See you tomorrow!

SINGERS IN AUDIENCE

The second week of the grand opera season opened last night with the great theater almost filled, just as it was on the preceding Monday night. There were a number of singers in the audience, all anxious to hear the new soprano, Helen Jepson, as Thaïs, including Mme. Edith Mason, who was with Mrs. Arthur Meeker and Arthur Meeker Jr.; Miss Jean Tennyson, who will sing Mimi in "La Bohême" tomorrow night; Miss Mary McCormic, Miss Janet Fairbank, Miss Margery Maxwell and Miss Elsa Hottinger.

An attractive box party consisted of the Daggett Harveys, the Gaylord Donnelleys, Miss Jean Schweppe and A. Watson Armour Jr. Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, Robert F. Carr and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins were together, Mrs. Reed lovely in gold lace with two huge purple orchids on one shoulder and Mrs. Hopkins in deep strawberry crêpe with a bertha of sequins of the same rich color.

Mrs. William M. Collins Jr. was one of the attractive younger women in the audience. She was wearing deep maroon moire. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who sat in the front row with the Marquis de Veyrac, wore black crêpe with very full sleeves and yoke of black tulle, and a wreath of shiny black leaves in her hair.

Among others scattered in the boxes and on the main floor were the George Woodruffs, the Thomas W. Hindes, the Daniel Burnhams, the Samuel Ettelsons, Mrs. Ernst Freund, the William B. Hales, Mrs. Rudolph Ganz, Mrs. Norval Pierce, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, the Laird Bells, the James L. Houghtelings, and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne.

Jack Hylton Will Play for Ball in City

Emerson House Board Wins Despite Obstacles.

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERNATIONAL complications threatening the efforts of members of the board of Emerson house to get Jack Hylton to play for their annual ball have been surmounted, and Miss Lydia Swift and her committee triumphantly are announcing that the British orchestra leader will play for them Dec. 11.

This year the party will be a cabaret supper-dance in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, Mrs. Niblack Thorne, and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins, who went east a month ago to persuade Mr. Hylton to make this engagement, are respectively in charge of reservations, invitations, and publicity, and Miss Virginia Waller and Mrs. Henry L. McIntyre head the ticket committee.

It was not until this last week-end that Mr. Hylton could complete the necessary arrangements with his radio sponsor and the department of labor in order to make these arrangement definite.

Mrs. Fowler McCormick Heads Preview Group.

Mrs. Fowler McCormick has taken over the duties of chairman for the preview moving picture performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" Friday evening, Nov. 22, at the Apollo theater, which will benefit the Olivet institute.

The première promises to draw a fashionable audience for a distinguished group of women is helping Mrs. McCormick. The institute was founded by Mr. McCormick's grandmother, the late Mrs. Nettie Fowler McCormick, in 1914 and has had the attention and interest of the McCormick clan ever since.

Among those serving on Mrs. McCormick's committee are Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr., Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr., Mrs. Robert M. Adams, Miss Peggy Hambleton, Mrs. Evan Evans, Mrs. John Hamline Jr., Mrs. H. G. Peterson, and Mrs. Helen Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Borland and their daughter, Miss Martha Borland, are issuing invitations to a dinner-dance Friday night, Nov. 22, at the Casino which they are giving for three of this season's debutantes, Miss Barbara Stanley, Miss Barbara Hutchins, and Miss Harriet Welling.

The Borlands are not limiting the invitations to members of the debutante set alone, for they are asking friends of their daughters, Martha, who came out last year, and Miss Harriet Borland, who was introduced a few years ago.

Prenuptial Parties for Miss Dorothy Dickinson.

Mrs. Henry K. Gilbert, William A. Little's attractive sister who came out from New Jersey to be an attendant at his wedding to Miss Dorothy Dickinson Thursday, entertained at luncheon and bridge yesterday at the Saddle and Cycle club for the bride-to-be, who is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson. Mrs. Gilbert will remain here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden H. Little, until Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Little will give a luncheon for the bridal party and the out-of-town guests at the Saddle and Cycle on the day of the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson will give the bridal dinner tomorrow night at the Casino. Miss Eleanor Kirkland entertained at dinner and dancing last night at the Blackstone, and Miss Betty Babson will entertain similarly for Miss Dickinson and Mr. Little tonight at the Palmer house.

Debussy Program at Auditorium.

Lovers of Wagner's music will go to the Civic Opera house tonight to hear "Lohengrin," but Debussy devotees will go to the old Auditorium theater for a concert of his music that Rudolph Ganz, distinguished pianist, will give with Mary Garden as commentator. The concert is one of a series on "The History and Enjoyment of Music" which the university college of Northwestern university is sponsoring.

It is doubtful if a more appropriate pair of artists could have been found to talk about "Debussy, the Man and His Music," and to interpret his music than Miss Garden and Mr. Ganz. Miss Garden was Debussy's student and friend, and it was for her that he wrote "Pelleas et Melisande." Mr. Ganz was the first persôn in this country to perform Debussy's compositions for the piano.

After the concert tonight the Raymond Redheffers are giving a buffet supper for the artists and Mrs. Ganz Sketch-book.

THIS story comes from Freeport, Ill. A woman who lives there—I think her name is Mrs. J. W. Burke—was in the throes of a bad dream in which a black-hooded figure was breaking into her kitchen despite her frantic efforts to keep him out. Awakened by her husband, she murmured drowsily:

"You needn't have wakened me. I had a carving knife."

A FEW days ago a woman entered the antique silver department of a Chicago store and asked for old English silver fish knives and forks.

"My dear madam, there is no such thing as antique fish knives and forks," explained the young man in charge. "There were none in existence before the Victorian age."

He went on to explain further. It seems that one day Queen Victoria tasted the fish of the preceding course on her dinner fork and complained of it. After that separate forks for fish came into existence. . . . Or did you know it all along?

MARGALO GILLMORE, New York actress beloved by her intimates as well as her public, announced her marriage to Bob Ross, theatrical director, last Saturday afternoon to Chicago friends by telegram, each telegram a little more waggish than one might expect wedding announcements to be. One of Miss Gillmore's best friends, Alexander Woollcott, was in Chicago at the time, stopping at the Ambassador East.

A LIFE member of the Chicago Art institute went down to see the pictures in the American exhibition that are causing such a row, and while she was there decided she wanted to see again a favorite picture, called "Twentieth of April." Not finding it, she asked a guard, who directed her to another guard. He did not seem to know where the picture was, and turned her over to a third guard. She repeated her query. Instead of telling her what she wanted to know, he began on the history of the painting.

"The artist was Lawrence Mazzanovich, born 1871, and the picture was given the Art institute by the Friends of American Art . . ." he said.

"But I want to know where it is hung?" she interrupted.

"Sorry, madam. I was just musing," he answered dreamily.

TWO drunks were waiting for a Milwaukee avenue car on a recent cold morning. Their coat collars were turned up, nearly concealing their heads. They were in the middle of an argument. William Redmond heard one say to the other:

"Yeh, we look like the "Headless Horseman" all right, but any first year high school kid knows that Irving Berlin wrote that story and not George Washington."

New Lounging Slippers Gay and Different

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Gay, amusing low lounging slippers are as different and just about as exciting as a collection of new hats. Heelless numbers that Aladdin might have worn are made of colorful brocade with high pointed sections that reach well up on the instep, vivid scarlet satin, or striped material as interesting as a bit of brocade. Very flat sandals with laced strips over the toes and half way up the instep in soft glowing and high colored velvets have lacings of silver or gold ending in tassels.

Some all white affairs that appear to be made of thick, luxurious fuzzy white rug material are grand cozy caverns to slip into of a frosty morning, and for the practical minded they clean beautifully. Other white slippers that will make you spend all your extra pennies are of gleaming satin with medium high heels, flippant little square toed models with a band of the fuzzy white material across the instep, and then for color accent, tiny little squares of many colors sprinkled sparingly over the white satin. They're the most cheerful extras in town! Similar square toed slippers can be found in plain colors as well as this confetti-strewn satin idea.

Very frivolous slippers with extremely high heels to be used with your best hostess gowns of velvet and satin and brocade are merely a matter of crisscrossed satin or kidskin straps, some crossed to show the scarlet toes of your newest hosiery and others with the toe sections neatly covered. The high heels are slender and picturesque and are what you need to make you look inches taller and properly to accent the trailing glory of the velvet robe that swirls around the floorline as you walk.

See these picturesque new collections of slippers before you complain that there isn't anything new!

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bowman Graham of Congress Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Corrinne Mackay, to Edwin Joseph Fowler Jr. of La Grange last Saturday evening at the Emmanuel Episcopal church of La Grange.

Beauty Without Tears

your path to beauty? is it littered with boxes of powder that werent quite the right shade... littered with lipsticks that merely made your lips coarse... littered with jars of cream that did exactly nothing for your skin?

one has to experiment but it is rather silly to experiment quite so wildly and so expensively
it is rather unkind to subject your poor face to these violent experiments when elizabeth arden can tell in the twinkling of an eye just what is right
oh so perfectly right
for your skin

it is rather silly to make your path to beauty as long as the roman road
when elizabeth arden
can turn your journey into a grand adventure that is victory and triumph
all the way

'Her Master's Voice' Opens at Studebaker

New Cast Gives Comedy by Clare Kummer.

"HER MASTER'S VOICE."

A comedy, by Clare Kummer, given at the Studebaker theater Nov. 11, 1935, with James Spottswood in the central rôle, under the management of Charles F. Jacob. Stage direction by Charles K. Freeman.

THE CAST.

Queena Farrar	Beverly Younger
Mrs. Martin	Hilda Graham
Ned Farrar	James Spottswood
Craddock	Edgar Henning
Aunt Min	Ann Dere
Mr. Twilling	James Blaine
Phoebe	Maralyn Fink

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

You must know your Clare Kummer to adjust your point of view to "Her Master's Voice," the comedy which brought the Studebaker theater back to the legitimate drama last night. She is a playwright with a fluttering, feminine sense of humor, often expressed in sly, quizzical, eccentric touches of dialog; and when her works are acted by experts in delicate, sub-ironic wit they have a delightful effect. But if not interpreted in exactly the right Kummeresque way, they are likely to seem thin, vapid, and futile.

In New York, season before last, this play had Roland Young and Laura Hope Crews in the dominating rôles and a supporting cast selected by the infallible Max Gordon. Therefore it ran for 224 performances, and Burns Mantle ranked it among his "ten best" of the year.

Certainly no one who saw "Her Master's Voice" at the Studebaker last night would agree with Mr. Mantle's opinion. Its acting, although fairly competent, was not of the "ten best" type. The players could not flutter in the quaint, slightly giddy Kummer style; and under their frank, forthright treatment the piece seemed little more than words, words, words—feminine domestic chatter running in feeble circles. This was, of course, the first performance by a new cast; in another night or two there may be a different story to tell.

The play deals with a case of mother-in-law and aunt-in-law trouble in the household of a meek husband who loses his job in the first scene, his wife in the second, his temper at the end of the first act, and his meekness in the climax. How his young wife, a frustrated singing girl, is carried off by the aunt; how he transforms himself into a man-of-all-work in the establishment of the aforesaid tyrannical relative; and how the intrigue is solved to the satisfaction of all concerned would be difficult to tell in brief synopsis. Miss Kummer's plots are never definite enough to be pinned down in a paragraph.

James Spottswood has the rôle that was written to Roland Young's measure, but does not catch more than a faint echo of the latter's dry drollery. Ann Dere inherits the difficult tradition of Laura Hope Crews as the autocratic and superior Aunt Min, but lacks the bright raillery of that inimitable comedienne. The young wife is prettily represented by Beverly Younger.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

"How should I wear my hair?"

Pullease don't ask us. We'd just love to be a big shot and say that you should do thus, or thus, and feel smug about it. But we can't. Not with any conscience anyway.

All sorts of factors enter into the choice of a hair style. Your own type, for one thing. You may have the face and the figure that would be perfectly all right with curls, but if you're a business woman with the brisk turn of mind such a woman should have you'd better shun curls—or at least save them for your more frivolous moments. Your type, the place, and the time all should influence you when you wonder how you can arrange your crowning glory.

And then, of course, perhaps more important than anything else, there are your own features to be considered. And right here is where the rules for general application will let you down.

Maybe you'll fall for the oft repeated flat rule that the long thin face should never, never be made to look thinner and longer by a center part and hair drawn flat at the sides. But maybe you're the one woman who can break that rule to pieces and get away with it magnificently. We've seen plenty of women of great style who have.

It does seem as though there is an epidemic of flat rules and regulations for hair dressing. We're just telling you we're not giving any or having any. The only way to find the coiffure just for you is to experiment—leaning on your own observations and ideas and getting a competent hair stylist to help out, too.

Dietrich's Movie to Be Withdrawn at U. S. Request

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Albert Dean, publicity manager of Paramount International, said tonight Marlene Dietrich's starring picture, "The Devil Is a Woman," which aroused the indignation of Spain's war minister, would be withdrawn from world circulation at the suggestion of the state department.

"The state department advised Alolph Zukor today to withdraw the film as soon as possible," Dean said. "Spain has set no time limit, but Spanish embassies throughout the world have been instructed to report showings of the picture."

War Minister José Maria Gil Robles of Spain objected to the film on grounds that a café drinking scene "insulted the Spanish armed forces."

Señor Gil Robles had demanded destruction of the master film. Dean said it had not been destroyed.

The Briar Pipe

By Stuart Palmer

SYNOPSIS.

Violet Feverel plans an early morning horseback ride in New York's Central park, after leaving a group of gay young revelers, who plan to continue to a Harlem night club. She refuses to allow her young sister, Barbara, to go with them. Barbara tells her she's sour on everything because of her broken romance.

INSTALMENT II.

A STRANGE DESTINATION.

Violet Feverel struck her young sister across the mouth as hard as she could.

The marks flamed red on white skin. "Some people would say I had that coming to me," said Barbara evenly. She turned and walked swiftly back down the street.

"Babs!" cried Violet Feverel. But the girl did not turn. After a moment Violet shrugged her shoulders. She wheeled and pressed a bell marked "Office" under a faded sign "Thwaite's Academy of Horsemanship—saddle horses boarded and for hire."

There was no answer and she pressed again savagely. Then a mild and drawling voice sounded, close enough to startle her.

"You shore got a fast right hand, Miss Feverel."

She whirled to see a long lean young man attired in blue overalls, who leaned upon the lower half of a divided stable door. He had sandy hair, a face tan as a boot, and a long sad upper lip.

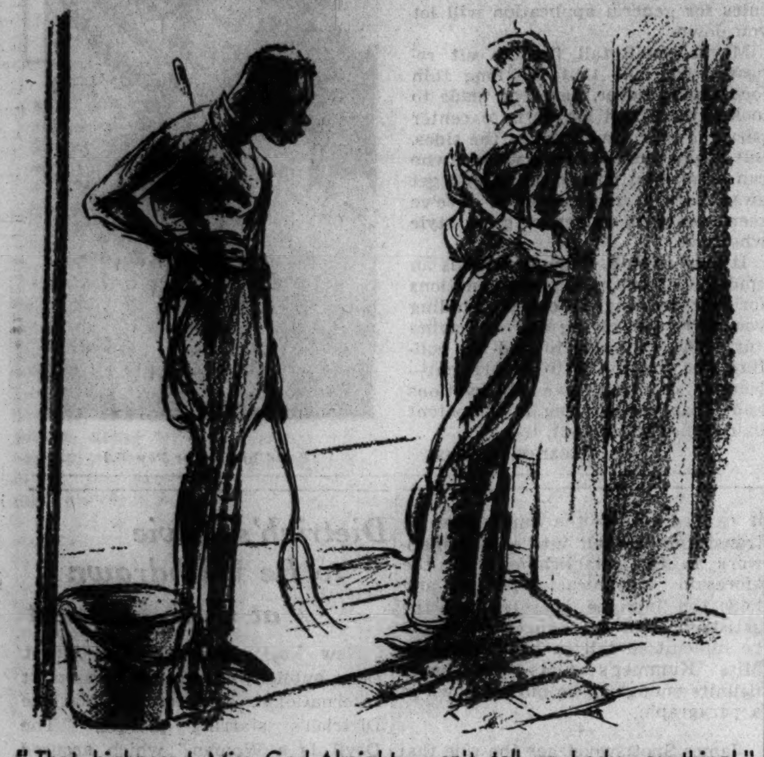
"Nobody in the office yet—no use ringing," he told her. He swung the stable door hospitably open. "But come on in."

Violet Feverel eyed him. "Latigo! How long have you——" Then she broke off short. "Saddle Siwash for me—quickly, please!"

Latigo nodded gravely. "Couple of minutes, ma'am. He hasn't been curried down yet."

"What? Where's that boy Highpockets?"

"Yesterday was Saturday, and that's payday here," explained the other.



"That highnosed Miss God-Almighty won't tell anybody—anything!"

"That colored boy just runs hogwild when he gets a few dollars in his pants. That's why I had to come down and open up the stable this morning—that and because I figured you might be here to take your horse out. You see——" Latigo stammered a little. "You see," he began, "I wanted to explain about the other night. When you asked me up to your place, I sort of took it for granted——" Latigo seized a convenient pitchfork and sighted along the handle as if it had been a rifle. "I naturally figured——"

"So I noticed," said Violet Feverel shortly. Her wide eyes were expressionless.

"I didn't want you to think I was sore or anything," Latigo stumbled on. "I guess I must have looked pretty silly to you and your swell friends. If I'd known, why I'd have fetched along the old guitar . . ."

"Forget it—and get Siwash saddled, will you?" she cut in.

Latigo moved unhappily away down a long corridor. On the last of the box stalls, sacred in this stable to the boarded horses, was a card ornately lettered "Siwash." Latigo opened the gate and slapped roughly at the shoulder of the big red thoroughbred that lay sprawled in the straw.

"Come, on, Si—rustle out of the blankets!" As the big horse reared to his feet, Latigo set about brushing the red-bronze flanks with a currycomb. Siwash danced daintily sidewise upon tiny hoofs, and then nuzzled at the man's shoulder affectionately. After a few moments they went out of the stall where took place a certain routine disagreement over whether Siwash was going to take the bit in his mouth or not. A light saddle and pad were produced and tossed over the big red rump.

Siwash winced and then leaned back and nipped lovingly at the stableman's arm. He nipped again, harder this time, as Latigo tightened up on the cinch.

"You're a plumb locoed cannibal, and you'll come to no good end!" Latigo reached for the stirrup leather and then dropped it suddenly as Violet Feverel came up behind him.

She took the strap in her gloved hand. "I thought so!" she cried bitterly. "Maude Thwaite has been riding my horse, hasn't she?"

Latigo stammered a little.

"Don't bother to lie," she told him. "I'm not blind. I can see for myself that somebody had to have the stirrups taken up two holes shorter than I use them—somebody with short legs." The red mouth curved unpleasantly.

"It must have been Highpockets exercising your horse yesterday," suggested Latigo, in the tone of one who does not expect to be believed.

"Him?" He rides a longer stirrup than I!" She took the strap and snapped the buckle back into its proper place; then crossed behind Siwash and did the same for the off side as Latigo moved too slowly to do it for her.

"When I come back I'm going to have a showdown with Maude Thwaite," Violet said. "I know she wants this horse to give a little class to her stableful of hacks, but she'll get him over my dead body!"

Siwash was led down the concrete runway. On the right peered forth the friendly faces of the boarders, whose owners kept them in the luxury of box stalls, monogrammed blankets, and bins of carrots. Across the way were the dejected tails and the scarred rumps of the hack horses in their narrow cubicles—the horses who were kept here for hire, their mouths slowly growing callous under the pull of every inexpert hand.

Siwash clattered along the concrete, ignoring boarders and hacks alike, for he was a Kentucky thoroughbred and knew it. He lifted his arched neck and perked up his ears at the burst of fresh moist air which swept in through the open door.

Violet Feverel stroked his nose and then mounted with a snap of her heels. Latigo opened the door wide. "Take it carefully today," he advised, as she sent the thoroughbred out across the cobbled driveway. "Those paths are still soggy, and I'd hate to see you thrown."

She did not answer. Latigo stared after her for a moment and then hitched up his pants. He turned suddenly to see a puzzled colorado-maduro face which had thrust itself next to his in the doorway.

Highpockets' voice was thin and querulous. "Mista Latigo, why you tell me to keep out of sight in the stall? If you're sweet on that white gal, why you tell her I'm too drunk to show up here, huh? Suppose she tell Missus Thwaite and I lose my job?"

Latigo began to roll a cigaret as the stableboy ran out of breath. The big eyes widened.

"Say, you better not let that white gal see you smoke in here—she'll tell old Lady Thwaite on you!"

Latigo scratched a match on the seat of his overalls and applied it to the handmade cigaret. "That highnosed Miss God-Almighty Feverel won't tell anybody—anything!" he pronounced with great finality.

As the hoofs of the big red thoroughbred rang out upon deserted Central Park West, a man in a tight dark overcoat moved back into the shadows of a doorway, but Violet Feverel did not notice him. She was looking beyond the park gateway to see the glimmering of dawn in the sky above the towers of Fifth avenue. She drew a deep breath of the damp sweet air, and held it.

Siwash liked the soft feel of the mud underhoof. He tossed his head, wishing as always that the woman who straddled him would lighten the pull of the curb on his mouth. There was something about mud that always made Siwash want to go. During his four years as a racehorse, it had always been on a slow track with better horses floundering and slipping all around him that he had chalked up his victories. It was against mud that the power in those muscled red shoulders really came into play, and the long trim legs thrust hardest.

Siwash broke into an easy canter as his rider leaned forward and gave him a fraction more of the rein. Siwash was a horse that liked to get there—anywhere. Being only a horse, he had no premonition of the strange destination toward which he bore his lovely but heavy-handed mistress this morning.

BY MARY MEADE.

If your emotional depths are stirred by a mention of fruit cake [as whose aren't?] we know one you won't be able to resist, even if you make it with firm intentions to keep it hidden away until the holidays. It's packed with tiny gum drops, if you please, along with a generous fruit supply, and it's perfectly delightful. Moist, yes, thanks to the fruit and gum drops. Flavorsome and colorful it is, too, and full of the richness of chopped Brazil nuts. And you probably will be interested to know that it contains a full two cups of apple sauce for extra flavor and moisture.

However, we'll leave you to your own ecstasying and get directly to the recipe. Its simplicity will endear it to you as much as its fine flavor and texture.

Jubilee Fruit Cake.

2 cups shortening
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
4 whole eggs
2 cups unsweetened apple sauce
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
1 cup seeded raisins
1 cup dates
1 cup Brazil nuts
2 teaspoons each of cinnamon, nutmeg, and allspice
1 cup small gum drops

Cream the shortening and sugar together thoroughly. Beat in the unbeaten eggs, and mix with the apple sauce. Add the sifted flour and soda, and combine with the floured raisins, the dates [cut in large pieces], and the coarsely chopped Brazil nuts. Mix in the gum drops and spices, and bake in a long loaf pan, from 45 to 60 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F.

'Streamline' Dancing Hit by N. Y. Dance Teachers

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Cheek-to-cheek dancing is poor ballroom etiquette, the New York Society of Teachers of Dancing decided today. The society condemned the 1935 fad of "streamlined" dancing as contrary to good taste and conducive to bad posture.

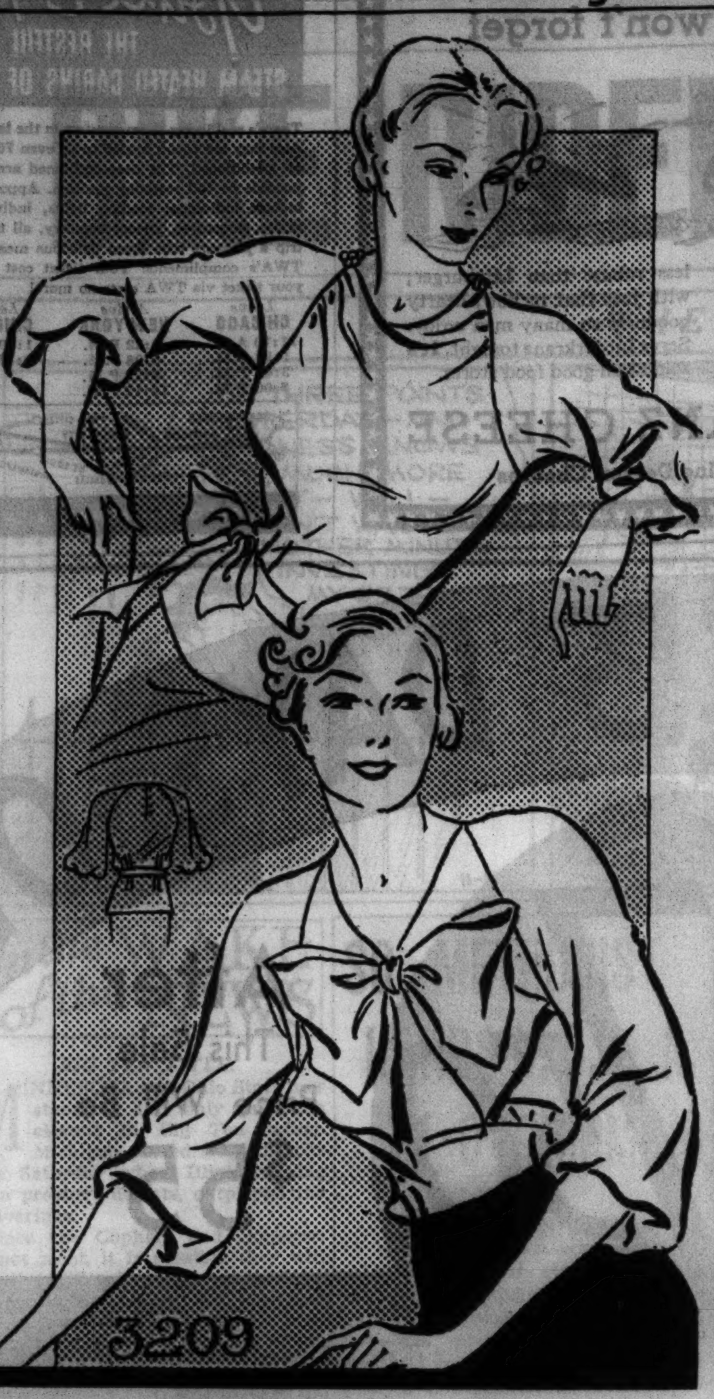
Life Saver for the Budget



WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSE.

The pretty blouse shown today is a life saver for a limited budget. One of the bright silk crêpes, in the color most becoming to you, will be undeniably smart, and the blouse will be ready to fill a dual rôle. It's correct to wear in the office, and then to keep that dinner date at any smart restaurant. The sleeves are cut in one with the shoulders, and the blouse may be "tuck-in," or overblouse, with a choice of necklines.

The pattern, No. 3209, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse with the cowl neckline.

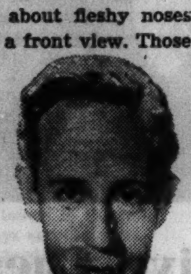
Fleshy Nose Means Ability to See Sham

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

A further talk about fleshy noses and thin noses in a front view. Those who possess the former know how to deal advantageously with people because they can see through pretense. This gives them a self-confidence that helps them carry out a plan once they have been convinced its chances of success are good. During the execution of a scheme they become aware of difficulties in time to take protective measures. They do not have to take people on blind faith, but are able to separate the truly friendly from those who only appear to be.



LESLIE HOWARD.

A man with a thin nose was trying to get ahead in business and had good prospects for a successful career, but somehow his progress was slow. A few steps ahead and a step or two backward. He did not seem to learn when to trust another person. Some did not pay their obligations to him and others disappointed him after having led him to expect coöperation.

He married a woman with a broad fleshy nose. She did not understand his business nor was she interested in the technical part of his work, but she knew a weakness in human nature when she met with it. She did not even have to see people in person. From his description of his experience with an old or a new customer she had an uncanny ability to decide for or against their proposals. Then the husband found that after establishing a habit of talking over things with his wife he, on his part, could tell beforehand what she was going to say. The formation of his impressions into words caused him to look sharper at people and the things he had to judge.

Leslie Howard has that fleshy nose we have been describing in this and previous articles. That means he understands you. His nose hangs down over his long upper lip, which reveals that he is not going to do anything about these things that are wrong with you. He will help you if you ask for it, but still lets you keep your independence. This type can make and hold friends anywhere.

Philip Loring Reeds Moving to Boston.

After twelve years in Chicago the Philip Loring Reeds are returning to Boston, where they lived before coming here. They are leaving Friday, and Mrs. Reed is so busy clearing things out of their house in North State parkway and getting it in order for the group of bachelors that is moving in that she has had to rule out all farewell parties. Philip S. Dalton Jr., Robert Clifford, Prescott Bigelow, Mason B. Wells, Frederick Hall, Andrew Cook, and William Parke will be the new occupants of the house.

Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams is leaving for New York today with Mr. Adams and Mrs. John W. Gary and will not be back until time for the annual sale of the Woman's Exchange next Tuesday at the Blackstone hotel. Mrs. John L. Cochran, first vice president, has taken the place of Mrs. Reed, president of the organization. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Gary will be among several prominent women on the board of the exchange who will be on duty from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5:30 o'clock at the Blackstone next Tuesday.

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins will model negligees in the morning. In addition to these lovely garments, of which the exchange makes a specialty, there will be a room devoted to jams and jellies which Mrs. Columbus Healy is decorating.

Miss Helen Gilbert has returned from four months abroad and is spending a few days with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Huntly H. Gilbert of East Delaware place, before going to the Fortnightly club where she will spend the winter.

Edward H. Lihme and his bride, the former Eleanor Wheeler, are visiting her parents, the Seymour Wheelers, in Lake Forest. They are staying here about a week or ten days and then are going to Florida. Mr. Lihme does not yet know to what city his firm will send him and he will not know for two months.

Veloz and Yolanda to Dance at Ball.

The committee in charge of the ball to be given on Thanksgiving eve in the ballroom of the Palmer house for the benefit of the Misericordia Maternity Hospital and Infants' Home is congratulating itself over having secured the promise of Veloz and Yolanda to dance at the affair. Mrs. William E. Davis and Mrs. William H. Lyman are co-chairmen of the committee.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is entertaining at tea this afternoon at her home, 1244 North State street, for the members of the women's advisory committee [of which she is chairman] in charge of the exhibition of Colleen Moore's doll house to be shown at the Fair for the benefit of destitute and crippled children. The exhibition will be opened with a gala preview Thursday night. Miss Moore, who arrives in Chicago tomorrow morning, will give a tea tomorrow afternoon at the Drake.

Goeta Ljunberg Is Bride of Eddie Wedge, Skater

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Goeta Ljunberg, San Carlo company opera star, had the last word today about her rumored and often-denied marriage to Eddie Wedge, Detroit, Olympics skater. It was "Yes."

To a reporter who called Miss Ljunberg's hotel room, Wedge, who answered the telephone, explained the singer was suffering from an eye ailment and could not answer the phone. He agreed, however, to relay the question—and returned with the reply. It was, simply: "Yes."

FASCINATING GOLD COLOR Comes Back To BROWNISH BLONDE HAIR
WITHOUT BLEACHING
GIRLS, how many times have you heard yourself described as a "near-blonde?" How many times have you looked at your brownish, indefinitely colored hair and longed for the truly, golden, sparkling hair, to which every blonde has a right? Brownish-haired women are learning from millions of natural light blondes the secret of their gold-touched hair. And that secret is Blondex, a unique shampoo-rinse that washes the dullest, drabbest hair 2 to 4 shades lighter in just one shampoo. You'll be delighted when you see how this wonderful new shampoo treatment prevents natural blonde hair from darkening and brings back that gleaming, golden beauty of childhood to even the most faded brownish-blonde hair . . . Try Blondex today. Get it at any drug or department store.

According to CULBERTSON

AVERAGE VS. EXPERT.

I am convinced that there is no essential difference between the average good player and the expert, so far as mental equipment and bridge knowledge are concerned. The real difference lies in the care, patience and thoroughness exercised. There is no problem of bidding or play which the average player is unable to solve; no involved mathematical formulae, no esoteric reasonings are required.

Consider the thought processes of an expert who picks up the following hand: ♠ A Q 10 6 3 2, ♥ none, ♦ A Q J 6 2, ♣ K 8.

His partner, North, deals and bids one club, his right hand opponent bids one heart.

He first attempts to visualize all the the possible high card holdings that his partner can have to justify an opening club bid. To this end, he takes count of the missing aces, kings and queens [jacks are considered only in the most delicate final weighing]. He finds that these honors are missing from his own hand: ♠ K, ♥ A K Q, ♦ K, ♣ A Q.

Since his partner's suit is clubs, it is logical to place him with at least the ace [one trick accounted for]. If the queen is with the ace, counting 1½ tricks together, he must have either the heart ace or both missing kings to bring his holding to the prescribed 2½ honor tricks. It is vital to discover which of these is fact. Now, how to go about it?

Of the several bidding devices at his command, he wisely chooses the one most apt to bring him the vital information of whether his own heart void is duplicated in value by heart strength in North's hand. Thus, he "overcalls in opponent's suit," bidding two hearts.

If the response is two no trump, his future bidding will be tempered by the fear that one of North's tricks is in hearts and will be virtually worthless in the play of the hand. But let us suppose that North bids three clubs, that South bids three spades, and that North raises to four spades.

Now that North has had two opportunities to bid no trump and has not done so, South assumes that he holds no strength in hearts and must, therefore, hold the kings of both diamonds and spades. South uses the 4-5 no trump convention to make sure of the club ace, but actually the inference is quite clear without this precaution. The grand slam is a "cinch."

When to "Insult" a Partner.

West, in the hand shown below, was a gentleman. That being so, he could not bring himself flagrantly to insult the sweet young thing who sat opposite him. Knowing she could properly make only one lead, so that a signal by him would be a horrible "slam" at her bridge acumen, he courteously refrained. It is to be suspected that, in the future, he will be less genteel and more forceful.

Neither side vulnerable.
South, dealer.

SOUTH

♣ A 9 4

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
1 ♠	†Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 N T	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 N T	‡Double [Final bid.]

†West decided that he had a better chance to "trap" for a sizeable penalty than to make a game himself.

‡An excellent gamble. If his partner can stop either hearts or diamonds, the contract should be defeated.

West opened the club king and continued with clubs until the ace was forced out, the dummy following to one club and then discarding two spades.

South played the diamond king and West discarded his lowest heart. At this stage South should have tried to run the heart suit, cashed his ace of diamonds, and accepted defeat of one trick. But he was stubborn, or clairvoyant, and continued with the diamond jack.

Here was where West should have curbed his gentlemanly impulses and discarded the spade ten. But it was so far-fetched to him that if, as it appeared, his partner should gain the lead with the diamond queen, she could lead anything except a spade, he contented himself with another heart discard.

The diamond jack was passed and East's queen won. After great deliberation and to West's horror, a diamond came back! "To put the lead in dummy and protect West's heart king," she later explained.

Result: Four no trump made for score of 300, plus value of game.

Should have been: Down four, 700 points.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: If a player bids six of a suit or no trump, is he entitled to the small slam bonus even if he doesn't say, "I bid a little slam"?

Answer: Most decidedly he is. As a matter of fact, bridge propriety demands a plain six bid, not a "little slam."

Being Liked by People Aim of Popular Dancer

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Eleanor Powell, the sensational young stage and screen star, says that all she would ask of life is to be liked, liked by everybody.

"If I could ever be loved as Marie Dressler was loved by everybody, that would be my idea of a complete life!"

And Eleanor has a suggestion for helping one along the beloved route. "So many people cut themselves off from happy contacts just by picking on something in a person to dislike! You know the kind of people who say: 'O, yes, she's all right BUT.' Or, 'I don't like her BECAUSE——'" Couldn't they, Eleanor asks, just as easily light on something to like!

She's a fine looking young woman, Eleanor. In addition she has something that would put her over in an enormous way even if she'd been born an ugly duckling. A joie de vivre, bubbling effervesence that sets one up and with more of a kick in it than any known cocktail shaker ever poured out. An exhilarating young person, with all the enthusiasm in the world for her work, for people, for the fun of the moment, for everything.

She doesn't drink nor smoke. No prude on either subject, however.

Miss Powell is fairly tall, has chestnut hair and gray eyes, a nice combination. She uses a tan rachel powder and not much other makeup. No daytime mascara. She's an ice cream fiend.

She urges mothers, by all means, to put their girls into dance instructor's hands, even at a sacrifice, if necessary. It's the sure route to poise and grace. And if your daughter wants to be a tap dancer, Eleanor pleads that she be made to take ballet work first.

Ballet dancing is the beginning and the end of all good dance work, including tap. Fred Astaire's incomparable tap dance work has behind it ballet training which accounts for the beautiful finish he gives to his tap steps. Eleanor says, too, that the ballet work offsets the sometimes ugly leg muscle development of tap work. And she should know, being the world's greatest woman tap dancer.

The 8th WOMAN ... her advantage over others

THERE used to be eight million sufferers every month. Today, a million women escape this regular martyrdom to pain. So, why be miserable — or even uncomfortable? Be that eighth woman who lets Midol carry her serenely through those difficult days!

Midol is a tiny tablet, white and tasteless. A merciful medicine which specialists recommend for this very purpose. It is not a narcotic.

Must you favor yourself, and save yourself, certain days of every month? Nature doesn't keep the woman who uses Midol off the links —or from all the other strenuous activities. It means freedom!

This truly remarkable medicine is taken any time, preferably just before the expected pain. This precaution often avoids the pain altogether. But Midol is effective even when the pain has caught you unaware and has reached its height. It is effective for hours, so two tablets should carry you through your worst day.

Remember, the smallest degree of relief you might get from Midol means a great deal to your comfort.

You get these tablets in a trim little aluminum case. All druggists have them—they're usually right out on the toilet goods counter. If you are now a periodic sufferer, why not become that eighth woman who escapes this recurring pain and discomfort? Address a card, now, to Midol, 170 Varick St., New York, and receive a trial box postpaid.

Every Mother Needs a 'Break' in Working Day

She's Wise if She Serves Herself Tea at Four.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Between the dark and the daylight, When the night is beginning to lower, should come a pause in the day's occupation to be known as the Mothers' hour—or rather half hour! [With apologies to Longfellow.]

I wish mothers—I don't mean the lazy mothers who turn their homes and children over to some one else or go gallivanting all the time, for there are wives and mothers who don't earn their keep!—I wish the loving and understanding and conscientious mothers would try being nearly as good to themselves as they are to their children.

Even if you only do it because it makes things go more smoothly, and because you can manage and enjoy your children and your husband more, give a little thought to yourself.

The mother who keeps going from early morning, through dinner time, until the children are in bed is likely to find her good temper and cheerfulness and patience foiled at some point in the day's work—or to find herself "all in" when evening comes. Her cue is to find a spot somewhere in the day when she can let go and indulge herself in a brief combination of rest and change.

She will, of course, choose her own time. But—surveys of one sort and another have shown that 4 o'clock is the zero hour of vitality.

Why not stop bustling around just about then? Fix yourself a tray with afternoon tea, or warm milk and a piece of homemade cake, and perhaps pick up a fluffy but well written story or a book you're enjoying, and just let go for a while.

We have some fully written "Tips for Tired Mothers" now ready. A stamped, self addressed envelope will bring them to you.

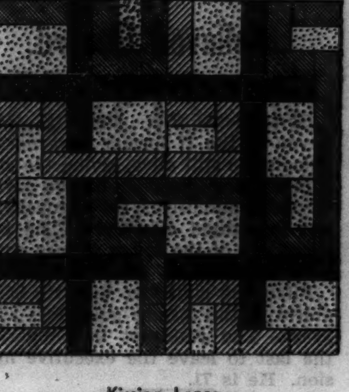
'Kissing Lanes' Pieced Quilt Is Ideal for Amateur

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Kissing Lanes.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Kissing Lanes" is one of the simplest pieced blocks known for the beginner. The pattern was adapted from the famous "kissing stiles" of England. In these stiles or gates the various pathways come together and two persons [a boy and a girl] meeting where the paths join are entitled to one kiss and no questions asked. At intervals these zigzag paths run side by side, hence the effect in the block of straight lines in strong colors and zigzag lines in light color.

7 EX-GOVERNORS OF ILLINOIS ARE LIVING IN STATE

Average Age Now 77; Believed Record.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Seven of the 27 former governors of Illinois are still alive, giving the state a record for longevity on the part of its chief executives that probably is not duplicated elsewhere. The combined age of the seven former governors is 541 years, the average 77.

Fifer, the civil war veteran, is the oldest of the former governors at 95 years. The youngest is Emmerson, the last to leave the executive mansion. He is 71.

Henry Horner, the incumbent, is the 28th governor to be inaugurated since Illinois was admitted to statehood in 1818. He will celebrate his 56th birthday on Nov. 30.

Sketches of Their Lives.

Of the former governors six are Republicans and one a Democrat. They are:

Joseph W. [Private Joe] Fifer, the oldest of the former governors, celebrated his 95th birthday on Oct. 28. In retirement at his Bloomington home, he has been unable to appear at recent political rallies. Enlisted as a private and was wounded in the civil war. Was governor one term, from 1889 to 1893.

Richard Yates, the only governor whose father also was chief executive of Illinois, is 74. He recently returned to Springfield from Detroit, where he lived after his 1932 defeat for congressman-at-large.

Charles S. Deneen, 72, is still active in Republican politics and is practicing law in Chicago. He is regarded as a potential candidate for a second term in the United States senate. Served two terms as governor, starting in 1905.

Dunne Second Oldest.

Edward Fitzsimmons Dunne, the only Democrat among the veterans, is second oldest at 82 years. He still holds public office as attorney for the Chicago board of election commissioners. The only Democratic governor between Altgeld and Horner, Dunne was chief executive for one term starting in 1913.

Frank O. Lowden, 74, the wartime governor, holds a position of national prominence and is still mentioned as presidential timber. Lowden came out of retirement to make the keynote speech to the G. O. P. "Grass Rooters."

Len Small, 73, may again be a candidate for governor. Small served two terms as treasurer and two terms as governor, following Lowden.

Louis L. Emmerson, the last Republican governor, will be 72 on Dec. 27. He apparently has retired from active political life, but from his Mount Vernon home has displayed interest in political affairs.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

The Swine Outlook

November 11, 1935.

MANAGERS of the Tribune farms are adjusting their livestock feeding and breeding schedules to take advantage of better prices resulting from the nation's meat shortage.

Authorities point out that the United States is now short of hogs, beef cattle, lambs, and poultry. This shortage was brought about through a scarcety of feed that forced farmers to reduce their feeding and breeding operations until feed became available from this year's crop. Many charge much of the shortage to unwise national planning of production during the last two years.

Today farmers are faced with the practical problem of planning wisely their individual animal production program to furnish the nation with a liberal supply of meat and at the same time adjust their affairs so they can make a profit on their operations.

Farmers who are not signers of any of the government's adjustment plan are free to produce more cattle, hogs, sheep, and poultry. Increases of all classes of live stock are needed, and satisfactory prices are expected to continue during the next year. There is need for more chickens and turkeys.

Long before the Agricultural Adjustment administration officials announced that in 1936 signers of the government's corn-hog contract would be permitted to raise more pigs Clarence Thurow, manager of the Tribune farm near Yorkville and Plano, decided to increase the size of his breeding herd, which had been reduced because of the feed scarcity last year. He plans to have at least 60 brood sows in his breeding herd this winter. Twenty-seven of these are mature sows that are producing fall and winter pigs for next year's market. Thirty-three more gilts will be selected. From the 60 sows Mr. Thurow expects to produce both spring and fall crops of pigs in 1936.

Since the feeding of new corn invites diseases such as cholera and influenza, Mr. Thurow plans to vaccinate his gilts. For 19 years the Thurow brothers, Clarence and Louis, vaccinated their hogs, but during the last three years they have not had them immunized against cholera. This fall, however, the practice will be resumed as an added precaution under economic conditions that invite an expansion in the production of pork.

Farmers find that hogs offer one of the quickest ways of producing animals that can be readily turned into cash, since sows farrow in 112 days after they are bred and pigs can be finished for market in six months or less.

Aside from the shortage of meat producing animals, this will be a good year for farmers to reëstablish their depleted breeding herds, according to Mr. Thurow, because there is an abundance of cheap feed available throughout the grain and live stock producing section of the central west.

"Not only is there a big supply of feed, but it is of excellent quality generally," he said. "Our corn, for example, is of excellent quality and can safely be fed to breeding animals. We already have gathered many thousands of bushels of corn this fall and find it remarkably free from worms, mold, and other pests."

Lambs have been sorted out on both Tribune farms and the wethers and the ewe lambs not needed in the breeding flocks are being finished for slaughter. At the Yorkville farm the lambs still are on bluegrass pasture and are being fed oats and alfalfa hay. The lambs on this farm will be sold in about six weeks. The ewe lambs will not be mated until next fall, allowing them a year to develop.

Lambs at the Wheaton farm are being given oats, hay, and soy beans. The sheep on this farm are partial to soy beans.

SAVE CAT FROM FLUE, THEREBY BALKING SUICIDE

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The arrival of a police emergency squad in East 91st street brought considerable excitement to the neighborhood today when it was learned that a cat owned by Mrs. Marie Flynn had fallen down a chimney.

The roof of the apartment was crowded with children and adults while the police went about the task of rescuing the cat. While three members of the squad were engaged in rescue work, the other members attempted to prevent one of Mrs. Flynn's boarders from carrying out his threat of jumping off the roof if "something isn't done."

Something was done, however, to calm the agitated cat lover. One of the rescue squad "roped" the cat and hauled it to safety.

BY FRENCH LANE.

When the clock struck 12 last night everything was just dandy at the Bal Tabarin billiard bowl in the Hotel Sherman. A near riot had taken place during the evening while Welker Cochran of San Francisco was rolling up his fourth straight victory. He defeated Allen Hall of St. Louis, amid riotous scenes, by a score of 50 to 41 in 47 innings.

In the forty-third inning Hall had made two points and, to everybody in the capacity crowd of 500 except Referee Charley McElliggot, made his third point in that run. The score for the point was as plain as the nose on Schnozzle Durante's face. Yet the referee called it a miss.

Eagle Eyes Favor Hall.

It was a case of hitting the carom ball or the cushion first. Hall, according to all the eagle eyes draped around the table, hit the cushion first, then bumped into the object ball for the score.

Cochran jumped from his chair and got into position to shoot just as the referee called it a miss. Hall protested vigorously and, for an instant, it appeared he might punch Cochran with one hand and hit the referee with the other. The fans were yelling Moriarty and Blind Tom.

They, too, were threatening to jump over the railing and attack the official. Cowboy Weston jumped up and told everybody the referee was wrong, but that it was an honest mistake. He lifted his hand and shouted: "Be calm everybody!" Soon the belligerents in the audience cooled off. All they demanded as they filed out of the arena was to fire the referee.

Cochran Agrees With Official.

After the questionable decision, 99 of every hundred in the gathering agreed it was off color, although most were pulling for Cochran, Hall failed to make a point. Cochran glanced back over his shoulder and remarked to the ringsiders: "He missed it a mile." Then he played splendid billiards to go on and win in 47 innings.

The final game last night brought together Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago and Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan. Thurnblad was the winner, 50 to 41, in 42 innings, and might this morning be a championship contender had he not lost the first two games played in the tournament.

He Beats the Champion.

Since losing those games Thurnblad had won three games, and, aside from beating Matsuyama, has the scalps of the world champion, Johnny Layton, and Jay Bozeman dangling from his belt. Still he is far down in the standing in sixth place.

He was complete master of the Japanese at every stage of their game.

BIG TEN TITLE.

MINNESOTA and Ohio State now stand as the only unbeaten elevens in Big Ten rating. Michigan passed from the picture Saturday when Illini, rallying from previous defeats, outplayed the Wolverines.

Since the Gophers and Buckeyes do not meet, it is possible they will end the 1935 season as co-champions. Minnesota has yet to meet Michigan at Ann Arbor next Saturday and Wisconsin at home in the final contest. Wisconsin's improvement against Purdue for its first conference victory and history of former conflicts with the Gophers are such factors the Northmen will not regard the title in the bag until they have disposed of the Badgers.

Ohio has yet to play Illinois at Columbus and Michigan at Ann Arbor. Nothing happened Saturday to indicate an upset in those meetings, yet on numerous occasions in the past Illini have doused glamorous Ohio State hopes. Michigan for many seasons seemed to have something on the Buckeyes, so it is strange to find the Wolverines as underdogs, which they surely will be considered in this year of grace.

Besides Minnesota and Ohio State games this coming Saturday the other issues are full of possibilities. Northwestern will play host to Wisconsin. Whether the Wildcats will let down after reaching a climax against Notre Dame is one problem, Wisconsin's improvement is another.

Iowa at Purdue is anybody's battle. While Iowa looks stronger, the Boilermakers will be attempting solace for three straight defeats, something to which the West Lafayette boys are unaccustomed. Indiana out at Stagg field against Chicago is another puzzler. Maroons on their showing against Ohio State will be perked up. Indiana, on the other hand, does many surprising things to dope in a football way.

Why Forecasters Die Young.

Ohio State defeated Northwestern, 28 to 7; Notre Dame defeated Ohio State, 18 to 13; Northwestern defeated Notre Dame, 14 to 7.

And never really cared to stop.
She likes today to dress a doll,
To play with red leaves in the fall.
I hope you'll always stay with me . . .

SO. METHODIST HANDS U. C. L. A. 21-0 TRIMMING

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—With a line strong enough to repulse the burlier ball carriers of University of California at Los Angeles, and a backfield too slick and snappy to be stopped, Southern Methodist whipped the Bruins, 21 to 0, before 37,000 at Olympic stadium today.

Bobby Wilson, a 150 pound half back, was the leader in the attack of the unbeaten S. M. U. team on the Bruins, but the chief ground gainer was 190 pound Bob Finley, the other half, who threw one forward pass that scored a touchdown in the first period, drove over from the 3 yard line for another touchdown in the fourth period, and who, within 40 seconds of that score, crossed the goal line again. The last time he took a lateral pass from Keith Ranspot, end, and ran 48 yards along the sideline to the goal. Maurice Orr place kicked all three extra points.

Cheshire Is Stopped.

The Bruins' ball carrying ace, Chuck Cheshire, was smothered for most of the afternoon in a swirl of red and blue uniforms, while the Bruins were making only seven first downs to the victors' eighteen. Three players were injured, Bill Murphy, U. C. L. A., quarter back; Harry Shuford, Southern Methodist full back, and Walt Schell, U. C. L. A. full back.

Murphy was knocked out after running back a foozled effort at a field goal by Orr in the second quarter. Murphy took the ball on the 4 yard line, ran it back 21 yards, and then was hit so hard he was knocked right out of the game. Shuford was carried off on a stretch with an injured left knee. Schell suffered a torn shoulder muscle.

Long Pass Scores.

Southern Methodist's first touchdown came after Russell intercepted Cheshire's pass on the S. M. U. 34 yard line. Two passes were incomplete and Wilson then faked another pass, but ran around his own right end to U. C. L. A.'s 25 yard stripe. On the next play Finley shot a long pass straight down the field to Maco Stewart, who loped four yards for the score.

Early in the fourth quarter the Mustangs scored again, starting a drive when Raborn recovered Funk's fumble on his own 46 yard line. After sixteen plays, nine of which were passes, Finley went over.

Two of the S. M. U. trick plays in this game demoralized the defenders. One was a double lateral, Burt to Turner to Wilson, which put the ball on the 17 yard line. This was followed two plays later by Wilson's short forward to Ranspot from the 14 yard line. Ranspot lateraled to Turner, who ran to the 2 yard

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

IT was interesting to observe the number of headline writers who figured that Northwestern upset Notre Dame. . . . There are some, of course, who always label it an upset when the Irish meet defeat on the gridiron, but to those who have been watching Northwestern the last few weeks Saturday's result was no upset. . . . Evanston hasn't had such wild Wildcats since 1931. . . . Despite some discouraging setbacks at the outset, Lynn Waldorf's squad has kept its chin up and has been coming along steadily week by week. . . . Against Purdue and Ohio State all the breaks went against the Purple. . . . At Notre Dame it had its share and that's all those Wildcats needed. . . . The Irish will lose no sleep over the result. . . . If they had to lose a game nobody had a better right to victory than Northwestern. . . . It had been 34 years in the making. . . . There are Notre Dame partisans who felt after that brilliant victory over Ohio State that their team was invincible. . . . There was little to substantiate the appraisal. . . . Elmer Layden has an ordinary Notre Dame squad that has been playing hard, intelligent football and for at least 15 minutes played perfect football. . . . Notre Dame reached its height against Ohio State. . . . Every other team is at its peak against Notre Dame. . . .

Members of the Chicago Cubs will be presented with plaques commemorating the team's 21 game winning streak of last September by P. K. Wrigley. . . . Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the University of Chicago thinks that his blocking quarter back, Ewald Nyquist, would make a good end. . . . He hasn't any one else who can do his job as well, so Nyquist continues in his blocking rôle. . . . Shaughnessy also thinks that Jay Berwanger is a better right half back type than left half back, but the same reasons apply. . . . Nyquist plans to continue at the university after his graduation in order to obtain a doctor of philosophy degree in clinical and child psychology. . . . Bo McMillin of Indiana says you can't overlook the fine work of Ted Livingston, his sophomore tackle, who stopped Joe Williams of Ohio State single handed, when you rate the leading tackles in the Big Ten. . . .

Josh McCracken Jr., Pennsylvania back, is a son of the Quakers' star guard of the late '90s. . . . Josh Jr. got his early schooling in Shanghai, China, where his dad was stationed as a medical missionary. . . . Lynn Waldorf sees no reason why colleges should be alarmed at the growth of professional football. . . . Any phase of football, be it professional or amateur, that tends to increase the popularity of the game should be welcomed, he believes. . . . Professional football, he says, is attracting a new group of fans that will in the long run prove helpful to college football. . . . Frank Keogh, American jocky who for 13 years has been riding on European tracks, has returned to America and says he will remain here because he doesn't care about Europe in its present state of war madness. . . . Oregon State players claim Chuck Cheshire of U. C. L. A. is the best running back on the Pacific coast. . . .

Purdue played before more fans in the first five games this fall than it did in the entire 1934 season. . . . Red Dunn, Marquette back field coach, is singing the praises of Buzz Buivid, Marquette's forward passing star. . . . "Buivid has mastered the art of spot passing," Dunn says. . . . North Central college's football team has fallen below the .500 mark only once in the last ten years. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Dartmouth's football team stopped off at Flint, Mich., and worked out in the mud for its game with the Maroons. . . . Robert D. Wrenn, famous Harvard athlete and four time national tennis champion, died in the east. . . . Mars, son of Man o' War, won the $10,000 Walden handicap at Latonia.

STUDENTS CALL OFF CLASSES IN N. U. CELEBRATION

With an all night celebration, which brought many complaints to police, Northwestern university students yesterday commemorated their school's first football victory over Notre Dame since 1901.

The climax came yesterday morning when exuberant students picketed the campus, forestalling classroom activity by preventing those inclined to study from reaching professors. When reports of this activity reached the office of James Armstrong, dean of men, it was announced that as attendance is not compulsory no action would be taken.

Crowd Jams Trafic.

The gay crowd, cheering, singing, and throwing confetti, disrupted trafic on Sheridan road for more than an hour. At times large groups broke away to parade through Evanston's business district, returning with assorted trophies.

At length the students, led by a youth on a swaybacked horse of great antiquity, marched to Patten gymnasium for more cheering and speechmaking.

In the gymnasium Kenneth L. [Tug] Wilson, athletic director; Coach Lynn Waldorf, and several members of the football squad spoke to the students between spells of roof raising cheers. Festivities at the various sorority houses and a dance at the Aragon ballroom marked the quieter part of the day's festivities.

Rout Printer from Bed.

The day's celebration was preceded by a night of jubilation which included cheering and singing in the streets until 4 a. m. During the night students routed Edward Kappelman, former alderman, from bed and escorted him to his printery, where he printed a thousand announcements of the proposed celebration for them.

It was understood that many professors were awakened by telephone calls at 2 and 3 a. m. and were told they need not arise in the morning, as there were to be no classes.

FEAR BADGER POWER

The victory over Notre Dame is a thing of the past as far as Northwestern's football team is concerned. The Wildcats, who hope to better their ninth place position in the Big Ten race, anticipate their hardest game of the year when Wisconsin's revived Badgers invade Dyche stadium Saturday.

Coach Lynn Waldorf summed up the forthcoming game by stating: "If our team lets down Saturday we are in for a licking. I really feel that Wisconsin is in a position to give us our toughest game of the season."

Badgers Hit Stride.

Waldorf was supported by Jack Ryan, one time Wisconsin coach, who

PRO ADMITS ROLE AS A RINGER AT NEW YORK SCHOOL

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Ted Londos, former Oak Park High school student and professional football player, who was reported to be a ringer on the City College of New York eleven, visited THE TRIBUNE sports department late last night immediately upon his arrival from the east and said that he attended the school under an assumed name.

Londos refused to disclose the name he used to matriculate at the eastern institution. Reports that Londos was playing at City college under a fictitious name were printed exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last Saturday morning.

Londos, 180 pound half back, who attended St. Charles, Ill., training school in 1927 and 1928, said he admitted the deception to Benny Friedman, coach of the City college team, shortly after the reports were published in New York. Friedman ordered him off the squad and he returned to his home at 1187 Gunderson avenue, Oak Park, last night.

"After leaving St. Charles I held several jobs and also played professional football," Londos said. "I went east with the intention of entering Columbia university, but instead I enrolled at City college.

"I played in three games this season and was in the lineup against Lowell Textile, Dexter, and Manhattan.

Londos also revealed that he played with the Aurora Yellow Jackets team in 1931 and 1932, receiving $30 for each game. He had a trial with the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional league in 1933, he said, and also went to the Chicago Cubs' spring training camp at Catalina Island in 1930.

"I left Chicago to enter Columbia," he stated, "but later decided to matriculate at City college. While attending City college I served as a model daily for the Art Student league of New York.

Londos disclosed that he had several offers from colleges and universities. An Iowa school offered him $400 a year, almost enough to finance his education, he said.

Leader—Grimm.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The shrill cry, "conspiracy!" last night rose from the big pine saucer at Chicago Stadium where the six day bike race was being whirled through the second night. The claim that they were being ganged on was made by the team of Gerard Debaets and Bobby Thomas after the Belgium-Wisconsin team had found itself in last place, seven laps behind Ewald Wissel and Bill Grimm, the leaders of the race, when the tabulations were tacked on the board at the conclusion of the first 26 hours of racing.

When Al Letourner was forced out of the race Sunday night, followed by Franco Georgetti Monday noon, the experts had elevated Debaets and Thomas to the spots of favorites. You can imagine that there was great consternation when these star gentlemen were thrown to the caboose part of the race.

Protests to Officials.

Not since Gerald Debaets was caught with a soft saddle [an illegal, rocking chair affair] a year ago, has there been such excitement among the artists themselves when Debaets and Thomas went before officials and charged that the German team of Gustave Kilian-Heinz Vopel and the Canadian team of Jules Audy-Torchy Peden were conspiring to thwart the best efforts of Mr. Debaets and Mr. Thomas.

The tail-enders complained that while the four alleged conspirators were jockying them into the ruck the German-American team of Wissel and Grimm was able to steal nine laps between 8 o'clock and 11 o'clock. This mileage lifted them from eleventh place, four laps behind the then leading Peden and Audy, to a one lap lead over the second flight teams. At one time they were three laps ahead of their nearest competitors.

Charge Intentional Spill.

At the conclusion of the afternoon racing, in which 58 laps were stolen, the two teams now charged with being conspirators were in a tie for the lead and Debaets-Thomas were in fifth place, planning on an aggressive evening.

Debaets and Thomas, in their complaint to Referee Kramer, intimated that on one occasion, when they almost had a lap stolen, Kilian pushed Mike De Fillipo into a premeditated spill, thus causing the racing to be suspended and nullifying the near theft of Debaets-Thomas.

When hailed on the carpet the alleged plotters put on babylike expressions and claimed that their feelings were deeply hurt because their sportsmanship had been impugned.

Just Innocent Gents.

It was not even whispered that Wissel and Grimm were suspected of having a part in the wicked schem-

ILLINOIS MAY LOSE SPURGEON FOR OHIO GAME

Back Field Star Has Knee Encased in Cast.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 11.—[Special.] —Hope that Lowell Spurgeon, spark plug of the Illinois back field, will be able to play against Ohio State, was almost abandoned today when it was necessary to encase Spurgeon's injured knee in a cast.

By Wednesday the chances of the sophomore to line up against the Buckeyes will be definitly known, but Bob Zuppke began to rebuild his back field with apparently no idea that the half back will be available. The probable loss of Spurgeon is the last of a series of tough blows which fate has handed the Illini.

Zuppke's maneuvers today indicated he will use Jewett Cole, 144 pound half back, in place of Spurgeon. The job of the coach is to find replacements for Cole. Jack Brogan, 161 pound junior, is a possibility. Brogan was outstanding in the close game which the Illini B lost to Notre Dame's team recently.

Joe Carson, sophomore from Urbana, was another recruit from the B back field who was worked at left half back today, as Zuppke rested the regulars who started against Michigan. Zuppke discounted the possibility that Nelson, Lindberg and Theodore, crippled regulars, might be available.

TWO BUCKEYES HURT.

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A hevay rain today failed to prevent Ohio State's football team from starting preparations to repel the Illinois invasion Saturday. The squad was minus Jumping Joe Williams and Charley Hamrick, half back and tackle. Williams was on the shelf for the first time this year with an injured foot, but is expected to be in shape to play against the Illini. Hamrick's injured knee was hurt again Saturday.

IOWA TAKES REST.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 11.—[Special.] —Coach Ossie Solem canceled football practice at Iowa today after hearing the report of Dr. Bill Payne, medical adviser, that the Hawkeyes needed an additional day of rest before getting ready for Purdue.

Dr. Payne said that four regulars would be forced to take things easy until midweek.

The men listed for an enforced rest were Capt. Dick Crayne, half back; Ted Osmaloski, center; Bob Lannon, end, and Scott Wagner, half back. Crayne's injured foot was stiff, while Osmaloski received a recurrent strain on a pulled leg muscle, and Lannon a minor neck injury. Wagner had a charley horse.

PURDUE BACKS TO BE READY.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.] —For the first time since the season opener with Northwestern, Purdue's regular back field quartet is expected to be in condition and playing together when Purdue faces Iowa here Saturday.

Cecil Isbell, triple threat sophomore ace, who was held on the bench at Wisconsin due to an injured ankle, is expected to be in shape and will start at left half back, with Tom McGannon ready to go at right half back. Either John Drake or Lowell Decker will be at full back and Wayne Gift is the probable starter at quarter back.

Following the upset by Wisconsin last Saturday, the Boilermakers hope to do some upsetting on their own account when they stack up against the Hawkeyes, although Iowa will rule heavy favorites by virtue of its superior record for the season to date.

MICHIGAN HAS HOPES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Apparently having their worst football out of their systems, simply because they couldn't repeat an exhibition as bad as that showed against Illinois, Michigan today started drilling for Saturday's game with Minnesota.

John Smithers and Bob Campbell did most of the passing, though Capt. Bill Renner, Wolverine hero of the Illinois battle, tried a few throws. Renner appeared pretty much used up, the result of his having spent so much of his time making tackles Saturday. He limped and was bothered with muscular soreness in his shoulders. The rest of the squad was in good condition.

GOPHERS TAKE REST.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Minnesota's football team took a much needed armistice while it recovered from bruises. With the exception of Malcolm Eiken, new back field star, who will be unable to do any heavy work this week in preparation for the Michigan game, the Gophers came through Saturday's hard game with Iowa without any serious injuries. Heavy work will be resumed tomorrow, with three days of concentrated practice before the Gophers leave for Ann Arbor Thursday.

IRISH NURSE BRUISES.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Coach Elmer Layden took stock of the Notre Dame casualties today as he prepared to pull the remnants of a battered team together for Saturday's stand against Army at New York.

The first two teams were excused from practice today to nurse their respective bruises and bumps, while eight of the more seriously injured players spent a large part of the day in the training room receiving treatment.

Most of them will be able to play Saturday, if their recovery is normal, Young said. Andy Pilney, star left half back who was hurt in the Ohio State game, may not be able to appear, however.

line while the Bruins were playing tag to find the man with the ball. Finley drove across on three more plays.

After that score Schell ran back Orr's kickoff 22 yards to the Bruins' 40 yard line, where Funk tried a long pass that Ranspot intercepted. Ranspot at once lateraled to Finley, who was off to his second touchdown in less than a minute, a hard run for nearly 50 yards up the side line in which he outfooted two of the Los Angeles players.

Southern Methodist attempted 22 passes and completed 15 for a total of 183 yards. Wilson's chief contributions were runs of 32, 18 and 20 yards from pass formations.

Minnesota May Decide to Eat Football Trophy

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—What to do about a hog, the hide of which is filled with squeals and choice morsels of pork! Floyd B. Olson, governor of Minnesota, now owns the porker, a dude as hog families go, and delivery on the hoof is to be made within the next couple of days.

The hog, a blue blood which had a brother in one of the late Will Rogers' films, has been pitched into sudden fame through no fault of its own. The hog, if objecting to the sudden notoriety, can blame it all on Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa.

Last week Gov. Herring innocently remarked that the Gophers had better not come down to Iowa City with the idea of messing up Ozzie Simmons, star colored back of the Iowa eleven. Gov. Olson first waxed indignant over the declaration and then decided to smooth it all over by offering to bet Gov. Herring one live hog on the outcome of the game. The Iowa executive accepted, and lost.

Now the governor of the state of Minnesota is in the middle on his own bet. But suggestions are piling up in his office. University of Minnesota students are holding out for a pork football dinner, the hide to be mounted and used in future years as a gridiron trophy which might give added incentive to Iowa-Minnesota battles which have been going on since 1891.

Gov. Herring's suggestion is that Gov. Olson enter the animal in the Minnesota Junior Livestock show.

"Enter the animal and learn that Iowa hogs are superior to the Minnesota grade," was one message received by Gov. Olson from the Iowa executive.

Gov. Herring has promised that he will personally conduct the prize porker into Gov. Olson's office before the latter leaves for New York Wednesday night.

Riders Clash as Lead Shifts in Bike Race

ing. It was, however, intimated that they are just a couple of guys who might safely be permitted to ride their heads off until such time as Kilian-Vopel and Peden-Audy decide to put on the screws with DeBaets-Thomas out of the picture.

Track officials, while they noticed that the two accused teams were on friendly terms, found no evidence of conniving or deliberate obstruction of trafic. However, they warned the riders to mind their pedals with great care. The warning promptly livened up the performers, especially Peden and Audy, who rode for dear life throughout the midnight sprints while the crowd cheered lustily.

The second night of racing attracted 8,000, some 6,000 fewer than were at the opening festivities. Weather was blamed for this and also for the fact that those who did brave the elements, once in the big scarlet hall, were reluctant to leave. There was considerably more than a quorum present when the event went into the third day.

During the time Wissel and Grimm were making their big rise the entire cast gained 113 laps, making the total for the race 195. There were four major spills during the evening.

Results of 1 a. m. sprints:

1—Kilian, McNamara, Hill, Ritter.
2—Journey, Peden, Walthour, Grimm.

Ethel Arnold Signs Contract for Pro Tennis

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, Los Angeles tennis player who figured in America's victory over England last summer in the Wightman cup play, became a professional today under contract with Promoter Bill O'Brien.

Mrs. Arnold, who has ranked twice in the nation's first ten, will make her professional debut Jan. 11 in Madison Square Garden against a rival yet to be named.

O'Brien, who already has Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, Lester Stoefen, and George Lott under contract, is reported negotiating with Jane Sharp of Pasadena, national indoor champion, to make a tour with Mrs. Arnold.

Mrs. Arnold is the first woman player to enter the playing professional ranks since Suzanne Lenglen and Mary K. Browne took the plunge in 1926 to go on the road with Charlie Pyle's court circus. She first attracted national attention in the 1929 championship meet. She reached the quarter-final round and was defeated by Marjorie Morrill of Boston.

Hawks Decide Red Wings Are Team to Beat

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.] —Manager Clem Loughlin of the Chicago Blackhawks sent his players through another hard workout today at the Olympia rink in preparation for their first game with the much strengthened Detroit Red Wings here Thursday.

The Blackhawks watched the Red Wings in the overtime 1-1 game with the New York Rangers last night and to a man were convinced that the Detroit aggregation will be the team to watch in the United States section this season. The acquisition of Marty Barry from Boston, Hec Kilrea from Toronto, and Bowman, Howe and Kelly from St. Louis, in the opinion of Manager Loughlin and the rest of the team, has made the Red Wings formidable contenders for the title.

Loughlin intends to send his charges through two more intensive drills tomorrow and Wednesday, not only to toughen them for the Detroit encounter but also to keep them in condition for their second home game, which is booked for the Chicago Stadium next Sunday with the New York Rangers.

Burt Shotton Will Manage Columbus in '36

Columbus, O., Nov. 11.—(AP)—George M. Trautman, president of the Columbus club of the American association, announced today that Burt Shotton, 51, manager of the Rochester club of the International league, would pilot the local club next season. Ray Blades, manager of the Columbus team the last three years, will manage Rochester, Trautman said.

After fifteen years of professional playing, twelve in the majors as an outfielder, Shotton was associated with the Philadelphia and Cincinnati National league clubs as manager or coach before taking charge at Rochester at the half-way mark last season.

PACKER VICTORY OVER LIONS IS COSTLY; 4 HURT

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Four Green Bay regulars were injured yesterday as the Packers overwhelmed Detroit to maintain their leadership in the National Professional Football race, but the club physician stated tonight that the entire injured list, with one exception, would be cleared up in time for next Sunday's game at Detroit.

JOHN JACKSON IS NOMINATED FOR U. S. G. A. HEAD

Wood Named to Take Over Vice Presidency.

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—John G. Jackson of New York will become president of the United States Golf association at its next annual meeting to be held early in January. Moving up from the post of vice president, he will succeed Prescott S. Bush of Greenwich, Conn., who has held the office for the last year. The choice of Jackson became known today when the report of the nominating committee was announced.

R. Arthur Wood of Chicago, former president of the Western Golf association, has been nominated to fill the place formerly occupied by Jackson as vice president.

Other Officers Same.

Aside from these two changes the governing body for 1936 will be the same as it was during 1935. Archie M. Reed of New York remains a vice president; Frank M. Hardt of Philadelphia, secretary; Harold W. Pierce of Boston, treasurer, and Morton G. Bogue of New York, counsel, a position formerly occupied by Jackson.

There will be only one change made in the executive committee, Jess W. Sweetser of New York, former United States and British amateur champion, taking the place of Bush, who will retire from membership on the committee.

With the naming of Sweetser, the committee will have three former national champions. Others are H. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., and Harrison R. Johnston of Minneapolis.

Blossom on Committee.

Other members, in addition to the five officers and the three ex-champions already mentioned, are George W. Blossom Jr. of Chicago, Edward L. Cheney of Cleveland, Charles L. Dexter of Dallas, Paul P. Farrens of Portland, Ore., and Perry E. Hall of Philadelphia.

The nominations were made by a committee headed by Rodman E. Griscom of Philadelphia, J. R. Monroe of East Orange, N. J.; Malcolm Farmer of New Haven, Conn.; Norman B. Freer of Chicago, and Frederick Snare of New York.

Graduate of Columbia.

Jackson is a native of Middletown, Conn., where he was born on the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday in 1880. The new president is a graduate of Columbia and the Columbia law school, completing his academic work in 1901, and his law course two years later.

While at Columbia he was a member of the golf team for three years and was also on the football squad, serving under George Foster Hanford when the gridiron game was revived at Morningside Heights.

OLYMPIC SKATE STAR CONFIRMS HIS MARRIAGE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Eddie Wedge, 26 year old member of the American Olympic ice skating team, today confirmed reports of his marriage to Goeta Ljunberg, San Carol company opera star. They were married in Chicago. The report was printed exclusively in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on Nov. 1.

"Sure, we're married," Wedge said.

Miss Ljunberg, who is appearing at a Minneapolis theater for a week, had denied the reports several times.

BEARS HOME TO BATTLE GIANTS

Halas Satisfied with Eastern Showing.

Satisfied with the team's remarkable showing on its eastern invasion and confident that it will keep clicking, Coach George Halas led the Chicago Bears into town last night from Boston, where the Bears routed the Redskins, 30 to 14, Sunday afternoon.

Immediately upon their arrival Halas ordered the players to rest and today they will make preparations to entertain the New York Giants, who they meet at Wrigley field Sunday. A last half rally enabled the Chicagoans to defeat the Giants, 20 to 3, in their first meeting at New York.

Halas Looks at Standing.

Halas looked at the steady rain which drenched Chicago yesterday and settled down to peruse the present National Professional league standing. The Bears now are in second place in the western division with five victories and two defeats, a game behind the leading Green Bay Packers.

"The outlook was as bad as our weather," Halas remarked, "but it is getting to look a little brighter. We can't afford to lose a game if we are going to win the western division championship again. However, the team showed considerable improvement in the east."

Cardinals Also Rest.

The Bears' city rivals, the Cardinals, also rested yesterday following their 12 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles at Wrigley field Sunday before a small crowd which watched the muddy battle in semidarkness. Six players on the injured list saw action against the Eagles.

The injured members of the squad, including Mike Mikulak, hard driving full back, and Capt. Lou Gordon, giant tackle, will not see much work this week, according to Coach Milan Creighton, but probably will play against the Brooklyn Dodgers at Brooklyn Sunday.

Harvard Beats Princeton, Yale in Cross-Country

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Led by Capt. Bob Playfair, who repeated his winning performance of last year, Harvard defeated Yale and Princeton in their annual triangular cross country meet today. Harvard's score was 25, while Yale and Princeton wound up with 30 each.

Battered Maroons Start Scheming to Beat Hoosiers

Battered after their valiant stand against Ohio State, Chicago's Maroons gathered at the Midway fieldhouse yesterday to prepare for another contest which promises to be tough for them, against Indiana at Stagg field Saturday. The game will be the sixth successive home contest for the Maroons, and Capt. Jay Berwanger's final football game at Stagg field.

Omar Fareed, sophomore right half back who became a regular only last week, was in Billings hospital yesterday as the result of a chest injury sustained in the Ohio State game. Doctors said he may be able to play against the Hoosiers. If he is unable to play, Ned Bartlett or Adolph Schuessler will replace him. Coach Shaughnessy has been banking heavily on Fareed's adroitness to provide the oil in the machinery of the Maroon back field.

Berwanger Takes Beating.

Berwanger also is suffering from a variety of aches and bruises, but should be in fair shape within a few days. The Maroon captain had one of his best days against the Buckeyes, averaging 10 yards a try in 13 times carrying the ball, but had to do even more work than usual since he was returned to the front line of the secondary on defense. Midway fans believe that his 85 yard touchdown run against Ohio was the most brilliant of his many exploits.

Although deprived of a spectacular upset victory by the last quarter rush of Ohio State's better manned squad, the Maroons were not displeased. Coach Shaughnessy had particular words of praise for two of his linemen, Merritt Bush and Gordon Petersen. He indicated that Fred Lehnhardt, sophomore back, will be moved to end on offense this week, replacing Bob Perretz. Lehnhardt will back up the line on defense.

INDIANA IN TOP SHAPE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Emerging from the Maryland game with only one slight casualty, the Indiana university football squad today was pronounced in its best physical condition of the season by Coach Bo McMillin as preparations were started for the Hoosiers' annual battle against Chicago at the Midway Saturday.

Roy Eads, half back, received a minor leg injury in the victory at Baltimore, but is expected to be ready for the Maroons. McMillin began laying defensive plans designed to stop Jay Berwanger after Coach E. C. Hayes, who scouted the Chicago-Ohio State game, returned with alarming accounts of the ball carrier's prowess. Hayes termed Berwanger's 85 yard touchdown run a "supreme example of great individual effort," and said the Maroon star must have traveled 125 yards as he feinted and fought his way down the field.

Tackling and blocking received special attention as the Hoosiers drilled in the field house because of rain. McMillin warned the squad that clean hard tackling is all-important this week-end. He was pleased with the performance of his pinch-hitting sophomores, Obenchain and Schaefer in particular, who came through in the last five minutes to win the Maryland game by catching long passes.

MICHIGAN STATE LEAVES TO PLAY LOYOLA ON COAST

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Coach Charley Bachman and a squad of 33 players left this afternoon for Los Angeles, where the Michigan State team will meet Loyola Saturday in the last game of the season for the Spartans. This is the longest trip a Michigan State football team ever has taken and is the first time the Spartans have played on the west coast.

The team was forced to leave without a practice session after losing a hard fought game to Marquette last Saturday. The team will arrive at Tucson Wednesday afternoon and will be met there by Mike Casteel, who scouted the Loyola team last Saturday. A workout is scheduled for Thursday morning at Tucson, after which the team will go on to Los Angeles. Friday afternoon the squad will work out at Gilmore stadium in Los Angeles.

BATTAGLIA STOPS PAUL PIRRONE IN FIFTH ROUND

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Frank Battaglia, Canadian middleweight, stopped Paul Pirrone, Cleveland, in the fifth round of a fight tonight. Pirrone weighed 161 pounds, three more than his opponent.

The bout was a free slugging affair. Pirrone was down five times and Battaglia hit the canvas in the third without a count.

Pirrone took an eight count in the first round and was saved by the bell at the count of six in the third. In the intermission after the fifth his seconds announced he could not come out again because he had hurt his side in a workout last Saturday and was unable to proceed.

ALFALFA BILL'S STILL IN FORM

Refuses Son's Bid to a Football Game.

Stillwater, Okla., Nov. 11.—(AP)—A son's plea failed tonight to make a football enthusiast out of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray—loud spoken critic of collegiate athletics during his turbulent governorship of Oklahoma.

The son, Burbank, engineering student at Oklahoma A. and M. college here, asked his father to attend "a football game here Saturday afternoon, for which the dads and mothers have been specially invited. I know what you think about football games, but, gee, couldn't you come, anyway?"

Business Is Business.

With characteristic bluntness, the former governor said he would not be present.

"What business have I got there?" he turned the question when asked if he would attend. "It doesn't make any difference if I have a son in college. I can't afford to quit my business to attend a blowout."

William H. Murray's present business is tilling his farm on the banks of Yashau creek near Broken Bow, and running his newest project—The Association for Economy and Tax Equality.

Apparently He Dislikes Games.

His antipathy toward college football was expressed in a number of verbal broadsides when Alfalfa Bill was governor. "There's too damn much emphasis in our colleges on footballs, basketballs and highballs," he shouted once as he cut appropriations for state schools.

"I'll never attend a football game between any of our state colleges," he asserted, just before he ordered out the National Guard in 1933 to "check up" on gate receipts of the annual University of Oklahoma-A. and M. college game that year.

CANADIENS OPEN SEASON TONIGHT WITH RANGERS

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The Montreal Canadiens will make their National Hocky league debut against the New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The Rangers started their league campaign by playing a 1 to 1 tie with the Detroit Red Wings before a crowd of 11,000 at Detroit last night.

Name Playing Fields for Prep Semi-Finals Saturday

The sites of the two semi-final games for the Chicago Public High School league football championship were announced yesterday by A. H. Pritzlaff, director of athletics. The winners in the contests Saturday will play for the league title on Nov. 23, probably at Stagg field.

Lindblom, central section champion, and Marshall, winner of the west division crown, will meet at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, while Schurz, north side titleholder, will oppose Parker, south section champion, at Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue.

Teams Appear Equal.

Marshall is the only team of the quartet which has tasted defeat in league competition, losing to Austin, 14 to 13. However, the other teams have been tied. All teams appear equal on the basis of their performances in sectional play, and the games should prove to be the most interesting playoffs in the history of the league.

Lindblom, winner of five games and tied by Phillips, is defending champion. It won the title last year by defeating a tricky Fenger eleven and went on to capture the city championship, triumphing over Leo, Catholic league titleholder, 6 to 0.

Lindblom's hopes to repeat last season's victories depend on a team which has rolled up 82 points in six games to their opponents' 25. Marshall piled up 85 points and was scored on twice.

Leo Seeks Division Title.

Leo will attempt to gain the east division championship of the Catholic league against De La Salle Sunday. By defeating De Paul last Sunday, Leo took first place with five victories and one tie.

Weber and St. Michael remained in a tie for the cellar position in the west section of the Catholic league by battling to a 6 to 6 tie at St. Philip field yesterday. Both teams have lost four games and tied one. Lineup:

WEBER [6].		ST. MICHAEL [6].

LITTLE WOLF PINS SONNENBERG ON COLISEUM MAT

Chief Little Wolf, Colorado's challenger for heavyweight wrestling honors, defeated Gus Sonnenberg, Boston, former champion, with an Indian leg lock in 18 minutes and 52 seconds last night at the Coliseum. The accomplishment earned Wolf a second shot at Champion Danno O'Mahoney's crown here this season at Chicago Stadium Nov. 25. Man Mountain Dean, 320 pound wrestler, threw Big Bill Beth, Texas, in 3:37. Ray Steel and Jim McMillen wrestled 30 minutes to a draw. Hans Steinke and Olaf Oleson also drew in 30 minutes. Andy Raschier beat Pat Murphy.

MULLINS WINS FROM VARNER IN 10 ROUND BATTLE

Hoosier Boxer Hangs Up 17th Straight.

Winfrid [Moon] Mullins, Vincennes, Ind., 126¾ pounds, scored his seventeenth consecutive triumph by beating Claude Varner, Los Angeles, Cal., 128½, in the ten round windup of the boxing show last night at Marigold Gardens. Al Nettlow, out of action several weeks because of a cut left eyebrow, whipped Davey White, Chicago, in the five round semi-final. One of White's right swings reopened the old injury in the third round.

Jimmy La Grone, Des Moines, Ia., beat Sailor Born; Bobby O'Dowd defeated Bob Ritchie, and Frank Vogel, Rockford, and George Bittner drew in four round preliminary battles. Chuck De Franco scored a four round technical knockout over Joe Kelly.

Sammy Mandell, former lightweight boxing champion, slipped into town from Rockford yesterday and signed for a ten round bout between his welterweight protégé, Billy Celebron, and Lou Halper, Newark, N. J., at the 124th Field Artillery armory Nov. 23. The show, sponsored by the Fifth Ward Democratic organization, is being arranged by James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis, Chicago Stadium matchmakers. It is a Christmas charity show.

Walter Roxy, who won a strong claim to the light heavyweight wrestling title when he defeated Charles [Midget] Fischer at Detroit recently, will head Promoter Fred Kohler's show at Merry Gardens tomorrow night. His opponent will be Jack [Bad Boy] Brown, Shreveport, La. Supporting matches will bring together Bill Kief, Cincinnati, and Charles Grubmyer, Clarence Smith and Bob Roberts, Jim Landis and Ken Fenlon, and Ed Van Herrick and Faro Renaldi.

King Levinsky, north side heavyweight boxer, has gone to St. Louis, where he will meet Ray Steele, wrestler, in a mixed bout at ten rounds one week from tonight. All rules of the match have been agreed upon except the one concerning whether or not Levinsky will have to wear the regulation boxing glove. Harold Steinman, manager of Levinsky, intimated yesterday that at a conference at St. Louis Thursday he will veto the gloves in favor of hand bandages and tape.

A boxing show in honor of dads of Loyola university students will be offered Nov. 20 at the school gymnasium in conjunction with the second monthly intercollegiate carnival night. Nestor Bruggman, welterweight representative of the Catholic Youth organization professional boxing department, will clash with George Engel, Plymouth, Ind., in the main event. Other matches involve members of the varsity boxing team. These matches, which will be refereed by Jerry Hefferman, boxing coach of the school, have been arranged as follows:

Art Baptist vs. Charley Eulo, 126 pounds; Emmet Molloy vs. Bill Herliky, 135; Jack Schneidwind vs. Dennis Molloy, 147; Robert Slattery vs. Robert Denkewalter, 147; Fred Lindenfeld vs. Matt Egan, 160; Charles Jasiel vs. Ed Macjiewski, 160.

Davey Miller, member of the Illinois boxing commission's refereeing staf, will present motion pictures of major heavyweight fights, which include those involving Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, Primo Carnera and Max Baer, and Carnera and Joe Louis.

U. S. ARMY RIDER WINS TITLE AT NATIONAL SHOW

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The stirring strains of the Star Spangled Banner reverberated through huge Madison Square Garden again tonight as Lieut. W. Curtis of the United States army equestrian team and his lightly regarded mount, Don, fought their way through two jumpoffs to win the international individual military jumping championship at the national horse show.

Given only an outside chance to turn back the officers and horses of six nations, Lieut. Curtis and his big bay gelding emerged victorious after a battle in which the Canadian combination of Capt. Churchill Mann and Peggy McNeil furnished the most stubborn opposition.

N. U. Victory Celebration Halts Classes

has been scouting the Badgers all season for the Wildcats. Ryan told the Northwestern coaching staf yesterday that he didn't believe that any team in the conference could have beaten the Badgers last Saturday.

"Wisconsin has had a potentially strong team all year," Ryan said. "Apparently the team has just found itself and is beginning to play the ball that was expected of it."

A half hour workout in sweat suits constituted the Wildcats' practice yesterday. Before the drill the team viewed motion pictures of the Notre Dame game. Serious preparations for Saturday's game will begin today.

Papich Out for Season.

Sam Papich, veteran tackle, sustained a knee injury in the Notre Dame game that will keep him out of the lineup for the remainder of the season. Papich has been troubled with the same knee all season and Saturday was the first time he had started a game this year.

Other members of the squad came out of the contest in good physical shape. Bob Swisher, who has been bothered with a leg injury for several weeks, played briefly against Notre Dame and is expected to be ready for action Saturday.

INJURED STARS RETURN

Madison, Wis., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Having survived the Purdue game in good physical condition and with their spirits buoyed by the first victory of the season, Wisconsin football players this afternoon began practice for the Northwestern game at Evanston Saturday.

Coach Spears excused the players who participated in the Purdue contest from heavy work as he gave the reserves a scrimmage against Northwestern plays with the first stringers looking on.

Jimmy Wright suffered a wrenched knee for the only Wisconsin injury against Purdue, but Trainer Bill Fallon thought this afternoon the stocky guard would be ready for the Wildcats.

Football Toll Is Highest in Last Five Years

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Five deaths during the last week sent the nation's 1935 football toll to 34—the highest it has been since 1931 when 49 fatalities resulted in a sharp revision of the rules—a survey by the Associated Press revealed today.

Complete data on all fatalities is lacking, but more than half the casualties already have been charged directly to football by Floyd H. Eastwood of New York university, who compiles injury and death statistics for the American Football Coaches association and the rules committee of the N. C. A. A.

Sandlot Prep Deaths Mount.

Although most schedules will not be completed for almost three weeks, this year's total thus far is almost 40 per cent in excess of last year, when the toll for sandlot, athletic club, high school and college was 25. The latest victims included two sandlotters and one each from club, high school and college ranks.

Statistics, representing a composite of records compiled by the Associated Press and Eastwood, show that sandlot and high school deaths have jumped nearly 70 per cent over 1934. A year ago there were four sand-lot and 13 scholastic deaths; this year the figures already are9 and 19, respectively.

Fewer fatalities have occurred on college and athletic club gridirons this year. Both divisions have had three victims thus far—a decline of one in each.

Here Is Five Year Record.

Here is a record of fatalities for the last five years, listed according to classification:

	Sand-lot.	A.C.	H.S.	Coll.	Tot.
*1935	9	3	19	3	34
1934	4	4	13	4	25
1933	8	4	13	2	27
1932	11	6	12	3	32
1932	18	3	20	8	49

*Season unfinished.

Sectionally, 11 deaths have been reported from the east; 10 from the midwest; four each from the south and far west; three from the southwest and one each from Canada and Honolulu.

Eastwood's report for the 1931 season listed the total as 49, but he explained that only 33 deaths could be directly attributable to football—the others being of a questionable nature. At the start of the 1935 season the N. Y. U. instructor in education said he did not expect the death toll would be any higher than last year.

Rich Pimlico Handicap Won by Ned Reigh

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Scraping the fence with one boot, and staving off the staggering Wise Duke with the other, Jocky Wayne Wright brought Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Ned Reigh through the Pimlico stretch this afternoon to win the $11,220 Walden handicap before 15,000 at Pimlico. It was a popular victory with a holiday crowd which made the son of Neddie second choice in a field of ten, from which Jean Bart, Snark, and Transporter had been scratched.

At the end of the mile and a sixteenth Ned Reigh was a length before Challephen, which was up in the last stride to make the place from Wise Duke. A half length farther back Memory Book, the favorite, crossed the line after running a gallant race from a rearguard position. He did not take to the heavy footing gracefully, but ran a fine race nevertheless.

Winner Carries Top Weight.

The result was no surprise to those who had seen the Kilmer colt win the Junior Champion at Aqueduct, and then run a winning race after being off badly in the Pimlico futurity, in which he landed third eventually.

The winner carried top weight of 116 pounds and proved he was the best horse today. Memory Book had up only 114 pounds.

POLISH BEAU WINS.

Arlington Downs, Tex., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Polish Beau, owned by the Corsicana stable, outlasted a field of eight starters today to win the $2,500 added Armistice day handicap.

The horse, carrying 112 pounds, with J. Pollard up, went the six furlongs in 1:14 over a slow track to finish a head in front of C. A. Peck's West Main. Mrs. E. McCaun's The Darb was third. The victory was worth $2,240 to the Corsicana stable.

The winner paid mutuels of $12.80, $5.80 and $3.80 for each $2 ticket, West Main paid $4.30 and $3.20, and The Darb, $4.10.

Erebus, in the second, and Transen in the third, won to pay a daily double of $25.70 for $2.

Tanforan Track Closes; $2,727,551 Bet in 26 Days

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Tanforan race track at San Bruno finished its fall meeting today with the biggest crowd in the track's history, which brought pari-mutuel returns for the 26 days to $2,727,551, it was announced. Daily average play was $104,905. Today's total was $204,334, the heaviest for any single day in the meeting. Total attendance was 200,056.

GOVERNOR POURS A LITTLE OIL ON GRIDIRON WATERS

Olson of Minnesota Calms Iowa Situation.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

What the governor of Minnesota told the governor of Iowa last week just before Minnesota whipped Iowa, 13 to 6, relieved a tense situation, which at the moment threatened athletic relationships between the universities. It also permitted the governor of Iowa to escape from the predicament in which his own outspoken thoughts had mired him with no greater loss than the advertising value accruing from delivery of an Iowa prize pig to the governor of Minnesota in payment of a wager on the Hawkeyes' gridiron fortunes.

In this fashion oil was poured on troubled waters and no one now has the slightest desire to terminate a football rivalry which drew some 50,000 paying customers. Such profitable rivalry is mighty difficult to find and it has been only a few years since Iowa, like several other sister schools, was having no luck locating the money to keep up payments on its nice new stadium. Only the most pedantic fail to recognize that in addition to a good football team, a university must have a worthy rival whose value is that it is hated cordially.

Simmons Center of Rumors.

Ever since Minnesota's mighty men of 1934 whipped Iowa, 48 to 12, and in so doing gave a decided impression that if they were not mistreating Iowa's Ozzie Simmons purposely, they certainly were not pulling their legal punches, Iowa had been rife with rumors of retaliation. No professor, coach, or player of Iowa ever made an official statement, but these rumors, strangely enough, reached Minneapolis where they were regarded as a direct insult to the spirit of sportsmanship.

It was particularly irksome to Bernie Bierman, the Minnesota coach, and his athletic director, Frank McCormick, who probably felt they were indirectly charged with teaching unfair tactics, and since Minnesota again was meeting Iowa on its home gridiron, they may have believed that the situation might get out of hand. There have been occasions when the spectators have insisted on taking part in settling intense rivalries without reference to the football code of rules.

Officials Get Instructions.

The press studiously avoided discussion except to mention that no charges ever had been made and that the boys from Minnesota and the boys from Iowa undoubtedly would settle their game on the gridiron and neither wanted nor would accept any help from rabid partisans. It is true that the officials selected for the game received advice from the commissioner of athletics for the Western conference that they should be careful to observe any infractions of the rules and inflict penalties immediately.

Enter the governor of Iowa, Clyde Herring. If remarks credited to him on the day of the game are correct, he certainly focused attention by observing, in effect, that if anything untoward happened to the person of Ozzie Simmons the good citizens of Iowa would know just how to take care of the situation.

Enter the Attorney General.

It may be that this widely published statement was not intended to be as dramatic as it read, but Harry H. Peterson, the attorney general of Minnesota, a forthright gentleman, took up the gage. He dictated a statement to press associations, which no longer could avoid recognition of the situation because of the importance of the gentlemen now involved, to wit: That the Iowa governor's statement was calculated to incite a riot, was a breach of duty, that Minnesota's boys were Iowa's guests exposed to mob riot, and then he threw in a few fighting words such as cowardly and contemptible.

This was the situation when Floyd Olson, the governor of Minnesota, charged to the breach and with a deftness worthy of more important battles, spread good humor and friendliness. Equally important he casually pointed how the governor of Iowa could emerge without losing face.

The governor of Minnesota, so he telegraphed, was certain that since the governor of Iowa was a gentleman and the people of Iowa were all respectable folk living in the same nation, it couldn't be true that Minnesota's football players were to be lynched. The governor of Minnesota was positive that the governor of Iowa merely was trying to get Minnesota's goat and the whole thing was to be laughed off.

So it was, and since Iowa and Minnesota have many fine pigs, and few goats, the incident became merely a wager of an Iowa pig against a Minnesota pig. Now the governor of Iowa, so he says, will personally deliver an Iowa pig to the governor of Minnesota.

PUBLIC RETURNS TO STOCK MART, FIGURES SHOW

Volume of Trading Expands Rapidly.

A sharp rise in stock market speculation in the "recovery market" of the last six months is indicated in the figures for trading volume to date this year on the New York and Chicago Stock Exchanges.

For the last six months the share turnover in New York has been 35 per cent as large as in the corresponding period of the 1929 boom. However, the value of the shares has shrunken, bringing about a further decrease in dollar volume of the transactions.

In the first three months of this year trading volume was only about one-sixth as large as in the first quarter of 1929. The upturn in April of this year was sharp, however, and that month's turnover was 27 per cent as large as in the boom year. The four month total was 72,074,523 shares, or only 19 per cent of the 377,393,100 shares traded in the same period of 1929.

Greater Market Interest.

In the last six months the public has continued to show a progressively greater interest in the markets. From April 30 to Oct. 30 the New York turnover was 206,894,568 shares, or 35 per cent of the record peak of 591,158,000 in those same months of 1929. This raised the 1935 total for the ten months to 278,969,091, which is 28.8 per cent of the 968,551,000 figures rolled up in the first ten months of 1929.

In trading to date in November, covering only one-third of the month, 15,495,733 shares have changed hands. This is 21.5 per cent of the 72,385,300 share trade for the entire month of November, 1929. If trading continues at this pace, the November turnover will be over half as large as in the boom year.

The accelerated trading pace since the low point at the end of 1934 and the beginning of this year has brought the largest business to Wall and La Salle streets since the "boomlet" in the summer of 1933.

Comparison by Months.

A comparison by months, showing the share turnover to date this year and the corresponding figures in 1929 follows:

	1935.	1929.
January	19,414,406	110,613,600
February	14,402,505	77,826,100
March	15,845,512	106,523,800
April	22,412,100	82,429,600
May	30,408,860	89,940,400
June	22,328,742	70,422,400
July	29,560,907	93,380,100
August	42,945,240	95,729,400
September	34,835,868	100,006,900
October	46,814,951	141,678,700
November	*15,495,733	72,385,300
December		84,022,700

*To date.

Chicago Stock exchange figures indicate that trading here has increased this year at a slightly faster rate than on the New York market. Comparative figures for Chicago Stock exchange follow:

	1935.	1929.
January	593,000	6,927,000
February	436,000	5,311,000
March	462,000	4,896,000

Car Loadings Continue to Run Ahead of Last Year

While showing a decline from the preceding week, car loadings on a number of important railroads for the week ended Nov. 9 continued well above the volume for the corresponding period of 1934. Among the roads to report yesterday were:

	Last week. Last week	Year ago. last year.	Preceding week. year.
Milwaukee	26,922	24,402	27,888
Santa Fe	26,873	24,548	28,198
North Western	24,119	23,068	26,330

Hog and Lamb Prices Soar to High Levels

Hogs and lambs soared to new November highs under brisk competition in yesterday's semi-holiday trade at the stockyards. The latter reached $10.35, the highest November lamb top since 1929, while new crop hogs were bid up to a peak of $11.85, processing tax included, the highest November mark in nine years.

Hogs are selling about 20 per cent under the high level of prices maintained on "famine" receipts during the summer, but they are far above normal for this time of year. Current prices have been exceeded in November only twice since 1920. The highest November hog price prior to the world war was $8.70, established in 1910.

Advance 10 to 25 Cents.

Yesterday's advances carried hogs 10 to 25 cents above the close of last week, with spots up more in the lights. The average for the session at $11.55 showed a gain of 15 cents and stood 35 cents above the recent low day.

Colder weather and a higher market for fresh pork in the Chicago area, advances for the day ranging up to $1 on best loins, contributed to the support of the hog market.

Advances of 25 cents were scored in the market for slaughter lambs, boosting both natives and fed westerns to the new $10.35 high. Large local packers bought the bulk of the closely sorted lambs at $10 to $10.25.

Cattle Market Slumps.

In contrast to the lively trade for hogs and lambs, a semi-demoralized market developed for cattle when the receipts exceeded expectations, and reports from the country indicated the possibility of a heavy movement of slaughter stock to market for the near future. Excepting top grades of steers, which sold up to $13.25, equal to the top of last week, practically all classes of cattle ruled weak to unevenly lower. Many sales in mid-session and later showed 25 to 50 cents loss, with some bids off more.

CHICAGO GRAIN MEN LOSE FIGHT TO ESCAPE SUIT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Three Chicago grain traders today lost in the Supreme court in their effort to escape a $1,000,000 damage suit because E. W. Backus of Minneapolis, who sought the damages, died before the trial was completed. The court refused to review the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that Backus' suit could be carried on by his son and widow, Seymour W. and Elizabeth H. Backus.

The appeal was brought by Allen Moore, Gustavus F. Swift Jr., and Herbert J. Blum. They were among eighteen individuals and grain firms that Backus claimed effected a "corner" on the corn market in Chicago in 1928. Backus, claiming a loss of a third of a million dollars, charged the eighteen grain operators with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. Under its provisions he sought treble damages.

Julius Levine & Co. of Passaic, N. J., and the Menasha Products company of Chicago lost today in the Supreme court in their protest against a lower federal court ruling that they had infringed patents on boxes owned by the Automatic Paper Machine company, Inc., of Elizabeth, N. J.

RAILS TO SEEK SETTLEMENT OF FARE STRUGGLE

Involves Rate from East to Midwest.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Sharp differences of opinion among the eastern railroads regarding passenger fares between New York and Chicago and other middle western cities will be considered shortly by railroad passenger trafic officials in the east, it was disclosed yesterday.

A number of railroads, including the Erie, the Nickel Plate, the Lackawanna, and the Baltimore and Ohio, are seeking lower fares between New York and middle western cities than those charged by the Pennsylvania and the New York Central on the ground that they are not situated to render as fast service as the latter two roads and consequently should have a fare advantage.

Major Lines Protest.

The two major lines operating between New York and Chicago maintain that they should not be deprived of their advantages, and that to do so would block progress. They warn that if the so called differential lines put into effect the lower fares the major lines will order like fares. In this the Pennsylvania and New York Central have the support of the Grand Trunk.

Present differentials between New York and interior cities are as follows: Chicago, $2; St. Louis, $2.50; and Cleveland, $1. The new differentials sought by the roads are: Chicago, $6; St. Louis, $7; and Cleveland, $4.

The controversy has been carried on for many months and the matter has been submitted to a group of railroad executives who are trying to work out a compromise which is to be submitted to a general conference.

Claims of Smaller Lines.

In advancing their claims the differential roads assert that the major lines have not kept faith with an earlier agreement as a result of their action in sharply reducing time schedules of trains operating between New York and the middle west. Further, they say the agreement was violated when the major roads eliminated excess fares on all except their two de luxe trains, the Twentieth Century and the Broadway. In the case of the two de luxe trains they say the agreement was again violated when the excess fare was reduced without warning last spring from $10 to $7.50.

In their defense the major roads say that if a railroad gives as a reason a lack of facilities to obtain differential fares and thereby endeavors to divert to itself business which it could not otherwise obtain, it would have no incentive to improve its facilities.

The major lines say that a progressive railroad desirous of improving service and facilities would hesitate to do so if it knew these improvements would furnish arguments to a competing line for establishing lower passenger fares.

U. S. LOSES TRUST FIGHT AGAINST BIG MOVIE PRODUCERS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Five executives and corporate interests of Warner Brothers, Radio-Keith-Orpheum, and Paramount were acquitted of anti-trust charges by a federal court jury that deliberated only 38 minutes tonight. The jury, which had heard 1,000,000 words of testimony in six weeks of a bitterly disputed trial, reached its verdict on the second ballot.

The film companies and their executives were charged with conspiring, in restrait of trade, in denying their product to Fanchon-Marco, conducting three first run St. Louis theaters.

The swiftness of the verdict was a setback to government counsel, headed by Special Assistant Attorney General Russell Hardy.

At the time the indictments were returned, Hardy termed the action the first move in a federal anti-trust drive against major film companies and asserted a conviction would bring drastic changes in present booking practices. He said the department of justice had received complaints of alleged withholding of pictures by major producers from independent exhibitors in other cities.

U. S. CORN CROP ESTIMATE CUT 2 MILLION BUSHELS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The department of agriculture today estimated the corn crop this year at 2,211,268,000 bushels against 2,213,319,000 bushels a month ago. Last year's production was 1,377,000,000 bushels and the 1928-'35 average was 2,562,000,000.

Production by states was estimated as follows:

Illinois 284,588,000 bushels, New York 22,680,000, Pennsylvania 57,040,000, Ohio 131,878,000, Indiana 155,463,000, Michigan 48,990,000, Wisconsin 77,010,000, Minnesota 142,791,000, Iowa 359,085,000, Missouri 85,994,000, North Dakota 20,520,000, South Dakota 53,830,000, Nebraska, 120,568,000, Kansas 30,934,000, Oklahoma 29,172,000, Texas 108,471,000.

This crop, the board said, would be harvested on 93,590,000 acres at an average yield of 23.6 bushels per acre.

WHEAT PRICES DIP ¼ TO ½ CENT AT LIVERPOOL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Liverpool, Nov. 11.—Prices of wheat futures closed lower here today. On a basis of the sterling rate of $4.92 7-16, the March futures closed at 85⅝ cents and the May at 83¾ cents, or ¼ to ½ cent lower.

The market eased at the opening as a result of liberal shipments and selling for Australian account. Spot wheat was not quoted. Futures prices were:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
March	.85	.84⅝	.84⅝	.84⅞
May	.84⅜	.83¾	.83¾	.84¼

Indianapolis Bread Prices Are Advanced 1 to 2 Cents

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The price of bread was increased 1 to 2 cents in Indianapolis today. An increase of 1 cent a pound was made on white bread and 2 cents on whole wheat, rye, and other special brands.

Commercial Failures Reported Less Numerous

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Commercial failures in the United States for the week ended Nov. 7 totaled 212, against 239 in the preceding week and 223 in the like 1934 period.

POTATO CROP OUTLOOK HINTS AAA WILL GIVE UP CONTROL PROGRAM

Washington[D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—A reduction of 3 per cent in the crop reporting board's estimate of the 1935 potato crop from the October prediction, coming on the heels of rapidly advancing potato prices throughout the country, today appeared to assure abandonment of the Agricultural Adjustment administration's plans to raise potato prices by spending $5,000,000 in the diversion of potatoes from food to industrial uses.

Reporting on the state of crops throughout the country as of November, the board estimated 1935 potato production at slightly less than 354,000,000 bushels as compared with an estimated production Oct. 1 of 366,000,000, a harvest last year of 385,000,000, and an average production 1928 to 1932 of 363,367,000.

Slightly less than a month ago the AAA revealed a plan to divert about 12 per cent of the potato crop in the late states to relief families or to industrial use in an attempt to raise potato prices. Since then early freezing weather in the western states raised potato prices until some grades had more than doubled.

New Building Starts Climb, Dodge Reports

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—The construction industry has begun a sharp climb, the F. W. Dodge corporation, building statisticians, reported today in a survey showing activities for October at the best level since December, 1933.

Construction work undertaken in the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky mountains aggregated $200,863,700, the survey said. Excluding the final month of 1933, which was the month of peak activity of the original PWA program, the October showing is the most favorable since the autumn of 1931. The month's record compares with $167,376,200 for September and $135,224,800 for October, 1934.

Private Building Gains.

Part of the increase, said the Dodge report, was attributable to private activity. The momentum of the PWA program was cited as another important factor.

The survey declared that for October the residential total, apart from other classifications, amounted to $55,100,300 in the thirty-seven states. This was more than twice the total of $26,299,800 for October of last year and represented a gain of more than 30 per cent over the September, 1935, total.

For the ten month period ended in October, residential building amounted to $394,007,800, against $214,379,900 for the first ten months of 1934.

Nonresidential Awards.

Nonresidential awards for October amounted to $59,448,400, compared with $49,420,100 in September and $43,685,600 in October of last year. Heavy engineering jobs, embracing both public works and public utilities, amounted to $86,315,000, compared with $76,145,300 in September and $65,239,400 for October, 1934.

For the first ten months of 1935 the total construction of all descriptions undertaken in the area east of the Rocky mountains amounted to $1,392,561,400, against $1,338,732,000 for the corresponding period of 1934.

STERLING DIPS AT LONDON; GOLD PRICE HIGHER

LONDON, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Sterling dipped sharply in the foreign exchange market today to $4.91 7-16, off 1¼ cents. Trading was dull and dealers were at a loss to explain the sudden attack on the pound.

Gold advanced 1 pence to 141 shillings, 4½ pence.

The flight of capital from France to the United States is mounting with no signs to indicate that the movement may be nearing an end.

BANKERS END 2 YEAR SILENCE, RAP NEW DEAL

Monetary Tinkering Is Criticized.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 11.—Members of the American Bankers' association today ended their two year policy of silent acquiescence with a series of attacks on New Deal monetary experiments and the New Deal program of "spending for prosperity."

A. H. GIANNINI.
[Acme Photo.]

The leader in this sudden blast of criticism was Orval W. Adams, vice president of the Utah State National Bank of Salt Lake City, whose friends are boosting him as a candidate for second vice president of the ABA, which would automatically make him president two years hence.

So jumbled up is the New Deal financial program, said Adams, that even a substantial business recovery would precipitate trouble for the banks.

Recovery Means Trouble.

"It is clear," he said, "that a drop of 10 points in the market value of federal obligations—and this would be the inevitable sequence of revived business activity—would wipe out approximately 40 per cent of the total invested capital of our national banks. A business revival, with its expanding need for credit, would at once reduce the market value of all low interest bearing obligations, including those of the federal government.

"What would the government do under such circumstances? Would it attempt to refund its debts into securities carrying a higher rate of interest, knowing that such a program would aggravate the problem of balancing the annual budget? Or would the government employ artificial props to support a sagging market for its securities?

"Would it rush to the aid of the banks by using the equalization fund, either before or after the value of the bonds had been partially wiped out? Would the government apply to the then banking problem the same plans of artificial control as have been extended to agriculture in the case of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, and the humble spud?

"It is a matter of common knowledge that because of governmental policies we have been obliged to violate the principles of sound banking and sound economics. The borrower has been allowed to dictate to the lender—in fact, we are practically at the mercy of the borrower.

Beginning to Realize.

"We have just begun to realize the extent and the magnitude of the existing governmental control of our banking system as well as the momentum which this new order has already acquired. It can mean but one thing, namely, a unified system of banking under socialized federal government control."

Even the presence at the convention of the top men of New Deal agencies controling banks did not deter the bankers. Already here are Controler of the Currency J. F. T. O'Connor, boss of the national banks; Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, which owns about one-fourth of the bank capital of the country, and numerous underlings.

Eccles to Address Meeting.

These officials are scheduled to address the convention, as is Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the federal reserve board and fellow townsman and business competitor of Adams, who will talk on Thursday.

Delegates are expressing great disappointment that sickness has forced Senator Carter Glass to cancel his address. They had planned a big ovation for the man who, almost single handed, succeeded in practically rewriting the radical provisions of the banking bill of 1935 originally proposed by Eccles.

Adams urged the adoption by the 12,000 banks belonging to the American Bankers' association of a nationwide campaign of education among depositors, stockholders, and customers.

"In view of their imminent peril," he said, "it would amount to little less than a betrayal of their confidence at our hands if we continue to permit them to be kept uninformed. One of the causes contributing to the ease with which the overthrow of accepted principles has been achieved is the silence of the bankers of America.

Spending Without Limit.

"As long as the federal government can get money without limit it will spend without limit. As long as the federal government can sell its 'promises to pay' to us, the custodians of the savings of our citizenship, the government will continue to issue them. As long as this reckless public spending continues private business will remain in its cyclone cellar, banks must operate without profit and the depositors and stockholders of this country will be gradually deprived both of their savings and their security.

"This is a disease. We must provide the remedy. Clearly the seat of the disease is found in the federal government. Since it cannot spend without using the bankable funds of the nation, it is up to us to declare an embargo.

"We must decline to make further purchases. We must declare that we will not finance further spending by the government until a genuine, honest, sincere effort is made by the federal government to restore a balanced budget.

"This promise must come in such convincing manner and the evidence of an awakened public opinion must be so overwhelming that the plighted word will no longer be violated.

"Failure to apply this remedy now means that we shall be submitting ourselves to the charge that the bankers of America are lacking in candor, in courage, in intelligence, and patriotism—that we are either incapable of assuming or unwilling to assume in time of crisis this solemn public duty now resting upon us.

"Forty-five millions of people are out there awaiting our answer."

Dr. A. H. Giannini, chairman of the executive committee of Bank of America, big California banking group, in addressing the savings division, said that the money which the government is squandering on the "spend ourselves rich" program is money stored through thrift in past years.

Cerro De Pasco Copper.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me what you can about Cerro De Pasco.—R. W. J.

Answer: Cerro De Pasco Copper corporation is one of the most important copper producers in the world. Principal mines are in the Peruvian Andes. Ore reserves are of unusually high quality. Although copper is the most important metal produced, silver production is an important source of income, more so in recent years since the price of silver has risen at a much faster pace than that of copper.

It is currently estimated that total silver production this year will amount to about 11,000,000 ounces, compared with the 7,027,824 ounces produced in 1934. The spurt in production is directly traceable to higher prices. For this year, silver will average about 64.68 cents an ounce, while last year it was 47.97 cents an ounce.

Gold production has also increased, while copper, at 29,997 tons will probably be just about the same this year as last year. With prices of all metals well above last year's prices, the company should enjoy a favorable year in 1935 in comparison with 1934.

The four year record of earnings follows:

	Sales.	Net loss.	Loss per share.
1934	$13,267,000	*$1,782,000	*$1.59
1933	10,978,000	299,000	.27
1932	7,774,000	5,161,000	4.60
1931	12,379,000	2,964,000	2.64

*Net income.

Prior to 1930 the company was a consistent money maker, but from 1930 through 1933 it could not cope with a sagging market for metals.

Current position on Dec. 31, 1934, was strong. There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 1,122,842 shares of no par stock. Dividends on the stock were resumed in 1934 with a 50 cent quarterly payment, which was continued to Aug. 1, 1935, when it was raised to $1 a quarter per share.

The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

United Aircraft and Transport Warants.

Investors' Guide: Kindly tell me what United Aircraft warants are—E. P. B.

Answer: Each two United Aircraft and Transport corporation stock purchase warants entitle the holder to purchase one share of United Aircraft corporation stock, half a share of United Air Lines Transport corporation stock and one-quarter share of Boeing Airplane company stock for $30 at any time until Nov. 1, 1938.

After that date the warants will be worthless.

COMMISSIONERS, D. C., Washington, November 7, 1935. Sealed proposals will be received at Room 509 District Building until 2 P. M., November 26, 1935, and then publicly opened for furnishing and installing Kitchen and Dining Room Equipment in the Main Building, Adult Unit, of the District of Columbia Tuberculosis Sanatoria, near Glenn Dale, Prince Georges County, Maryland. A more complete description of the work and full information for bidders is given in the drawings, specifications, and in other contract papers, which may be obtained at Room 427, District Building, upon deposit of a certified check payable to the Collector of Taxes, D. C., in the sum of FIFTEEN DOLLARS [$15.00] to insure return in good condition. Not more than three [3] complete sets of drawings and specifications and contract papers will be furnished to any one [1] general contractor. No proposal will be accepted unless accompanied by a guaranty of not less than five per cent [5%] of the amount of the bid in the form of a certified check made payable to the Collector of Taxes, D. C., U. S. bond, or the bond of an approved surety company. Security for the faithful performance of the work shall be in the form of a surety bond in a penal sum equal to the estimated total contract price. A labor bond in an amount equal to the largest estimated aggregate payroll for any one month is required. Public liability insurance in the sum of $5,000 and $10,000 is also required. The work called for by this proposal is to be performed in accordance with an agreement dated December 19, 1934, between the Commissioners of the District of Columbia and the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works and is subject to the provisions of Title II, of the National Industrial Recovery Act and the rules and regulations prescribed by the President and the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works. The Director of Reemployment for the District of Columbia is Edgar B. Young, 480 Indiana Avenue, N. W. The commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all proposals and to waive formalities as they deem best for the interest of the District of Columbia. Final award of contract is subject to approval of the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works. No bidder may withdraw his proposal for a period of thirty [30] days after the date for the opening thereof. Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates prescribed by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works must be paid on this project. MELVIN C. HAZEN, GEORGE E. ALLEN, DAN I. SULTAN, Commissioners, D. C.

BRITISH JUSTICE FLAYS CHRYSLER FOR STOCK DEAL

Franchise Cancelation Threat Revealed.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Justice Atkinson of the king's bench division today lashed at Walter P. Chrysler, American automobile manufacturer, as having a "lamentably low" standard of business morality, but eliminated him from connection with "actionable conspiracy."

These were his comments on the Chrysler company head in the course of a full day's deliverance of judgment in an action brought by British plaintifs against Chrysler and several associates for a sum estimated by lawyers at $350,000 in connection with the sale of Chrysler shares by the plaintifs to the defendants.

Says Conspiracy Existed.

Justice Atkinson said he was satisfied that three of the defendants—Bernard E. Hutchinson, Stephen D. Briggs of Chicago, and Joseph Fields, all of the Chrysler corporation—had engaged in an actionable conspiracy to obtain shares held by Arnold de la Poer, a Briton, in Chrysler Motors, Ltd., at a price lower than their value.

The conspiracy, he indicated, was carried out in November and December, 1927, "by a threat to procure the cancellation of a franchise, without any just cause," of the sales agreement held by De la Poer and the Suffolk Investment Company, Ltd., from the Chrysler Sales corporation.

Justice's Views on Men.

"Assessing the credibility of witnesses is always an unpleasant task, but one which cannot be avoided," said the justice. "Mr. Chrysler is said to be one of the foremost industrialists of America. Some of his answers show his standard of business morality lamentably low."

Of De la Poer and Gerald Maxwell, another plaintif, he said he was quite certain they were "truthful witnesses."

Atkinson said he did not regard either Fields, the head of the sales department of the Chrysler corporation, or Briggs as reliable witnesses. Of Hutchinson, he said "he is obviously a man of the greatest business ability and acumen. For him there is obviously only one thing that maters—the Chrysler corporation."

Friend of the Coal User

The Friend of the Coal User will supply information on economical use of coal in an attempt to enable users to meet with less loss the added expense which the Guffey coal law is loading on the Chicagoland public. Inquiries should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Items of general interest will be published.

Has Regulation Problem.

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 1.—I have a well built brick 6-6 duplex apartment building and, while we have 26 windows in each apartment, they are metal weather stripped and I have storm windows on from November to May. In spite of all I can do the janitor burns 26 tons of Pocahontas mine run coal yearly.

I have no thermostat, but have check valves in pipe. I wonder if there is a dependable coal saving device that is not too expensive which I could use to advantage and check the fire at night from 12 to 6 a. m. The janitor lives elsewhere and fixes the fires so they will not go out and heat is not regular as it should be.

Heating firms all recommend a certain thermostat, but it is expensive and has to be regulated from one of the apartments. Would prefer control that could be set and operated from the basement. My heating problem and janitor's salary make a big hole in present rentals. I would appreciate your suggestions.—C. T. W.

Answer—As you do not state what system of heating [steam, hot water, or hot air] you use, we can only offer general comments.

1. For twelve rooms we believe 26 tons of Pocahontas mine run coal per season is excessive. If conditions were right you should use not more than 21 tons.

2. We believe the reason for the excessive amount of coal you use to be the infrequent attention which is usual with such janitor service.

3. A thermostat would no doubt improve the service and reduce your coal requirements considerably if you can persuade one of your tenants to regulate it as required.

SWOPE ASSAILS JOB INSURANCE TAX PROVISION

New York, Nov. 11.—(AP)—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, criticized the New Deal's social security legislation today at a reunion luncheon of the war industries board. One hundred men attended the luncheon, the first reunion since 1932. Other speakers were George N. Peek of the Federal Export-Import bank and Bernard M. Baruch.

Swope attacked the unemployment insurance section of the social security act on the ground that "the tax is levied entirely upon the employer."

"It is notable," he said, "that the United States is the only country in the world, with the single significant exception of Russia, where the employés do not pay a portion of the cost of their insurance."

Swope said it seemed to him "right and proper" that employés should contribute to the cost. Employés then would be more interested, he said, "not only in the insurance itself but in the administration of it."

Federal Land Banks Get 89.5 Per Cent of Interest

New York, Nov. 11.—[Special.]—Collections of interest by the federal land banks for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1935, amounted to nearly $69,400,000 which was 89.5 per cent of the $77,500,000 of interest maturing during the period, according to the farm credit administration. For the calendar year 1934, maturities amounted to $64,90,000 while collections during the period totaled approximately $57,000,000, or 87.8 per cent of maturities.

Automobile Production for Week Increases Again

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 11.—(AP)—Production of the automotive plants took another jump last week, according to figures compiled by Cram's Reports, Inc. The total was 89,095 cars and trucks, compared with 76,740 in the preceding week and 16,820 for the corresponding period of 1934.

Baltimore & Ohio Road's 31 Million Loan Extended

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today authorized the extension until Aug. 1, 1939, of the $31,610,400 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad which was due Nov. 21.

SEARS, ROEBUCK SALES 20.3 PCT. ABOVE 1934; SAFEWAY TOTAL RISES

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the four week period Oct. 9 to Nov. 5 totaled $37,057,198 as compared with $30,816,415 for the like period of 1934, an increase of 20.3 per cent. Volume for the period just closed was the highest for any similar tenth period since 1929, when the total was $43,083,874. Sales for the preceding four week period of this year which ended Oct. 8 totaled $37,710,648.

For the ten periods Jan. 30 to Nov. 5, 1935, sales totaled $305,391,296, as compared with $246,551,182 in the corresponding 1934 period, an increase of $58,840,114, or 23.9 per cent.

Sales of Safeway Stores company in the four weeks ended Nov. 2, 1935, were the largest on record for the period. The total was $24,303,058, as compared with $19,236,498 in the like period of 1934, a gain of 26.34 per cent.

BURNHAM'S
(for 64 years the World's largest beauty school)
Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIP TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan, with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.

Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE SIX PER CENT SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS OF TEXAS GAS UTILITIES COMPANY:

H. L. Mann, receiver of Texas Gas Utilities Company, has filed in this court a report and application for authority to sell the properties of said receivership estate, constituting the facilities that are used for the distribution at retail of natural gas for heat, light, or power. Such application involves the retail distribution systems situate in Del Rio, Eagle Pass, Uvalde, Crystal City, Carrizo Springs and La Pryor, Texas, and certain other minor distribution facilities. The sale proposed, if authorized, will be for Four Hundred Thousand [$400,000.00] Dollars, represented by note due and payable on or before fifteen years from its date, bearing interest at the rate of 6½ per cent per annum, the interest payable semi-annually as it accrues. A vendor's lien and deed of trust lien covering all of the facilities conveyed will be retained and given as security, and the note and the security will be held by the receiver and constitute part of the receivership estate supporting the outstanding bonds in substitution for the property to be conveyed. In addition, a gas sales and purchase contract will be executed, under which the vendee will take gas from the receiver to meet its full requirements for at least fifteen years. The receiver will have as revenues a fixed amount of Twenty-six Thousand [$26,000.00] Dollars per annum plus 20% of all gross revenues accruing to the distribution company from resale of gas and Fifteen [15c] cents per thousand cubic feet for all unaccounted for gas.

A hearing will be had on said report on November 21, 1935, at the Court House in Del Rio, Val Verde County, Texas, at 10 o'clock A. M., Central Standard Time, to determine whether or not said sale and conveyance will be authorized.

DIXIE DUNN, Clerk of the District Court, 63rd Judicial District, Del Rio, Texas.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE DISTRICT OF WYOMING

In the Matter of NORTHERN UTILITIES COMPANY, a corporation, Debtor.	In proceedings for Relief of Debtors under Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act. No. 1786.

To Creditors and Stockholders of NORTHERN UTILITIES COMPANY, Debtor:

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to an order entered by the District Court of Wyoming in said cause on November 5th, 1935, that a hearing for the consideration of the allowance of fees and expenses in said proceeding will be had on November 22nd, 1935, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., Mountain Standard Time, at the court room of the above named court in the Post Office Building, in the City of Cheyenne, Wyoming, to which date and time the hearing held on November 5th, 1935, was, by order of said court also entered on November 5th, 1935, continued without notice.

Dated November 12, 1935.

NORTHERN UTILITIES COMPANY, Debtor.

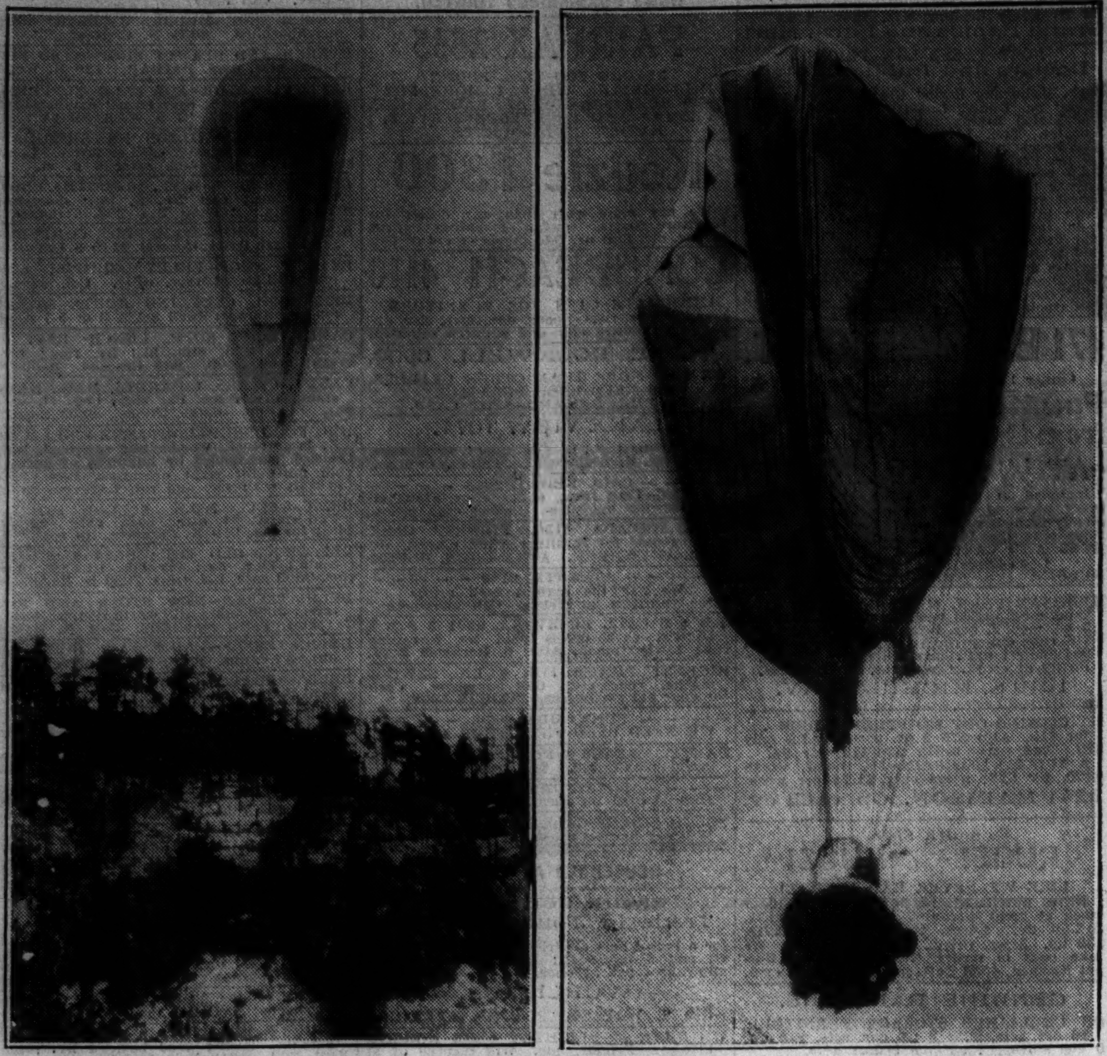
Stratosphere Balloon Lands Safely After Rising 14 Miles for Record—Pay Armistice Day Tribute to War Dead



STRATOSPHERE BALLOON RISES FOURTEEN MILES; LANDS SAFELY— Two views of the Explorer II. of the army and the National Geographic society as it took off yesterday from natural bowl at Rapid City, S. D. At left it is just clearing rim of bowl and at right is soaring upward at rate of 600 feet a minute. It landed at White Lake, S. D.

STRATOSPHERE GONDOLA ALMOST HITS BLUFF AS IT STARTS UPWARD— Unusual picture showing Capt. Orvil A. Anderson guiding the Explorer II., world's largest balloon, from outside the gondola as it ascended yesterday from basin near Rapid City, S. D. The gondola missed the wall of the basin by only 50 feet. The Explorer II. reached an altitude of 74,000 feet and landed safely with new world record.

CROWD AT "WORLD'S BUSIEST CORNER" AS ARMISTICE DAY SALUTE IS FIRED IN HONOR OF WAR DEAD— View at State and Madison streets yesterday at 11 a. m., the hour of the Armistice which ended the world war seventeen years ago. Riflemen are firing salute, which was followed by the sounding of taps. Detachments from the National Guard, marines, and naval reserve and Legion posts from two downtown stores took part in this ceremony, which was one of many throughout the day in honor of the city's soldier dead. Rain failed to dampen the spirits of those who took part and witnessed the celebration.
